British Bomb Five German Warships

CLAIM AIRMEN SCORED HITS AT WILHELMSHAVEN

All Attacking Planes Return Safely.

LONDON, April 5 (AP).—British war planes were disclosed tonight to have carried the air war to the gun-studded German sea base on Wilhelmshaven, spattering four destroyers and another warship with bombs. The air ministry communique announcing the raid said:

"During yesterday afternoon a formation of British aircraft of the bomber command penetrated the enemy defenses in the Jade estuary and successfully reconnoitered the naval base of Wilhelmshaven. An enemy warship was observed near Wilhelmshaven and attacked with bombs. Farther south, four enemy destroyers were also attacked and damage was believed to have been done. No damage or casualties were suffered by the British aircraft, all of which returned safely to their base."

Trawler Is Sunk.

The day also brought revelations of new shipping losses. Official quarters said that one of five British trawlers attacked was sunk but no lives lost in German aerial attacks in the North sea Wednesday.

The Netherlands tugboat Hoek van Holland and three sand dredges were reported "afloat but lost" in a German mine field off the southern tip of Sweden. A German ferry boat rescued the tugboat's crew.

The Norwegian passenger ship Mira, with two of its 107 passengers slightly injured, reached Oslo after a voyage from Newcastle during which the ship's captain said his vessel was bombed eight times by German planes.

The two injured persons were victims of bomb splinters, other passengers reported. The Mira, 1,152 tons, sailed in a British convoy.

BRITISH TOLD: SAVE FOOD

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 5.—Lord Woolton, the new food minister, launched a national food economy campaign today.

Hailed as a business man, Woolton described his new job as that of running "the biggest shop in the world." He appealed for the support of housewives, husbands, producers, shopkeepers, and distributors in the campaign. He explained that if each Briton wasted a slice of bread daily the country would be using 30 shiploads of wheat yearly to make up for it.

Lord Woolton declared there was plenty of food in the country now but that his job was to prepare for any eventuality. He pleaded that every one try to "do with a little less sugar and tea" and to prevent waste as a patriotic duty. He also put potatoes on the economy list.

Experts Seek to Save Food.

The new minister's bureau employs 15,000 persons, including experts who instruct the public in how to serve food so that it will be both more appealing and go farther.

Relaxation of bacon rationing for the summer months is in prospect, the food ministry said. At present 8 ounces a person a week is the limit.

A price regulation committee today began a campaign against food racketeers. The racketeers are charged with watching the market for a threatened shortage, then buying up the remaining stocks. The committee already has received 650 complaints against such abuses.

Oil from Coal.

Efforts to increase Britain's self-sufficiency in war materials as well as food should be directed to the making of synthetic oil from coal, F. Heron Rogers, president, told the Institution of Chemical Engineers. He said Britain's coal mining industry now is producing 260 million tons yearly. From this, he declared, could come 47 million tons of oil products.

The effect of government spending thruout the country and the evacuation of London was noted in the board of trade figures of retail sales. The index showed that London stores in January and February, 1940, sold 6.4 per cent less goods than in the corresponding period last year. Outside of London such sales showed a 6.6 per cent increase.

Marshall Field Deeds U. of C. Gift of Million

A $1,000,000 gift by Marshall Field III. to the University of Chicago will be announced today by Robert M. Hutchins, president of the university.

The gift consists of two 10-story buildings at 212 to 220 West Jackson boulevard. In the announcement of his donation, Field said:

"It gives me great pleasure to transfer to the University of Chicago as a 50th anniversary celebration gift the title to the buildings. The gross income from this property last year was $103,543. The net income, after all expenses and real estate taxes but before depreciation and federal income tax, was $40,221. The cost of the property carried on our books, after considerable depreciation, is approximately $1,000,000."

In City to Transfer Property.

Details for transfer of the property were arranged by Field during a brief visit to Chicago. He returned yesterday to his home on Long Island.

Field's donation virtually coincides with the 50th anniversary of a gift of 10 acres by his grandfather, Marshall Field I., which comprised the original university campus. This property was situated on Ellis avenue between 55th and 57th streets.

The buildings given to the university are of the loft type. They are reported to be well occupied, largely by wholesale companies. They were modernized about six years ago at a cost of approximately $300,000. The elder Field, who was one of the founders of Marshall Field & Co., bought the property about 1887.

Trustee of University.

Marshall Field III. is a trustee of the University of Chicago. A former Chicagoan, he has lived in the east since the world war. On Sept. 28, 1938, his 45th birthday, he received approximately $100,000,000 under the terms of the elder Field's will.

The latest gift to the University of Chicago will be noteworthy in that it will not be removed from the tax rolls because of its university ownership. The university is said to have paid approximately $700,000 in real estate taxes on property it owns in Chicago—a considerable part being located in the downtown district.

A WORD TO THE WIFE IS SUFFICIENT—TO SAVE FARMER'S LIFE

Morris, Ill., April 5 [Special].—"If you find me missing from the barnyard," Wallie Foster, 65 years old, told his wife, Ida, several days ago, "look in the silo. The silage is beginning to slide."

When Mrs. Foster came home from the village of Mazon yesterday her husband was missing. She went to the silo and found him trapped against the wall by silage. Only his head was clear, and he had been unable to move for six hours.

It took five men four hours to release him. After a bath and a few hours in bed he went out to resume his chores.

THREE GRAF SPEE OFFICERS FLEE FROM ARGENTINA

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, April 5 (AP).—The escape of three interned officers of the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee was disclosed tonight and one of them was reported to have already reached Germany with documents of the scuttled man-o'-war.

News of the escape of the officers from their quarters in the naval arsenal followed the disclosure that several of the Graf Spee's sailors had disappeared from interior provinces.

More than 1,000 officers and men of the Graf Spee took refuge in Argentina after scuttling their ship, loser in a running battle with three British cruisers, in Montevideo harbor last Dec. 17.

The government now is reported to be planning to intern the officers on Martin Garcia Island in the Rio de la Plata and keep them under strict military guard.

CHILD MOTHER, 6, IS RETURNED TO PARENTS IN PERU

LIMA, Peru, April 5 (AP).—Lina Medina, 6 years old, mother of an 11 months old boy, was returned to the custody of her parents today by the Supreme court. The parents, farm folk living on the slopes of the Andes, fought almost a year against the Peruvian government's order placing the mother and child under a guardianship to keep them from "grave harm which might result from uncontrolled dealings with commercial enterprises."

Send Democrat Legislator to Prison 5 Years

New City, N. Y., April 5 [Special].—Lawrence J. Murray, Democratic state assemblyman from Rockland county, was sentenced today to serve from five to 10 years in Sing Sing prison. A jury yesterday found Murray guilty of embezzling $49,102 from a client.

County Judge John A. McKenna told Murray before he sentenced him that he had been reminded several times during the 13 day trial that both were graduates of Georgetown university. He then recalled the words delivered at many Georgetown commencements:

"That we were to go forth and battle, honestly and fearlessly, and if success did not crown our efforts, not to let dishonesty stain the reputation of Georgetown."

Turned Over to Sheriff.

Murray was turned over to the sheriff and was taken to the county jail. He will not be taken to Sing Sing until next week because his counsel, Martin V. Littleton, is expected to appeal.

During the trial Murray admitted that he had taken the money and played the races, but insisted that he had done so at the direction of his client, Miss May A. V. Dunnigan, a mental patient, who now is in a state hospital. Both sides agreed Murray's bets, which some days ran as high as $5,000, eventually had exhausted Miss Dunnigan's bank account.

Bookmaker, Witness for State.

Tim Mara, New York bookmaker and owner of the New York football Giants, and Frank Erickson, "King of the Bookies," testified for the prosecution.

Murray, 29 years old, automatically will be disbarred as a lawyer. Since he was convicted of a felony he also loses his civil rights and thus his seat in the state assembly.

A Soap Box Orator Finds Attack on Britain Costs $90

LONDON, April 5 (AP). — A. R. Thompson, described as a "soap box orator," today was fined 25 pounds [about $90] for "using insulting language" in a speech in which he attacked Winston Churchill, international finance, and the British government. A magistrate said he fined Thompson because "of the assertion that Germany is doing justice and Great Britain is perpetrating injustice."

PLANS TO ISSUE ASSEMBLY CALL ON WEDNESDAY

'Horner Mystery' Quiz Is Promised.

BY LLOYD WENDT.

Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, candidate for governor on the insurgent Democratic ticket, announced last night that on Wednesday, the day after the primary, he will summon a special session of the legislature. Stelle, to issue the call legally, must assume power as acting governor of Illinois, displacing Gov. Henry Horner. He has charged for several weeks that Gov. Horner is disabled and in the grip of a regency that rules the state.

Stelle's action, climaxing a bitter primary battle between the insurgent Democrats and the Kelly-Nash and Horner organizations, came as the governor's advisors in Springfield were striving to perfect their own call to be issued soon, possibly today.

The lieutenant governor said his call will be made regardless of the action taken by the Horner clique. His position was that Gov. Horner is physically unable to meet the requirements of a legal call.

Explains Legal Status.

"Issuance of a special call is an extraordinary act requiring the legal signature of the governor of Illinois," he said. "If the Horner regency issues a call, I will coöperate by issuing a similar call so that it will be legal.

"If the legislature is summoned on a call that does not bear the actual signature of the legal governor, the legislation enacted would be invalid.

"If there is no call from the regency, and it is doubtful that the bedside cabinet dares issue one, despite the pressure on them, I will issue a call Wednesday. It will include old age pensions, additional provision for relief, a pegged levy for the Chicago sanitary district, and provision for investigation of the slush fund scandals."

Bitter Fight Seen.

The Stelle announcement and the activity by the Horner group presage a bitter struggle for the rule of Illinois. Regardless of which call stands up as legal, observers predicted that out of it will come the solution of the mystery that has puzzled the state for months: Is Henry Horner able to function as governor?

Both Stelle and Hugh W. Cross, Republican speaker in the Illinois house, have promised that the first action of the next legislature will be to appoint a committee to investigate the Horner illness. Either Stelle or George Maypole, president pro tem. of the senate and a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, will preside in the senate. Cross will be at the helm of the house. Thus two groups, both antagonistic to the so-called "regency," will name the members of this committee and guide its action.

Statement by Cross.

In Springfield, Cross said last night that he will respond to a call either from Horner or Stelle, and he said he would urge other members to respond. "The Stelle call, to be legal, must be issued by him as acting governor," he said.

Gov. Horner could not be reached at the executive mansion. M. P. Akers, his press agent, said the governor had worked on his call for three and a half hours yesterday, and that it probably would be ready today.

Martin P. Durkin, state director of labor, visited the executive mansion during the evening. He said afterward that Gov. Horner had indicated he would include unemployment compensation amendments in his call.

Has Authority To Act.

The authority on which Stelle will act should he take over the governorship is contained in article 8, paragraph 17, of the state constitution. This provides that in case of the governor's failure to qualify, disability, or various other contingencies, the duties of the office shall devolve upon the lieutenant governor.

Stelle and his supporters assert Stelle should take control under the disability clause.

In a radio address last night, Stelle charged that the governor is unable to act, and has been prevented from acting by the regency about him.

"These men are poisoning the mind of Gov. Horner against me," he said. "They are keeping him in Springfield, endangering his health and his life, for their own selfish purposes. They fear the prosecution they deserve."

DWIGHT H. GREEN: HIS PAST AND HIS AIMS FOR FUTURE

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Dwight H. Green, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of Illinois, is comparatively new in the political field, and in that fact itself lies a story. There is in every man's life a turning point toward which the past has imperceptibly led and which colors his whole future. That turning point came to Green early in December, 1938, and his decision is a revelation of his character.

Dwight Green.

At that time Green was practicing law privately. He had realized his life's ambition, was proud of his legal record, and intended to remain in private life. Back of him were years of struggle to reach success in the law, years of service in Washington and Chicago as legal expert for the internal revenue division, his part in the preparation of the income tax case against Al Capone and participation in the trial of the gang leader, and his service as United States attorney of this district. He never had held elective office nor been in a scramble for votes on his own behalf.

Asked to Run for Mayor.

One day in December, 1938, Charles B. Goodspeed and former Senator Otis Glenn called on him and urged him to become a candidate on the Republican ticket for mayor of Chicago. They said they did not want the nomination to go by default to a former mayor who had entered the race. They told Green that such a default might result in retarding the G. O. P. in the city and state for 20 years.

Green hesitated a long time. This was an important decision for him and he recognized that it would change the course of his life. His wife wanted him to remain in law practice and this was his own inclination. But more pressure was brought to bear on him. A few days later he was called into conference with a group of civic leaders which included Frank J. Loesch. It was the advice, the arguments, and the example of that 88 year old battler against the combination of crime and evil politics in Chicago that finally led Green to say "yes" and enter the mayoral race. He was then 41 years old.

Gets Majority of Votes.

Making an active campaign, Green won the nomination with a total of more than 212,000 votes, 77 per cent of the number cast in the G. O. P. primary. His political importance was again enhanced in the mayoral election on April 5, 1939, when he received 638,068 votes to the 822,469 mustered by the powerful Democratic city machine for Mayor Kelly.

But it was the decision made back in December, 1938, that really put Green into politics. His present campaign is a direct result of his showing in the mayoral race. His 1938 decision had, as he anticipated, changed the course of his life.

Green was born in Ligonier, northeastern Indiana, on Jan. 9, 1897. It was in this town of about 2,000 population, a typical rural community, in which his entire boyhood was spent and where he went thru the public

THERE IS MORE TO STATE ROAD JOBS THAN BIDS

Contractors Figure Other Things, Too.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 5.—Bids were opened by the state highway department today for $1,354,791 worth of road work. It brought together contractors, bondsmen, material men, union labor bosses, and politicians—all of the elements of a loose and half hidden alliance that spends 50 million dollars a year of motorists' taxes.

The opening of the bids is a formal public affair, conducted in an auditorium of the Centennial building adjoining the capitol. The preliminaries, which occasionally attract the attention of an ambitious prosecutor, are informal private affairs, conducted in lobbies, tap rooms and guest rooms of local hotels.

Source of Campaign Funds.

The preliminaries last night and early this morning were particularly interesting in view of the political campaign. From the public funds that pay for their work, the contractors from all sides were being asked to contribute directly and indirectly to cover electioneering costs. And, according to reports, they're paying on all sides.

In the shakedowns for direct donations, the Horner-Nash-Kelly ticket headed by Harry B. Hershey for governor holds the upper hand—control of the highway department administration thru the sick room regency.

To combat this advantage, at least one aggressive worker for Lieut. Gov. John Stelle's gubernatorial aspirations was promising that Illinois will have a new chief executive immediately after the primary regardless of who wins the Democratic nomination.

Predicts Stelle Will Take Over.

"You can't go wrong putting your money on Stelle," this enthusiastic solicitor was quoted. "He'll be the governor for at least eight months, win or lose Tuesday and win or lose next November."

"But," he was answered, according to reports on this hotel room conference, "it's Lieberman [Chief Highway Engineer Ernst Lieberman] who cracks the whip in my business."

"Lieberman will be out as soon as Nudelman [director of finance Samuel L. Nudelman] is out," he was told.

In addition to both sides in the Democratic race, a few of the road men are contributing to the Republican party. The Republicans haven't any whip to crack but the contractors want to be associated with likely winners regardless of party.

Smith Knew Inside.

There are reports of other solicitations, not so direct nor so simple, in fact so complicated that it would take a grand jury to determine the truth of the widespread rumors. F. Lynden Smith, director of public works and former Horner campaign manager, before his strange death on March 9, gave federal men some information about undercover relations among his estranged political associates, union labor racketeers, contractors, and others doing business with the state.

"There's enough on the surface," Speaker of the House Hugh W. Cross, ranking Republican office holder in Illinois, commented this afternoon. "There's enough odor to prove that the Democratic administration of road funds is rotten. And we can't expect a reform, with or without prosecutions, as long as this party holds the purse strings."

Bond Writers There.

In and about the St. Nicholas hotel last night were seen three representatives of the Horan and O'Brien insurance brokerage of Chicago. They had legitimate business there, mingling with the highway contractors. According to the best available information, this company writes the performance bonds for 80 per cent of the road men obtaining state contracts.

Members of this brokerage firm are two Democratic stalwarts, Albert J. Horan, chief bailiff of the Chicago Municipal court, and Martin J. O'Brien, Cook county public administrator. Most of their public business is written with the Fidelity and Deposit company of Baltimore.

Lyn Smith, as money raiser for the statehouse machine, wasn't satisfied with the Horan and O'Brien contributions. His survey last year—part of his private files lost or hidden since his death—showed that in 1938 these Chicago politicians got 16 million dollars of the 20 million dollars in bond business in the state department of public works. The premium is 1 or 1½ per cent of the principal and the agent's commission is 25 or 30 per cent of the premium.

Proves Profitable Connection.

If Smith's figures were correct, Horan and O'Brien got at least $40,000 from the sale of bonds to contractors. Almost half again this much can be added for the sale of workmen's compensation insurance to the contractors, according to reports.

Horan and O'Brien sell good insurance. Their rates are fair. The complaint against their hogging the business comes from their competitors. According to the competitors, contractors are given to believe that they improve their relations with certain union labor men and with highway department officials by placing their bond and insurance business thru the Chicago politicians.

Contractors Given Instructions.

A few years ago Robert Kingery, then Horner's director of public works, discovered that a highway department engineer who gave the contractors their specifications for projects before they bid was telling them to buy bonds thru Horan and O'Brien. The employé was stopped but he was not fired. He was merely doing what his bosses in the highway department had told him to do.

"No one has to tell us what's good for us," a downstate contractor remarked last night.

Al Horan, interviewed by THE TRIBUNE in Chicago, denied Smith's figures, and said that public work comprised only about 20 per cent of his brokerage business.

Inside Track on Materials.

Another company with an apparent inside track on state highway work is the Material Service corporation of Chicago. This corporation grew to gigantic proportions in Cook county while the late Anton J. Cermak was president of the Cook county board. After Cermak, as mayor and political boss, made Henry Horner governor of Illinois, Material Service spread thruout the state.

The president of this corporation is Henry Crown. A vice president is Arthur Lindheimer, a brother of Benjamin Lindheimer. Ben was Cermak's president of the board of local improvements. Two epgineers in this board were Ernst Lieberman and Charles E. De Leuw.

Under Gov. Horner, Ben was named chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, but unofficially dictated road affairs. Lieberman was named chief engineer and De Leuw assistant chief of the highway department. Lyn Smith was business manager of the highway department. De Leuw is now a consulting engineer for Mayor Kelly's subway work.

Patronized by Contractors.

Material Service corporation has been unusually fortunate, according to reports, in selling stone and sand to contractors on state jobs. Its general sales manager, Sid Marx, was seen last night, slapping a couple of contractors on the back in the Leland hotel tavern.

The contractors, a hardy lot in a rigorous industry, don't squawk about the treatment they receive. Each believes he can survive better than his competition. And, according to reports, some of them have been able to take advantage of various deals among politicians, labor, insurance, and supply men.

The open competition for state contracts is described in the statutes, but the complete story isn't told in the law books. Theoretically, any one can bid with equal opportunity for a fair profit from these public jobs. Actually, an harmonious relationship with the state highway administration is essential to the life of a contractor.

Qualifications are Determined.

In the first place, the highway administration, headed by Lieberman, decides who is qualified to bid and how much work each is qualified to undertake. These qualifications, under the written departmental rules, are based upon financial statements and upon records of past performances.

After obtaining a contract, a contractor must have sympathetic treatment from highway officials to make a profit or to keep from sustaining a loss. He must be granted claims for compensation for extras, for expenses not originally anticipated in the specifications. He must get prompt payments for his work as it progresses so he can meet his pay rolls. He must escape any undue severity in the state inspections.

To protect themselves, most of the contractors deal with the politicians. Sometimes, according to repeated reports, some connive in their bidding, using the reported under cover alliances to eliminate any real combination.

Officials Keep Away.

This is a criminal offense. State highway officials studiously and deliberately remain ignorant of these hotel room deals. For the officials to have knowledge of these deals would involve them criminally.

"The Democrats are afraid to let their left hands know what their right hands are doing," said Speaker Cross, passing thru Springfield for a downstate political meeting tonight.

None of these preliminaries is evident at the formal opening of the bids. The seals on a box, about the size of a ballot box, were broken this morning by Lloyd Springer, assistant road engineer. From this he extracted and read the bids from the stage of the Centennial building assembly hall. Contractors, in the audience seats, took notes. Later in the day, the apparent low bidders were announced. The projects were for seven downstate road jobs.

LA GUARDIA KILLS THE JOB RUSSELL WASN'T TO GET

New York, April 5 [Special].—Mayor Fiorello La Guardia has abolished the City college post to which Philosopher Bertrand Russell has been appointed, it was disclosed today by examination of the budget of the board of higher education.

By striking from the budget the vacant lectureship, the mayor is believed in some quarters to have provided a solution to the controversy which has continued since Supreme Court Justice John E. McGeehan voided the appointment of Dr. Russell as professor of mathematics and philosophy at City college. The court read some of Russell's books on love and marriage and decided they showed the philosopher to be immoral and indecent.

The mayor was asked why he had stricken from the budget the lectureship vacated by Harry A. Overstreet. He explained that it was "in keeping with the policy of eliminating vacant positions."

Meanwhile 2,000 City college students held a rally, protesting the ruling of Justice McGeehan.

MACHINE TICKET SHIFTS CAMPAIGN INTO HIGH GEAR

Hershey Raps Tar Brush Tactics of Rivals.

Candidates on the regular Democratic state slate last night followed the party custom of getting in as much work as possible on the last Friday before the polls open.

The heads of the ticket, Senator James M. Slattery and Harry B. Hershey, the candidate for governor, divided between them 10 big meetings on the west and northwest sides. Each spoke on the radio. In this activity, they were joined for the first time by Attorney General John E. Cassidy, who is not a candidate. In addition, Mayor Kelly made his second jump outside the county limits and spoke at a Joliet meeting arranged especially for him.

Use Same Arguments.

In general the principal speakers held to the lines of arguments and appeal they have been using for the last week. Hershey, for the second successive night, directed his attack at Republican critics of Democratic officials and policies.

His speech at a massmeeting in San Callisto hall, 2187 DeKalb avenue, in the 25th ward, was broadcast.

"Desperate men and desperate measures are being employed in these final days of the primary to create confusion among our people," he said.

"Every stategy that the self-seekers employ so well—campaigning by whispers, by inciting class antagonism, by creating fake issues to offset any questioning about their lack of program, and the outright mangling of the humanitarian achievements of Roosevelt and Horner—all these are being developed by the springtime soldiers in the Democratic ranks who have come thru a winter of selfish discontent.

Assails Tar Brush Touches.

"I want no victory won by using a political tar brush on every issue and every personality of the opposition.

"I would rather go back to my farm in Taylorville and live out a quiet life of helpfulness in my community than to go to the executive mansion in Springfield on the character deaths and political poisoning of those who tried and lost."

Later he referred more heatedly to the Republicans.

"Where is the Republican party and the Republican press in the maneuvers of this campaign?" he asked. "Not on their own side of the fence, but in our back yard! Not strengthening their own sinews of war, but attempting to weaken ours!"

Slattery Appeals to Labor.

Senator Slattery's radio talk was an appeal for labor union support in which he referred only briefly to "the bitter campaign of villification and abuse heaped" on him. But Attorney General Cassidy, who chose not to run again, had a message for voters concerning Gov. Horner's condition.

"Since the governor's return in April, 1939," he said, "there has seldom been a week when I have not spent some time with him. I want to assure every one that Gov. Horner, and he alone, has independently exercised the prerogatives and performed the major duties of the executive office."

Speaking in the Chamber of Commerce hall in Joliet, Mayor Kelly raised a laughing applause by a part of his description of the homely virtues of Hershey.

"He's a good, old fashioned, home made apple pie," he said.

DAIRY PICKETED AT MILWAUKEE WITHOUT STRIKE

Milwaukee, Wis., April 5 [Special].—Picketing without a strike was begun today at the Golden Guernsey Dairy Coöperative and many of its route stops by the A. F. of L. Milk Drivers and Dairy Employés union.

It was a new type of labor demonstration following a decision this week by Circuit Judge Gustave G. Gehrz that certain union activities were advertising and not picketing in the meaning of the law. The Catlin law prohibits picketing except by employés and outlaws strikes not approved by a majority of employés.

The union on March 21 lost a referendum vote ordered by the state employment board to decide whether 75 per cent of the employés favored a closed shop. The vote was 118 to 74 against a contract.

WILLIS DEFINES PRESS FREEDOM AS INDIANA ISSUE

Freedom of speech and of the press and the question of whether this country should permit its civilization to be jeopardized by secret commitments of its ambassadors are the foremost issues in this election year, Raymond E. Willis declared last night in his campaign for the Republican nomination for United States senator from Indiana. He spoke at a meeting of the Indiana Republican club at 526 State street, Hammond.

"Freedom of expression, particularly of the press, will do more to protect America from involvement in European questions than anything else," Willis said. "That is a clear cut issue in Indiana this year. Sherman D. Minton, Indiana's junior senator, whose term expires this year, has been a persistent enemy of freedom of the press and has repeatedly tried to curb this foremost safeguard of American liberties. I hope the Democrats nominate him, for I am certain I can beat him in November."

INSURGENTS RAKE FAILURE TO HELP AGED OF ILLINOIS

Accuse Horner Machine of Blocking Aid.

Benjamin S. Adamowski, insurgent Democratic candidate for United States senator, replied last night to charges of the Horner regency that State Auditor Edward J. Barrett is using old age pension rosters as a political mailing list. Adamowski is running with Barrett, who seeks reelection, and with Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, who is bidding for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Adamowski charged that the letter containing the attack on Barrett, under Gov. Horner's name, was signed with a rubber stamp. He accused the Horner bedside cabinet of preventing action to aid the aged.

Washington Enters Fray.

In Washington, D. C., Oscar M. Powell, executive director of the federal social security board, called upon A. L. Bowen, director of the Illinois state department of welfare, to take action against further abuse of the records. Powell said he had been informed Barrett had used the lists.

The Horner letter charged that Barrett had written to all pensioners in the state, telling them they are being deprived of a $10 a month pension increase by the regular Democrats. "Some seekers of office, for their own personal benefit, have injected old age assistance into the Democratic primary contest," the letter said. It urged pensioners to support Harry B. Hershey, Democratic harmony candidate for governor, who, said the letter, "will not seek to make political capital out of such measures."

"Our opponents do not want us to talk about old age pensions," Adamowski said at meetings in the 14th, 23d, and 32d wards. "I don't blame them. It means they don't want us to talk about their mistakes.

"I know definitely that Sammy Nudelman [state finance director] opposed an increase in pensions for the aged. He came to me in Springfield and wanted the bill increasing pensions killed. I fought for it, and John Stelle fought for it, and the bill was passed by the legislature.

Assails Slattery's Action.

"Then my opponent [Senator James M. Slattery], who wants you to elect him to the United States senate, told our governor that congress would not provide federal funds for the increase. As a result the bill was vetoed. Congress provided the money for the increase, but the aged of Illinois are not getting it. And now my opponent wants you to send him back to the senate. No wonder they don't want old age pensions discussed in this campaign."

Stelle answered charges of Hershey that the insurgents are sowing dissention in the Democratic party. He spoke over the radio and at ward meetings.

"My opponent is crying that I should not sow dissention in Democratic ranks," he said. "I shouldn't oppose the bosses. At the same time he is loud in his praises of Gov. Horner.

"Doesn't my opponent know that in 1936 Horner fought bossism in the Democratic party with all the vigor and fearlessness he possessed?

"Doesn't my opponent know that Horner said repeatedly he would never make peace with the bosses?

"But, when Horner became ill, his friends betrayed him. They made a deal with the bosses, a deal Henry Horner would abhor. In that deal my opponent was handpicked for the nomination for governor. A helpless governor was sold down the river to the bosses. That is what they call 'keeping faith' with Henry Horner. That is their 'harmony.'"

33 City Chauffeurs Return After Brief Strike Over Pay

Thirty-three chauffeurs in the city electrical department returned to work yesterday afternoon after going on strike in the morning. Their grievances were taken under advisement by a subcommittee of the finance committee, headed by Ald. William Rowan [10th], who will report next Thursday. The drivers ask either for $8 a day, a guarantee of 5½ days work a week, and time and a half for overtime, or $9 a day on a 9 hour day and a 5 day week.

PRESIDENT'S SON SIGNS FOR MOVIE SLOT MACHINES

James Roosevelt, the President's son, and Fred L. Mills, president of the Mills Novelty company, Chicago, yesterday signed a contract providing for production of three minute sound movie shorts to be shown in coin operated machines in public places. The arrangement, which was announced in February, was closed at the Mills company offices in Chicago.

Under the terms of the contract, Globe Productions, Inc., Roosevelt's movie concern, will produce short features, largely musical numbers, and sell them to the Mills company. The company, which manufactures coin-in-the-slot phonographs and other coin operated machines, will produce machines to show the movie shorts for a dime in the slot, Mills said.

The machines will be placed in cafés, railroad stations, and other public places. Roosevelt left for Hollywood immediately after the contract was signed. He said he hopes to have the first shorts ready in two or three months.

Sound Technicians' Strike Is Called Off by Bioff

Hollywood, Cal., April 5 (AP).—A telephone call from William Bioff, film labor leader, in Chicago, cut short a walkout of 50 sound technicians at Republic studios today. Technicians working on four different pictures quit, demanding a 42 hour week and wage scales ranging up to $147.84 a week. They returned to work shortly, however, when Bioff telephoned the strike was unauthorized and that the demands would be negotiated by the conference of studio unions.

2 SENATORS URGE NEBRASKA VOTES FOR VANDENBERG

McNary and Capper Laud Farm Problem Stand.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING,
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 5.—Senators Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.] and Arthur Capper [R., Kas.], leading representatives of the agricultural interest in congress, addressed telegrams today to Charles S. Reed, chairman of the volunteer Vandenberg committee of Nebraska, commending Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] to the farmers of Nebraska.

Senator Vandenberg is opposing District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York for the Nebraska delegation to the Republican national convention in the contest for the Republican nomination for President. The Nebraska primary in which these delegates will be chosen will be held next Tuesday.

In view of Dewey's victory over Vandenberg in the Wisconsin primary last Tuesday the contest in Nebraska has assumed crucial importance. If Dewey should win again in that state his prospects for the nomination would be enhanced tremendously and Vandenberg's correspondingly impaired. If Vandenberg should win Nebraska, however, he would still be an important contender in the race for the nomination.

Favor Michigan Senator.

Both McNary and Capper declared the farm problem still unsolved and looked to the next administration to solve it. Vandenberg appeals to them as the man to do it. In his telegram Senator McNary said:

"Answering your inquiry concerning Senator Vandenberg's farm attitude I am pleased to say that while I can take no part in the preconvention campaign, I feel a degree of responsibility to my farm friends in Nebraska and elsewhere in connection with their best legislative welfare. I owe it to candor to tell them that I have worked intimately with Senator Vandenberg for 12 years and that I know him to have a fine conception of our farm problem and a constant willingness to coöperate in behalf of the agricultural welfare."

Text of Capper's Message.

Senator Capper's telegram follows:

"In answer to your query concerning Senator Vandenberg and the American farmer, I am taking no part in the preconvention campaign, but I am glad to be able to say that I believe the American farmers can trust Arthur Vandenberg, and their trust will not be betrayed. I have served in the senate with Senator Vandenberg for 12 years.

"As I remember it, the first vote he cast on any major piece of legislation was for the McNary-Haugen bill. He knows the importance of agriculture in the national economy. He has the interests of the American farmers at heart. He can be trusted to work intelligently and conscientiously in their behalf."

Denies Backing Dewey.

Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, who is being considered for keynoter at the Republican national convention, denied reports circulated in Washington that he was seeking to influence the Minnesota delegation in favor of Dewey.

"I unequivocally state," he said, "that I have not informed Washington friends or any one else that I hope to influence Minnesota's delegation to support any of the candidates for presidential nomination.

"I have continued the policy established months ago of giving each national leader of our party an opportunity for a good public forum in Minnesota which I consider to be in the interests of the welfare of the Republican party."

Granted Divorce

MRS. SHIRLEY HICKMAN.

Mrs. Shirley Paulson Hickman, 25 years old, of the Allerton hotel, was granted a divorce by Judge Rudolph F. Desort yesterday from Frederick Hickman of Jamestown, N. Y., a medical student. Mrs. Hickman recently amended her suit for separate maintenance to one for divorce. While the former suit was pending she and another woman, who also was seeking separate maintenance, received letters calling them gold diggers and threatening them with violence. The letters were believed to be from a crank. In her divorce bill Mrs. Hickman charged cruelty. She testified Hickman slapped her twice and once blacked an eye and broke one of her teeth. Mrs. Hickman obtained a cash settlement of $2,000.

LOESCH BACKS GREEN'S RACE FOR GOVERNOR

Attorney Frank J. Loesch, former head of the Chicago Crime commission, made a radio address yesterday in behalf of Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for nomination for governor. He called Green the finest candidate for whom he had voted in the 67 years since he cast his first ballot.

"In his campaign for governor," Loesch said, "Green is still championing the forces that seek law, order and good government. Few men of Green's type are willing to stand the criticism and abuse that seem to be the price paid by those who run for political office. Illinois can be thankful it has such a man available.

"If Green is nominated April 9 I believe he will attract vast numbers of high minded independent Democrats to the Republican party in November. His election will send word thruout the nation that Illinois intends to regain its courage and its decency. It will tell the nation that the Springfield and Kelly-Nash machines are on their way out and that good government and respect for law and order once more have found their homes in Illinois."

CLEAR 2 FRIENDS OF HUEY LONG IN EMBEZZLEMENT

Baton Rouge, La., April 5 (AP).—A district court jury tonight acquitted State Senator Clarence A. Lorio and George Caldwell on charges they embezzled construction materials from Louisiana state university.

Lorio, former Louisiana State university physician, and Caldwell, dismissed construction superintendent at the school who is now under a four year sentence for mail fraud, were charged jointly with embezzling 2,000 bricks worth $28 from the university. Both Lorio and Caldwell were friends of the late Senator Huey Long, one-time czar of Louisiana politics.

TWO REDS SEIZED BY U. S. IN HOUSE OFFICE BUILDING

Both Cited for Contempt by Dies Committee.

Washington, D. C., April 5 (AP).—The growing struggle between the Dies committee and the communist party resulted today in the jailing of two party members and issuance of complaints against two committee agents.

Philip Frankfeld and Thomas F. P. O'Dea, Boston communists, were jailed here in default of $1,000 bond each after warrants were issued by United States Commissioner Needham Turnage charging them with contempt of the house for refusing to answer questions put to them by the Dies committee. The two were seized outside committee rooms in the house office building.

Investigators Accused.

In Philadelphia, Pa., Judge George A. Welsh issued a warrant accusing George F. Hurley and Chester Howe, committee agents, and Lieut. Albert Granitz of the Philadelphia police, of violating the civil rights of Carl Reeve, communist candidate for the senate. Reeves' complaint was an aftermath of a raid made on Tuesday on Philadelphia communist party headquarters.

Meantime, Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] of the committee was busy with two other legal proceedings.

Counsel for William Dudley Pelley, leader of the Silver Shirts and one time committee witness, had demanded that Dies be called as a witness at a hearing on extradition of Pelley to North Carolina. Authorities in that state want Pelley in connection with a case in which he was convicted six years ago of violating the blue sky law and placed on probation.

"Railroading" Plot Charged.

T. Edward O'Connell, Pelley's lawyer, said he wanted to show that "mysterious forces" were conspiring to "railroad" Pelley to the chain gang. Justice Jesse C. Adkins refused, however, to permit Dies to be called and ordered Pelley delivered to North Carolina authorities. An appeal was noted and the Silver Shirt leader allowed his freedom on $5,000 bond.

Dies and other committee officials then went before a grand jury which was presented with house citations for contempt against James H. Dolsen and George Powers, Pittsburgh, Pa., communists, who also refused to answer questions.

The warrants against Frankfeld and O'Dea were the first obtained by the committee directly from the commissioner, and the procedure represented a short cut to court action against recalcitrant witnesses.

Roosevelt's Name Used.

In the cases of Dolsen and Powers, who would not tell the name of a communist who used "Franklin D. Roosevelt" as his party pseudonym, the committee obtained formal house approval of citations for contempt which were presented to the grand jury by the United States attorney.

It was said that the United States attorney's office suggested the short cut after committee officials expressed concern that some of those who refused to answer questions might leave town before the matter could be placed before the house.

Frankfeld, executive secretary of the communist party in New England, refused to answer any questions at a committee hearing unless he were permitted to read a resolution denouncing the inquiry. O'Dea, president of the Young Communist league of Massachusetts, declined to tell the committee the names of Harvard students he said were members of the league. A hearing for them was set for April 12.

SEARCY CHARGES WPA FORCED TO AID DEMOCRATS

State Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, charged in Chicago last night that WPA workers and relief clients had been ordered to ask for Democratic ballots Tuesday.

"This New Deal edict is a resumption of personal slavery," he asserted. "It is taking vicious advantage of unfortunates who, altho they would rather be on their own, must look to government to tide them over. This is the brand of totalitarianism which, if longer tolerated, will contribute to the destruction of the American form of government. Coercion must cease; citizens have the right to call for the ballot they want."

Searcy appeared at a meeting in the Gage Park school, 55th and Rockwell streets, and at several other south and west side meetings.

BARRETT PLEDGES TO STOP PAROLE EVIL IN ILLINOIS

George F. Barrett, candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney general, said last night that if he is elected one of his first steps will be to end the parole racket of the Horner administration. He spoke at a Proviso township rally in Maywood.

"Under the present Democratic administration," Barrett said, "murderers, arsonists, thieves, and other criminals have been turned lose from state penitentiaries to prey upon Illinois citizens.

"They were freed because they had the money to buy political favoritism and because their services outside of prison are needed by the machine politicians who secure them their freedom."

2 CONFESS LOOTING OFFICES.

SUIT ASKS SLUSH REFUNDS TO ALL ON CIVIL SERVICE

Violation of Illinois Merit Law Is Charged.

Springfield, Ill., April 5 [Special].—The return of slush funds collected from state civil service employés is sought in an amended complaint filed in the Sangamon county Circuit court here this afternoon in the accounting suit against the Horner 2 per cent club. The pleading was filed by Attorney D. Logan Giffin, former Republican state representative, in behalf of Henderson Gibson of Joliet, a former guard at the penitentiary there.

The amendment alleges the defendants, nine high appointees of Gov. Henry Horner, in furtherance of a conspiracy violated civil service statutes in collecting campaign assessments from the salaries of state employés enrolled under the merit system. Harold Stone, a collector, is under indictment in Will county, charged with a criminal violation of the civil service laws.

Introduces New Theory.

"In this amendment," said Giffin, "we are introducing a new theory in the demand for a court accounting of the collections and disbursements of this Democratic campaign fund. Our new contention is that the defendants had no right to the 2 per cent from civil service employés, regardless of how they spent it.

"Our original complaint asks for an accounting of the charge that the money was diverted to purposes foreign to the purposes for which it was collected. Under this contention, which is still being prosecuted, all donors, regardless of whether under civil service, would be entitled to a refund pro rata of any portions of the collections not properly expended."

The amendment was to an intervening petition. The original complaint was brought by a Democrat, Attorney Arthur M. Fitzgerald, in the name of State Policeman Sylvester Steskal.

Slush Injunction Modified.

Judge L. E. Stone, also a Democrat, earlier today modified a temporary injunction that since Feb. 28 has been tying up a slush fund deposit at a Chicago bank. State Financial Director Samuel L. Nudelman, in an interview, said it was less than $25,000. Under the modified writ, all except $5,000 is released.

Fitzgerald, whose prosecution of the case has benefited the gubernatorial candidacy of Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, said this afternoon there is no likelihood of any progress being made in an accounting until after Tuesday's primary. The audit of slush disbursements, according to persistent reports, will produce scandals.

RADICALS SPLIT ON SOVIET ISSUE AT CONVENTION

Socialist Workers' Party Meets in Secret.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 5.—Behind closed doors in gaudy old Beethoven hall here, the national convention of the Socialist Workers party today split wide apart on Russia's recent conduct in international affairs. Before the breakup the party represented followers of Leon Trotzky, Russian revolutionary now in exile in Mexico.

Trotzky, bitter foe of Josef Stalin, the Russian dictator, precipitated the controversy by condoning the Red army's invasion of Finland on the grounds it would aid the "class struggle."

This was too much for some of Trotzky's American followers who condemned the Stalinist war and turned on their revolutionary leader in Mexico. Leader of the opposition is Max Schachtman, young editor of the New International and Socialist Appeal, publications of the Socialist Workers party, or S.W.P.

Admits Lacking Votes.

Standing on the steps of the hall with some of his supporters this afternoon, Schachtman admitted he did not have the votes to carry thru a condemnation of the Stalinist war policy by resolution in the convention.

About 100 delegates of the S.W.P. from all parts of the country assembled here today. The same number of visitors, mostly young New York college students, also attended sessions in Beethoven hall, an ancient structure with pink and blue walls crawling with faded gold trimmings. Reporters were politely excluded.

The convention will end Sunday and any action taken on resolutions will be announced on Monday, according to Albert Goldman, attorney for Trotzky who was present at the proceedings.

Consider Support in War.

Among the questions to be decided, Goldman said, was whether followers of Trotzky would support the soviet union in any war with England and France, which the S.W.P. regards as "imperialist" and "reactionary" powers. Followers of Trotzky make a distinction between the malodorous Stalin and the people of the soviet union, he declared.

"Orthodox Trotzkyists say in spite of the crimes of Stalin, for which we condemn him and struggle against him, in any war between the soviet union and a capitalist country we favor victory of the soviet union," asserted Goldman.

The bitter debate which went on today in the S. W. P. convention followed an acrimonious exchange of views between Trotzky and Schachtman in the March number of the New International, which describes itself as a "monthly organ of revolutionary Marxism."

Quote Views of Trotzky.

Trotzky wrote as follows:

"Tomorrow the Stalinists will strangle the Finnish workers. But now they are giving—they are compelled to give—a tremendous impulse to the class struggle in its sharpest form. The leaders of the opposition construct their policy not upon the 'concrete' process that is taking place in Finland, but upon Democratic abstractions and noble sentiments."

To this Schachtman replied that the Russian invasion of Poland and Finland, its demands upon Estonia, Lithuania, and Latvia, all constituted a "reactionary war of the Stalinist burocracy."

"Where is this 'tremendous impulse to the class struggle' in Finland and 'in its sharpest form,' to boot?" asked Schachtman.

An announcement of the convention program in the "Socialist appeal" disclosed the meeting had been called for the purpose of putting the S. W. P. on a "war footing."

FEDERAL AGENTS SOUGHT TO CURB PRIMARY FRAUDS

Representatives of a number of civic groups met yesterday in the Hotel Sherman and adopted resolutions requesting Attorney General Robert H. Jackson at Washington to assign federal department of justice agents to polling places in Chicago for the primary Tuesday. Presence of the agents would serve to prevent and punish vote frauds, the resolutions said.

The meeting was called by Robert L. Hunter, president of the Better Government association. He said sufficient federal men are available to organize flying squadrons in troublesome wards and to coöperate with volunteer watchers of the joint civic committee on elections.

Capt. John I. Howe, representing Police Commissioner Allman at the meeting, said such aid would be welcome.

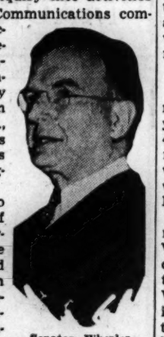
SENATE TO PROBE TELEVISION RULE, SAYS WHEELER

Quiz to Determine if FCC Curbs Industry.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

A senatorial inquiry into activities of the Federal Communications commission in connection with the development of television was promised yesterday by Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], who was in Chicago on his way to Washington, D. C.



Senator Wheeler.

Wheeler, who is chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee, said that on his return to the capital today he would appoint a subcommittee to act on a resolution asking an investigation to determine whether the FCC has acted to halt the development of television.

Quiz Asked by Lundeen.

The resolution, introduced by Senator Ernest Lundeen [F.-L., Minn.] requested the senate interstate commerce committee to inquire particularly whether the commission has exceeded its authority and whether it has interfered with the freedom of public and private enterprise.

Senator Wheeler said he had not investigated the FCC activities in connection with television. He has been in California for two weeks, during which he and his family attended the wedding of his son, John, in Los Angeles.

On March 23 the FCC ordered a further hearing on television, to start Monday, to determine whether television progress was being unduly retarded by the Radio Corporation of America and its subsidiaries.

Action Stirs Protest.

After a storm of protest, particularly in the New York area, James Lawrence Fly, chairman of the FCC, commandeered sponsored radio time on NBC, an R. C. A. subsidiary, Tuesday night to broadcast a further warning against premature purchase of television receivers because they might become obsolete soon.

"I am not at all sure," Lundeen's resolution said, "that the FCC ever was delegated such authority as it is attempting to exercise in connection with television."

The resolution said television interests began manufacturing television sets and started promoting their sale after the FCC had issued an order permitting limited commercial television operation, effective Sept. 1, 1940. Lundeen said that R. C. A. had started it alone and had spent $10,000,000 in the development of television and added that other companies had spent tremendous sums. Such development, the resolution said, should not be arbitrarily retarded by a bureau in Washington.

32,000 Building Owners Eligible for Tax Refunds

County Clerk Michael J. Flynn reminded owners of 32,000 old style two flat buildings yesterday that they were entitled to 5 per cent refunds on their 1935 tax bills. The rebates, he said, must be deducted from 1939 tax bills which will be mailed out by May 1 and are payable by June 1. Flynn is sending letters to the 32,000 owners, whose total refunds will amount to about $250,000. The refunds are to correct an error in the 1935 assessment.

NEW DEAL TRADE TREATY PROGRAM PASSES SENATE

Gets 3 More Years of Existence.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 5.—The senate today passed and sent to the White house a resolution extending the administration's controversial trade agreements program for three years from June 12. Extension of the program was approved by a vote of 42 to 37 after Democratic senators had warned that it would result in heavy Republican gains in the congressional elections this year.

David I. Walsh.

One of those who warned that the trade treaties would result in disaster for the Democratic party was Senator David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], who voted as a member of the finance committee to report the resolution and also voted for it on final passage.

The Massachusetts senator said he was unwilling to vote against the trade treaty program, because he felt it had done some good, but he warned that it is politically unpopular, as evidenced by the fact that a majority of the senate's membership voted at one time or another for some restricting amendment. At least 25 Democrats voted for one or more such amendments, all of which were rejected.

One Year Limitation Loses.

Senator Walsh offered an amendment to limit the extension to one year, but it was defeated by a vote of 46 to 34. This amendment was offered, he said, because no one knew who the next President would be, whether he would be a free trade Democrat or a high tariff Republican.

Administration supporters disseminated propaganda to the effect that Vice President John N. Garner, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, was back of the Walsh amendment and that it was intended to sabotage the Roosevelt third term movement. The President himself accepted the Walsh amendment as a Garner challenge and denounced it at his press conference.

Mr. Roosevelt said a review of the tariff question by the next congress would be harmful to the country, whether a Democratic or a Republican administration came into power. Agriculture and industry would be thrown into confusion, he said.

Vice President Garner refused to confirm or deny the story that he was supporting the Walsh amendment, but there was no indication when the roll was called that any of his friends had been influenced. The southern antithird term Democrats who had consistently supported the trade treaty program all voted against the Walsh amendment.

Walsh Warns of Republicans.

Senator Walsh told the senate that unemployment would be one of the chief issues in the campaign this year, and that the Republicans were well aware of this issue.

"Their united opposition to the trade agreements program is based upon the belief that they can make out a case that it has increased unemployment and threatens more unemployment," he said. "The opposition of a substantial number of Democrats who dislike to differ with their party leadership and who exert every effort to support their regular party program is evidence that they are fearful of this issue. They are voting against the trade treaties because they are convinced that back home there is a strong and growing sentiment in opposition to these agreements.

Tariff Issue Dangerous.

"The tariff issue is a very ticklish one. The American people have a sensitive strain in regard to tariff legislation. Democrats experienced in the elections of 1914 vigorous opposition in the country after the enactment of the Underwood tariff bill. The Republicans lost in the congressional elections following adoption of its various tariff bills.

"There are signs that our party may have the same experience in the forthcoming elections—but not as much in the election of President, in my opinion, as in the congressional elections—and I cannot explain the united opposition of the Republicans and the opposition of the Democrats in this chamber in any other way. Indeed, I have heard it predicted that the loss of Democratic seats in the congress would be very great as a result of opposition thruout the country to these trade agreements."

Has Hard Sledding.

Extension of the New Deal trade program was sharply contested during two weeks of debate. The nearest it came to being scrapped was on the amendment by Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.] to require senate ratification, by a two-thirds vote, of all future treaties. This amendment was defeated by a vote of 41 to 44.

The senate today rejected, by close votes, various amendments intended to limit the scope of the trade treaties, including one by Senator Henrik Shipstead [F.-L., Minn.] to exclude all agricultural tariffs from the President's modification powers. The Shipstead amendment was defeated by a vote of 43 to 38.

Senator Claude Pepper [D., Fla.], a New Deal yes-man, gave the senate a remarkable indication of the hostility toward the trade treaties in agricultural regions when he marred a 100 per cent record by voting against the extension resolution.

Opponents of the program denounced as suicidal a policy of generalizing low tariff benefits in a war torn world shackled with such economic barriers as quotas, embargoes, blocked currencies, depreciated currencies, exchange restrictions, bilateral agreements and various special arrangements. This, they declared, is not reciprocity.

To administration arguments that the trade treaties had greatly increased American foreign trade, the opponents replied that the increase was due to a general recovery from the world wide depression. By 1936, when the trade treaty program was just getting under way, American exports already had been increased by nearly a billion dollars and American imports by 700 million dollars, the opponents contended.

A GUFFEY PLEA: 'ROOSEVELT IS A FRIEND OF HIS'

Philadelphia, Pa., April 5. [Special].—The support of President Roosevelt's name was thrown tonight behind the candidacy of Senator Joseph F. Guffey [D., Pa.], 100 per cent New Dealer who has been denied indorsement for renomination by his own state Democratic committee.

Senator Alben Barkley [D., Ky.], the senate majority leader, declared that "I know the President wants" to continue his "associatio and friendship" with Senator Guffey.

Contradicts Earlier Announcement.

The President was thus projected into the bitter senatorial primary battle in Pennsylvania despite a White House announcement two weeks ago that he would refrain from interference in the fight. Word to that effect was given by Stephen Early, the President's secretary and spokesman, in Washington, D. C., on March 22. He said: "I am quite certain that nothing will be said here that will project the President into the Pennsylvania primary battle."

"Senator Guffey and President Roosevelt," Barkley said, "have been warmly intimate personal and political friends since 1911, and I am sure I do not exaggerate when I say that the same friendship and respect still exists between them.

"For the best interests of Pennsylvania and the country, I know that the President wants that association and friendship to continue."

Oil Man a Candidate.

Opposition to Guffey, who has been Mr. Roosevelt's most consistent supporter in the senate, led the state Democratic committee at a recent session to abandon a long time practice of indorsing a full primary slate. Unable to agree on a candidate for his seat, the convention decided to leave the April 23 primary open to all comers.

When Guffey refused to withdraw, Walter A. Jones, wealthy western Pennsylvania oil man, entered the field with the support of State Chairman David L. Lawrence and other party leaders.

Guffey's political downfall in Pennsylvania dates back to the scandals in the administration of former Gov. George H. Earle, which the senator helped uncover. A sensational investigation of corruption followed with the resulting indictment of 12 prominent Democratic leaders, including State Chairman Lawrence.

FOREIGN TRADE POLICY CURBS U. S. BUSINESS, SAYS HOUSE CANDIDATE

M. A. Michaelson.

Small business has been hit hard by the foreign trade policies of the present administration, former Congressman M. A. Michaelson, candidate for the Republican congressional nomination in the 7th district, told a 39th ward gathering last night.

"The Democrats' open door-free trade policy has filled the shelves in our stores with goods made everywhere but in America, made by foreign slave labor paid as little as 6 cents a day," he said. "Against such competition thousands of stores and small factories have given up the struggle and closed."

DWIGHT H. GREEN, HIS PAST AND HIS AIMS FOR FUTURE

Sketch Describes Career as Lawyer.

schools. His father was Harry Green, a buyer of live stock and farm lands, who had been born in the town. His mother, Minnie Gerber Green, also was of that town. They were of German extraction, hard working, thrifty, and in medium circumstances of wealth.

Worked as a Boy.

While Green's family was not poor they believed that a boy should work. Dwight's first job was with Grandfather Gerber, who was city engineer. The boy carried bricks for several weeks at microscopic wages, which at the time seemed large to him. He worked on his father's farm near town and all thru his school days delivered a newspaper route. For a time he also clerked in the town drugstore.

In 1915 Green entered Wabash college, a school for men in Crawfordsville, Ind. His family helped maintain him there. The second year he worked for a lumber company to help out in expenses. He was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity and played football and baseball.

Green left his college studies in June, 1917, to enlist in the army. He became a private at Fort Benjamin Harrison and in the fall of that year was transferred at his own request to the air service. He was sent to the ground school at the University of Illinois, and after eight weeks of ground training was sent to Kelly field, San Antonio, Tex. There he learned to fly, was commissioned a second lieutenant, and was chosen to become an instructor of cadet flyers. He went thru the instructors' school at San Antonio and was sent to Mather field, Sacramento, Cal., as a full fledged instructor. He was at this work when the armistice was signed. He was honorably discharged from the army on Jan. 3, 1919.

Remains on West Coast.

Green remained on the west coast for several months, entering Leland Stanford university. In June, 1919, he came to Chicago to work for Attorney Roy D. Keehn. That same fall he entered the University of Chicago law school, where he was awarded a bachelor of philosophy degree in 1920 and a doctor of jurisprudence degree in 1922. In law school he paid part of his expenses by working as a campus reporter for the old Examiner. Summers he worked on the downtown staff. After being admitted to the bar Green worked in Keehn's law office and early in 1926 was made a special attorney for the bureau of internal revenue in Washington.

In June of the same year Green was married to Mabel Kingston, whom he met in Washington. She had lived in New York and Washington and was working in a bank when Green met her. They have two children, Gloria, 8, and Nancy, 12.

In Washington Green worked on the interpretation of the revenue laws, particularly income tax. He tried cases for the government before the board of appeals. In 1927 he was transferred to the criminal division and sent to Chicago as general counsel for the Chicago bureau and legal adviser to the collector of internal revenue.

Tax Cases His Specialty.

It was at this time that Green began doing the work of an assistant United States attorney. He specialized in the preparation of income tax cases and tried 12 or more before he was assigned to work on the Capone case of 1931. In the Capone case Green prepared evidence for the government's case in conjunction with special agents of the internal revenue bureau, and examined witnesses during the trial.

In 1932 Green was named United States attorney by President Hoover on the recommendation of Senator Glenn. He resigned in 1935 to enter private practice. He is a member of the American, Illinois, and Chicago bar associations, the Legal Club of Chicago, the Law Club of Chicago, the American Legion, the Military Order of the World War, and Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity. He attends the Episcopal church.

Green thinks that the republic is in danger today thru the trend toward centralization of power, and that this trend is a backward step in the history of humanity. We can escape this fate, he says, provided there are enough people with courage and nerve to step out and oppose the trend.

As a campaigner Green is not a backslapper. He is quiet, reserved, deliberate in speech and action, dignified, and serious—too serious, some of his friends say. But he has a warm handclasp, a direct look into the eyes, and makes a good personal impression. And he has gone almost everywhere in Illinois during the present campaign, up and down the main streets of the little Illinois towns, calling on the butcher, the grocer, the barber, the tavern keeper, the garage man, the banker, the newspaper editor, as well as appearing at political meetings day after day and night after night. It is hard work, but he has thrived on it.

OFFICIALS SHIELD RACKET KILLERS, SAYS COGHLAN

Urges Ditchburne to End Alleged Alliance.

Mal J. Coghlan, who withdrew as a candidate for the Republican nomination for state's attorney to support Harry S. Ditchburne, charged yesterday in a radio address that secret working agreements between law enforcement authorities and underworld leaders have prevented solution of recent racket killings.

Coghlan, while an assistant state's attorney, won the only conviction obtained in a labor slaying in the last 10 years. The 31 other cases in this period are unsolved.

"If it was possible to get a conviction in this one case," Coghlan said, "what bars like action and results in the other 31? Could not the police department with its 6,500 members bring to justice these killers and the men in high places who are responsible for their base deeds?

"Could not an honest state's attorney, coöperating and joining his force with the police department, give a better account on the ledger of law enforcement? There is but one answer to this question.

"The iniquitous secret working agreements between our present officials and the underworld heads forbid solution of many of these crimes, and murders will continue to be committed and will continue to be unsolved so long as the people permit supervision and control of the channels of investigation and prosecution by the present holders of office."

Urging support for Ditchburne in the primary, Coghlan pointed to Ditchburne's record as an assistant state's attorney for seven years. He said that in that time Ditchburne had established himself as a known enemy of hoodlums.

Mansure Named Campaign Manager by C. S. Dewey

Charles S. Dewey, Republican candidate for congress from the 9th congressional district, announced the appointment yesterday of E. F. Mansure as his campaign manager. Mansure, a director of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, was formerly treasurer of the Republican state central committee.

ON THE SHOULDERS OF GIANTS

By CALEB

PREMIER among the philosophers and mathematicians of all time stands Sir Isaac Newton (1643-1727), whose theory of gravitation, familiar to schoolboys for more than 250 years, has been pronounced "One of the greatest triumphs of generalization in the history of science." As a modern commentator puts it: "His demonstration that the solar system obeys a strict, yet simple, mathematical law was so complete that it is more true to say it was at once seen to be obvious and inevitable than that anybody 'agreed' with it."

It was Newton who pioneered not only a new mathematics, but a new physics and astronomy, by his invention of differential and integral calculus. Besides gravitation, he discovered the spectrum, devised explanations of the tides and the motions of the planets, and in his great Principia, published in 1687, enunciated the famous three "Laws of Motion" which hold scientific sway today.

Yet nowhere in all the biographic lore of great men is there a more striking illustration of modesty than this same Newton exhibited shortly after his master work was published. Voicing the attitude of Newton's many contemporaries, the celebrated German scientist, Leibnitz, had written: "Taking mathematics from the beginning of the world to the time of Newton, what he has done is much the better half."

And to this splendid acknowledgment what was the eminent Englishman's reply? If I have seen farther than other men, he said, it is because I have been standing on the shoulders of giants. . . .

Giants' shoulders, as Newton well knew, are the achievements of still earlier toilers and builders in the same field, to which any prominent institution or individual owes the larger portion of true success. Pretending such giants are not there, denying their due of honest recognition, or merely tendering them the contempt of "faint praise"—is to commit one of the unforgiveable sins of commercial hypocrisy.

On giants' shoulders . . . the combined acumen, vision and industry of men like Field, Selfridge, Shedd, Simpson and a score of similarly broad-gauged merchandisers of the past . . . the Field's of today has risen to a lofty stature it could never have attained otherwise. Giants, likewise, have been many of our competitive associates—great rivals who, by great accomplishments of their own, thereby spurred us on to greater effort. All these, predecessors and contemporaries alike, remind us that only in modesty can we either rightly appraise our yesterdays or effectually plan for our tomorrows.

BROOKS DEMANDS GOVERNMENT OF 'WE, THE PEOPLE'

Charges Reign of Fear Under New Deal.

A Republican victory in November will provide this country with a government friendly to labor and friendly to business, which provides the jobs for labor, Wayland Brooks declared last night in his campaign for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

Brooks spoke at three massmeetings beginning with one for the 26th and 28th wards in the auditorium at 2457 Chicago avenue, and going on to the K. of C. hall, 31st and Bonfield streets, in the 11th ward, and to the Gage Park High school at 55th and Rockwell streets. Shortly before midnight he spoke briefly at a dance at 4306 North avenue, for voters of the 34th and 36th wards.

Charges Rule by Coercion.

"There must be a government of 'we, the people' to crush the New Deal power trust now operating in Washington," he said.

"'We, the people' will crush the New Deal government of coercion and fear and elect state and national administrations that are friendly to labor and business.

"Honest labor unions and collective bargaining are essential for the protection of the wage earner, and I condemn the promotion of continued antagonism between employé and employer. It menaces progress."

Touching upon the evils that he said have arisen from unemployment and the relief-tax system which has been applied as a remedy, Brooks continued:

"The man who has no job must eat; his wife and family must eat, but he wants his job back and we want him to have it back. The job means happiness and security for him and relief from taxes for him and all of us.

Fears Called Curb on Nation.

"Every honest and constructive force must be relieved of fear. There must be no fear of meddling in a European war, of persecution, or of government reprisal. For seven years these fears have clogged the steam of creative, free enterprise in every community of Illinois and the nation."

Taxes on property, foodstuffs, clothing, and on salaries will not bring about recovery, Brooks said. Further, having people on relief gives the New Dealers a feeling of power over unfortunate fellow Americans, he said, adding:

"They have become so drunk with power they have wanted to run our farms, destroy business, own the railroads, control industry, control congress and the Supreme court, and even destroy the constitution. By night and by day they seek to perpetuate their own glory and their own power."

WAGON DRIVERS' UNION ENJOINED IN DAIRY STRIKE

Judge John C. Lewe of the Superior court issued a temporary injunction yesterday restraining the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, local 753, from using violence against employés of the Pure Farm Products company, a dairy at 1938 Augusta boulevard. The union called a strike against the plant Wednesday, alleging that its men were not being paid the rate agreed to under union wage scales.

Joseph Kawczynski.

The order was given by Judge Lewe after two nonunion drivers testified they had been beaten by sluggers. One of the drivers was Joseph Kawczynski, 3756 North Lawndale avenue. Their allegations have been denied by the union.

The company also sought to have the Inside Dairy Workers' union included in the injunction, but Judge Lewe refused this on the ground there was no showing this organization used any violence.

TWENTY CARS ARE DERAILED.

Hers is the first of a series of lard figures to be made of lard queens from corn belt states. The National Live Stock and Meat board plans to preserve the statues in cold storage for display at the 1940 International Live Stock exposition.

Miss Armstrong, Titian haired and tiny, weighs 98 pounds and is a secretary.

Candidate's Sound Truck Is Stripped of Amplifier

A campaign sound truck of Dr. Robert Schaefer, 4536 Magnolia avenue, a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress in the 10th district, which was stolen Thursday night, was recovered yesterday near Hollywood avenue and Clark street. It had been stripped of its amplifying equipment and a tire.

SENATE INQUIRY OF WIRE TAPPING MAY TURN HERE

Washington, D. C., April 4 (AP)—A senate committee opened an inquiry into wire tapping today by ordering two investigators to Rhode Island, where a federal grand jury already is probing reports of tampering with the wires of the state's attorney general, Louis V. Jackvony. Chairman Stewart [D., Tenn.], said the inquiry would be strictly independent of the grand judy's study.

Stewart mentioned Pennsylvania, New York, and Chicago as sections where other investigators probably would be sent within a few days, but declined to disclose the nature of cases.

"We have complaints from six or eight sections," he said, "but we don't want to discuss them until they have been investigated."

The investigators were supplied by committee members would not identify. "We are not using men from departments that have ever been involved, as far as we know, in wire tapping," Stewart said.

NEW DEAL SEEKS TO FOOL PUBLIC, CHURCH CHARGES

Sees Effort to Keep Eyes Off Domestic Ills.

Representative Ralph E. Church, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, charged the Roosevelt administration last night with trying to fool Americans as to conditions at home by turning attention to troubles in Europe.

The congressman spoke at seven meetings in the city and suburbs. He appeared at several rallies with Dwight H. Green, Republican aspirant for governor.

Speaks at 17th Ward Rally.

Addressing 700 persons at a 17th ward rally at 69th street and Emerald avenue, Church said:

"I object to the New Deal burocrats trying to focus attention on foreign affairs when the crying need for such attention is right here in America where 10,000,000 are unemployed.

"With such a vast army of unemployed, we should keep our nose out of foreign affairs, try to encourage business, and stimulate the employment of these ten millions."

He then told of his efforts to clean up the Home Owners' Loan corporation.

"I exposed conditions existing in the HOLC where some of these burocrats were sunning themselves and sojourning on the sands and beaches at taxpayers' expense," Church said. "That is why I stay on the job in Washington, and never miss a roll call—to protect the taxpayers and citizens who trust in me."

Never Missed a Roll Call.

One of Congressman Church's campaign boasts is that he has never missed a roll call in congress.

At one of his meetings he charged that Wayland Brooks, his primary rival, was "not a Republican candidate but a Townsend candidate."

A radio program was broadcast last night by the Ralph Church for Senate Volunteers. Speakers included Dr. Earl de Long, professor of political science at Northwestern university; Miss Harriet Vittum, head of the Northwestern university settlement, and Joseph G. Gorman, lawyer, and secretary of the Illinois Lawyers' Committee for Rlaph Church. The speakers asserted that Church was in effect a "Republican senator" from Illinois, and should be elected as such.

MUSEUM SEEKS $150,000 FROM HARDING ESTATE

A claim for $150,000 against the estate of George F. Harding, former Republican leader, in behalf of his historical and art museum, was filed in Probate court yesterday by Miss Jessie Katz. Miss Katz, who is executrix of the estate, filed the claim as president of George F. Harding Collections, Inc., a nonprofit corporation organized to care for his $5,000,000 collection of art objects and antiques. The museum is at 4853 Lake Park avenue. Miss Katz alleged Harding withdrew $150,000 from the corporation funds to purchase new exhibits and neglected to do so.

LYONS PLEDGES TO PUT PEOPLE ABOVE UTILITIES

Warns Street Car Riders of Fare Boost Peril.

Richard J. Lyons, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, pledged in four speeches last night that if elected he will appoint a state commerce commission that will put the welfare of the people ahead of the selfish interest of any utility corporation.

Lyons spoke in the 11th and 15th wards and at a combined rally for the 26th and 28th wards. Late last night he talked to merrymakers at a west side dance for the 34th and 36th wards.

Reassures Car Riders.

"The street car and bus riders, gas and electric light users, and taxpayers can rest assured," the candidate said, "that their interest shall be foremost in my mind when I appoint members of rate making and regulating bodies of the state. This is extremely important to millions of Illinois men and women.

"In Chicago, for example, there is a none too subtle scheme under way to increase street car fares. The car riders who will have to pay these higher fares—unless your governor and the commerce commission prevent it—are entitled to know now that an increase of only one cent in car fares would mean 10 million dollars a year to the traction interests.

"Also in Chicago, the gas company has just lost a fight to boost its rates. But that does not mean they are not going to try again."

Utilities Fight Him, He Says.

Lyons then charged that the utility interests are fighting the hardest to defeat him.

"They have combed the record carefully," he went on. "They have found proof that Lyons would not sanction any selling out of the people's interest. They know I never have been the recipient of fees or favors from the huge interlocking utility interests thru the benevolence of the bosses of the Kelly-Nash-utility combination in Ilinois.

"I warn these enemies of the public good to know and to remember that the state government is going to be conducted for the benefit of the people of Illinois when I am elected governor.

"I believe the voters of this state know it, too. They are not going to vote against themselves. They are not willing to turn their rights over to the traction and utilities interests and risk another Insull collapse!"

TRIES TO WRECK RADIO STATION WITH A HATCHET

Superior, Wis., April 5 (AP).—A Superior truck driver, apparently disgruntled because he lost his WPA job, broke into radio station WEBC and tried to destroy its transmitter with a hatchet last night in an effort "to get President Roosevelt and J. Edgar Hoover to come to Superior."

Police Chief Arthur Buchanan said the man told that story after police seized him in WEBC's emergency transmitter room atop the Superior Telegram newspaper building. He had chopped down a door with a hatchet and was about to enter a room containing costly and complicated transmitting apparatus when two policemen arrived and took him into custody. They had been summoned by a reporter in the building who heard the noise and said he heard the man muttering, "I'll put this WEBC off the air."

Found Guilty

Mrs. Mary Nadine Segvich holding daughter, Patricia, after she had been found guilty of vote fraud and fined $1,500.

Sentences of two years each in the county jail were imposed by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday on two polls officials of the 53d precinct in the 11th ward in the 1939 mayoral election. They were found guilty on vote fraud contempt charges.

They are Albert Ferro, 3123 Shields avenue, Democratic judge, and Frank Guinta, 3258 Princeton avenue, Republican judge. Both are truck drivers and fathers of small children.

Ferro's mother, Mrs. Concetta Ferro, ran forward as sentence was pronounced and tried to force her way into Judge Jarecki's chambers. "They are sending my boy to jail for nothing," she wept. Fifteen deputy bailiffs answered an alarm that there was a disturbance in the courtroom.

Mrs. Mary Segvich, 3245 Princeton avenue, another vote judge in the precinct, also was found guilty and was fined $1,500. She has a child 20 months old. Appeals were taken for all three defendants.

HONEST BALLOT GROUP SCHOOLS POLLS OFFICIALS

A school for poll watchers and challengers and election judges and clerks in next Tuesday's primary was conducted last night in the La Salle hotel by Mrs. Harriet Robertson of the Honest Ballot committee. Mrs. Robertson explained common fraudulent practices in elections and the ways to circumvent them.

The committee, with headquarters at 53 West Jackson boulevard, is holding a series of such meetings.

The Honest Ballot committee was created as a coördinating agency for election reform by 32 county-wide civic and business associations, women's club federations, and church societies. On election days its observers are stationed at all precinct polling places to assure the observance of election laws.

VIGIL TO PREVENT ELECTION THEFT URGED BY GREEN

Candidate Asks Citizens to Watch Polls.

Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for nomination for governor, yesterday continued his attacks on election fraud. He spoke at ward meetings on the south and far west sides.

"To preserve the liberty that has been lost in other countries we must rally our citizens to the defense of the ballot box in Chicago on April 9," he said. "There is no difference between those in other lands who seize power without an election and those who permit voters to go thru the form of casting ballots, but seize office by stealing the election.

Frauds Called City's Shame.

"The name of Chicago has been blackened from coast to coast as a result of the exposure of vote thefts on a scale never before revealed in any city election. Our people are aroused. They recognize the fact that, if we are to keep our form of government, we must choose our officials by honest ballot. When our right to elect officials is gone we no longer have self-government.

"I call upon every citizen of our city who can do so to go to the Green headquarters in his ward and devote one full day to the service of his country. I urge these volunteers to watch the polls on primary day and see that the election stealing of last April does not happen again. In foreign countries the citizens are forced to spend all their time facing the enemy. Surely we can give one day to protecting ourselves against an enemy more subtle, but just as dangerous.

Service Likened to War.

"Our government faces perils as grave as any produced by an armed foe. Those who rally to the support of the citizens seeking to protect the ballot box and guarantee a fair election and an honest count are serving the country as effectively as did our soldiers at the front."

Green will spend today touring Ogle and Lee counties, with meetings scheduled in Rochelle, Oregon, Mount Morris, Forreston, Polo, Amboy, Franklin Grove, Ashton, and a night meeting in Dixon. He will return to Chicago late tonight.

GREEN IS INVITED TO FIGHT CHARGE OF NASH BACKING

Women Ask Him to Join Radio Discussion.

The Women's Regular Republican Organization of Oak Park announced yesterday that it has invited Dwight H. Green to take part in a radio broadcast this afternoon and reply to charges that his campaign for the Republican nomination for governor has been financed and directed by the Kelly-Nash-Horner Democratic machine.

This accusation, made public last week, was that Democratic pay rollers hold high places in the Green campaign and solicit funds for it. Green replied that the charges were political trickery.

Evidence Sent to Stiles.

The Oak Park women then submitted their evidence to A. K. Stiles, chairman of the Republican State Central committee. Stiles subsequently announced he believed the charges to be well founded and substantially correct.

This brought some criticism upon Stiles from other members of the committee and the women asked the entire body to assemble and examine the evidence. This request was denied, it was said by Mrs. John K. Russell, chairman of the Oak Park group.

Writes Letter to Green.

In a letter to Green yesterday she wrote:

"We have reserved time over radio station WLS on Saturday at 2:15 p. m., at which place you are invited to appear, in person and not by proxy, to answer over the radio the questions relating to your Democratic affiliations and support.

"One half the time is tendered to you gratis. If you do not appear in person we shall utilize the time allotted to you to submit our evidence in support of the charges against you."

At Green's headquarters it was said that repeated announcements have stated that the candidate would not be in Chicago on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Green will be in Ogle and Lee counties today.

ROB REAL ESTATE OFFICE.

Two armed men invaded a real estate office at 6214 North Clark street yesterday and fled with $100 after locking up Miss Bernice Chimbroff, a clerk, and Rudolph Crosby, the manager.

BOOKIES SETTLE FOR FINES; COURT CLEARS DOCKET

Last fall the Municipal Jury court docket became clogged with handbook cases. At one time 425 cases were pending as the bookies fought conviction.

Then the federal government closed down the race wires, and the handbook business suffered. Since then the bookies haven't cared to fight their court cases, preferring to plead guilty and take a small fine.

Yesterday Judge John V. McCormick disposed of the last case. In all, according to Assistant State's Attorney Myron Lewis, 566 employés of 240 handbooks were fined a total of $3,525. During this last week alone 194 paid a total of $978.

TRIBUNE STRAWS SHOW MACHINES GATHER STEAM

Organization Candidates Pick Up Votes.

A map of Illinois detailing all the downstate points visited by canvassers for the Tribune poll appears on the back page. A map of the poll in Chicago will be printed tomorrow.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Shifts in political winds within the last two weeks are indicated in the Tribune's straw vote in a recanvass of some areas covered earlier in the poll. Canvassers were sent Thursday afternoon to 30 Chicago street corners, where straws were collected March 22, when the canvass began.

A comparison of the results shows Richard J. Lyons, a Republican candidate for governor, running stronger on all three sides of the city. While his opponent, Dwight H. Green, was still leading, he had fallen off in percentages. Politicians regard the trend as indicative of ward organization work.

Green Losing Ground.

Approximately 1,600 Republican ballots were collected on each of the two days, 13 days apart. The comparison shows the following percentages of votes received:

	Green. Pct.	Lyons. Pct.
South Side—13 corners.
March 22	62.40	37.60
April 4	54.38	45.62
West Side—10 corners.
March 22	56.40	37.60
April 4	56.07	43.93
North Side—7 corners.
March 22	62.84	37.16
April	61.72	38.28
Total—
March 22	61.19	38.81
April 4	56.79	43.21

Green's April 4 percentage of 56.79 is about 4 points lower than the 60.81 per cent Green has of the total Chicago vote collected in two weeks. The recent decrease in his ratio has been noted from time to time in the ward tables.

Wayland Brooks, running for United States senator, slipped from 63.24 per cent to 59.91. Ralph Church, his opponent, increased from 36.76 per cent to 40.09.

Nelson Slips Badly.

Oscar F. Nelson, candidate for state's attorney, dropped from 63.58 per cent to 51.75 in the street corner straws, while Harry S. Ditchburne rose from 31.54 per cent to 43.32 per cent. Erwin E. Cowen got 4.93 per cent of the vote, a slight increase.

On the Democratic side variations were shown that led politicians to believe that the Springfield and Chicago organizations have their machines ready for primary day next Tuesday.

Almost two weeks ago Vice President John N. Garner got 9.54 per cent of the Democratic straws gathered at these 30 typical street corners. Thursday he had 7.27 per cent. President Roosevelt, whose name was placed in the preferential primary without his written consent as required by law, climbed from 90.46 per cent to 92.73 at the same corners.

John Stelle, insurgent candidate for governor, who is fighting the Kelly-Nash-Horner machine, dropped in the comparative figures from the 30 corners. Benjamin Adamowski, his teammate, running for United States senator, remained almost where he was two weeks ago.

Race for Governor.

The Stelle decrease in two weeks in these typical places, and the corresponding growth in strength of Harry B. Hershey, who has the support of the organization, may be seen in the following comparisons. About 1,800 straws were taken each time.

South side:	Hershey.	Stelle.
April 4	61.57	38.43
West side:
March 22	55.61	44.39
April 4	62.63	37.37
North side:
March 22	55.24	44.76
April 4	60.10	39.90
Total:
March 22	54.50	45.50
April 4	61.59	38.41

In these tables Stelle is about 4.5 per cent below his percentage for the total Chicago vote taken in the last two weeks. Here, too, this is taken to indicate that machine activity is making itself felt.

Downstate, a comparative canvass in 22 cities was made that also shows fluctuations from two weeks ago. In eight cities in northern Illinois Dewey in the final poll has 57.30 per cent; Roosevelt, 39.30; Garner, 3.40. Compared with two weeks ago Dewey fell off about a point, Garner lost a point and Roosevelt picked up two.

In five cities in central Illinois Dewey 51.62 per cent, Roosevelt 42.37, cent of all presidential polls; Roosevelt, 43.79; Garner, 7.52. Two weeks ago the straws in these cities gave Dewey 51.62 per cent; Rosevelt, 42.37; Garner 6.01.

In nine southern Illinois cities Dewey dropped from 45.79 in early straws to 43.90 in late ones; Roosevelt advanced from 47.49 per cent to 49.01; Garner went up from 6.72 to 7.09 per cent.

Dewey Still in Lead.

The total of these comparative straw polls gives Dewey downstate more votes than Roosevelt and Garner combined. The comparison:

	Dewey.	Roosevelt.	Garner.
Early straws	52.88	41.65	5.47
Late straws	51.54	42.87	5.59

Green increased slightly in six northern cities, Lyons in two, with little change in total percentages. In five towns in central Illinois, Lyons got 36.69 per cent where in earlier straws he had 32.74; Green made a corresponding decrease from 67.26 per cent to 63.31 per cent. In nine southern Illinois cities, late polls gave Lyons 52.17 per cent where early polls gave him 51.62; Green in the finals got 47.83 per cent; in the earlies 48.38 per cent. The total result left the downstate figures almost without change, with 57.17 per cent for Green and 42.83 for Lyons.

In the comparison of Democratic straws, Stelle gained in Northern Illinois, getting 55.57 per cent in late straws where he has 51.86 in the early. In central Illinois Hershey gained in Springfield and Quincy; Stelle in Bloomington.

Other Changes Shown.

In southern Illinois, Hershey made a percentage gain in East St. Louis, which politicians deem an indication of organization strength. In nine towns in Egypt Stelle dropped in the late straws in all except Belleville. In early polls in the nine cities he had 51.80 per cent; in the late polls, 48.40.

The combined totals of these downstate comparisons gave Stelle 51.27 per cent in the late straws where in early polls he had 55.41. Hershey went up from 44.59 per cent to 48.73 per cent.

GETS 9 MONTHS ON JOLIET VOTE FRAUD CHARGES

Patrick D. Fahey, a Joliet real estate dealer convicted of conspiracy to commit election frauds, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Ben F. Anderson in the Will county Circuit court to serve nine months in jail and pay a $1,000 fine. Three other men convicted of the same offense were sentenced to shorter jail terms.

The convictions were voted by a jury on Jan. 13, but the four defendants filed motions for a new trial and sentence was delayed. They announced to Judge Anderson, who was brought in from Charleston to preside, that they would appeal, and were allowed 60 days to prepare briefs.

Those sentenced, in addition to Fahey, are John Lamberger, 60 days in jail, and Alex Lamberger and Carmen Carpinelli, each 90 days in jail. At the trial it was shown the conspirators tried to vote floaters and repeaters in behalf of Judge Edwin L. Wilson, a Democrat.

Prosecutor to Seek Date for Second Trial of Bowen

State's Attorney Samuel Shapiro of Kankakee county announced yesterday he would request Circuit Judge James V. Bartley next Thursday to set a date for the second trial of A. L. Bowen, state director of public welfare. Bowen is under indictment charging omission of duty in connection with a typhoid epidemic which cost 60 lives last summer at the Manteno state hospital. His first trial in February resulted in a jury disagreement.

MAURETANIA LEAVES HONOLULU; BELIEVED ON WAY TO AUSTRALIA

HONOLULU, T. H., April 5 (AP).—Cloaked in wartime secrecy, Great Britain's mighty Mauretania turned her prow into the high seas again today after a brief stop here for supplies.

Her destination is believed to be Australia, where she probably will be used for troop transport service.

Capt. Ernest Edkin talked freely about his voyage from New York but was silent as to his ship's destination, explaining he was sailing under sealed orders. The vessel left New York March 20 and passed thru the Panama canal a week later.

SLAYER GRANTED DEATH STAY FOR SANITY HEARING

Victor Nukowski, 24 years old, one of three men awaiting electrocution for a robbery murder, yesterday was granted a stay of execution until April 26 pending a sanity hearing April 22. Judge John F. Bolton of the Criminal court agreed to hold the hearing at the request of Attorney Samuel Hoffman. Nukowski will be examined by alienists for the state and the defense.

Nukowski, Henry Drewek, 22, and Frank Michalowski, 25, were scheduled to die in the electric chair next Friday. Attorney Charles Bellows, representing the latter two, will apply for a commutation of sentence Wednesday before the state board of pardons and paroles. The three were convicted of the murder of Viggo Peterson, 64, of 2650 Cortland street, who was slain Oct. 13 during a robbery in a tavern at 1859 North Washtenaw avenue.

ROB TWO WOMEN AND ESCORT OF GEMS AND FURS

Two women and a man were held up late last night by two armed bandits in Root street, near Normal avenue, and robbed of $6,655 in jewelry and furs.

The victims were Irving Soboroff, a cap manufacturer, and his wife, Cynthia, of the Webster hotel, 2150 Lincoln Park West, and Mrs. Jean Thompson, wife of A. C. Thompson, and owner with him of the Parkway Riding academy, 2153 North Clark street.

They had just left a horse auction in the stockyards when their car was curbed by the two bandits. From Mrs. Thompson the gunmen took two silver fox furs, valued at $1,000, and a ring valued at $35. Mrs. Soboroff was robbed of a five carat diamond ring, costing $5,000; another ring valued at $600, and a wedding ring guard valued at $20.

ROB DRUGGIST OF $96.

Edwin Sobol was held up in his drug store at 1139 West 73d street by two armed men last night and robbed of $96.

Disclose U. S. Warship Hit Submerged Rock Pinnacle

Washington, D. C., April 5 (AP).—The cruiser Augusta, flagship of the Asiatic fleet, was disclosed today to have sustained minor damage about 10 days ago in striking a submerged rock pinnacle in the southern Philippines. Navy officials said the 10,000 ton vessel was not damaged structurally in any way and that extensive repairs were unnecessary.

HERE ARE LUCKY 430 IN RHYTHM KINGS CONTEST

Indianan Wins $1,000; $4,000 More Awarded.

Good news is published today for 430 contest fans. They are the winners of prizes totaling $5,000 in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S "Radio Rhythm Kings" contest.

Beginning Jan. 1 and continuing for 42 weekdays to Feb. 18, THE TRIBUNE printed daily a puzzle picture with the name of a "Radio Rhythm King" secreted within its design. The contestants were asked to find the names and include with their entry a 25 word letter naming their favorite "Rhythm King" and giving reasons for the choice.

Thousands Try for Prizes.

The contest aroused popular interest and attracted thousands of entrants. The judges' task was difficult, but errors in the solving and spelling eliminated more than 90 per cent of the contributions. Among the perfect entries the letters marked with sincerity and originality ranked highest. Youth played the star rôle in this music lovers' game, the average age of the top winners being only 25.

Margaret Etling, 335 South Main street, Crown Point, Ind., captures the first prize—$1,000—for the correct answers and a highly meritorious letter.

The second prize—$500—goes to Mrs. Joseph Becker, 2652 23d place, Chicago. Kathryn Price of 608 Woodmere place, Ann Arbor, Mich., wins $250—third prize money. The two $100 checks, fourth and fifth prizes, go to Patricia Paynter, 220 South La Grange road, La Grange, and Mrs. F. W. Schneider, 912 Allouez terrace, Green Bay, Wis.

Five Others Get $50 Each.

The next five winners, who receive $50 each, are Jerry Gottlieb, 707 Junior terrace, Chicago; Joseph Dolembo, 811½ Wabash street, Michigan City, Ind.; Evelyn Wilde, 1316 Frederick street, Racine, Wis.; Mrs. L. A. Davis, 6241 South Menard avenue, Chicago, and Mary A. Grubb, 716 West North street, Decatur, Ill.

DOCTORS FORM GROUP TO GIVE CARE TO NEEDY

Formation of a nation-wide group of independent physicians to advertise and extend medical facilities for the indigent was announced here yesterday by Dr. Austin A. Hayden, secretary. The organization, to be known as the National Physicians' Committee for the Extension of Medical Service, will have headquarters at 700 North Michigan avenue.

Nearly 25,000 physicians, Dr. Hayden said, are contributing to the committee, which will be separate from the American Medical association but will augment its work among the needy.

He explained that the committee will publicize existing medical agencies, seek to provide medical service for persons in low income groups, keep the public advised as to the methods and progress of American medicine, and aid in providing the most widespread distribution of medical and surgical care while maintaining the system of independent medical practice.

ALMOST ESCAPED BOMBING, POLICE VICTIM REVEALS

Fear of Being Late to Work Blamed for Injury.

Walter E. Gray, River Forest policeman maimed Wednesday night in the explosion of a bomb planted in his car, disclosed yesterday that only the fear of being late to work kept him from discovering the bomb before he stepped on the starter button that set it off.

Chief Carl Soderlin.

Gray was questioned in Oak Park hospital by his chief, Carl Soderlin, and Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's office. He said his car was an old one bought for $35 last summer.

Clutch Pedal Stuck.

"I happened to push the clutch pedal as I got into the car Wednesday night," Gray said. "It wouldn't move. I was going to get out and look under the hood [where the bomb was], but I was afraid I'd be late to work. The car was always balky anyway, so I stepped on the starter."

Gray thought it was nearly midnight, when he was due at the station, a few minutes' drive from his home at 722 Monroe street in the suburb. But it actually was only 11:41 p. m. when the bomb exploded.

Physicians said Gray was suffering greatly from shock as well as from his injuries. His left foot has been amputated.

Tyro Chemist Suspected.

Chief Soderlin was investigating the possibility that the bomb may have been prepared by an amateur chemist seeking vengeance. He was informed a substance similar to nitroglycerin could have been used.

Louis Caponigro, a former convict seized near Gray's home a few hours before the blast, was booked on a charge of disorderly conduct yesterday. He remained vague as to why he was in the neighborhood.

Gray's wife, Helen, and their daughter, Shirley, were still under police guard at the home of relatives.

Girl, 13, Held Justified in Slaying of Father

Wilmington, N. C., April 5 (AP).—Juvenile Judge Thomas A. Henderson today handed down a verdict of justifiable homicide in the trial of Zelda Deloris Morrison, curly haired 13 year old girl, who shot her father, William H. Morrison, 64, wealthy Canadian, last January 21. Zelda said she shot him as he sat in a chair choking her mother, Grace, on her knees before him.

FATHER DEFENDS 'ANGEL FACE' IN SLAYING OF FOUR

Find Hammer Didn't Kill Mother.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 5 (AP).—An autopsy surgeon's finding that Mrs. Lolita Davis, a woman "who believed in the power of demons," bled to death from slashed wrists cast doubt today on 11 year old Chloe's fantastic account of how her mother, two young sisters, and baby brother died.

Chloe, described by a police matron as having "the face of an angel" and by a psychiatrist as "the cruelest-blooded, coolest individual I ever met," had said she beat her 36 year old mother to death with a hammer.

The Child's Story.

She told police in a matter of fact voice her mother had asked her to do it after the mother killed the two little girls and beat the boy into unconsciousness. Chloe said she not only obeyed but also carried out her mother's suggestion to finish killing the boy.

Late today blue-eyed Chloe startled police officials and the psychiatrist with this volunteered statement:

"O, yes, there is something I forgot to tell you yesterday—while mother was begging me to hit her with the hammer she asked me for a razor blade. I got one and gave it to her and watched her slash her wrists."

She had not been shown the autopsy report at the time.

Dr. Frank R. Webb said he found arteries in the mother's arms had been severed and she died from loss of blood. He declared he found no evidence of a skull fracture.

Father Defends Girl.

The husband and father, F. Barton Davis, insistently maintained his belief in the innocence of his only surviving daughter.

"Chloe couldn't have done anything like that," the 51 year old grocery manager cried repeatedly. "If she did, her mother made her do it."

"There are so many things about my wife that people don't understand. She believed she had the power of demons.

"They can't blame this on Chloe, just because she can't remember everything. She loved her mother. She was an obedient child. If she did anything she did it because her mother told her to."

Capt. Edwards had said he was convinced the flippant sixth grade girl fatally beat her mother after mortally wounding her sisters, Daphne, 10, and Deborah Ann, 7, and her brother, Marquis, 3. Chloe was booked on suspicion of murder.

Under California law, a child under 14 found guilty of murder is incarcerated in a correctional institution until he reaches the age of 21, when he would be released.

Mother and Two Sons Die in Blazing House

Burdett, Kas., April 5 (AP).—A mother and her two sons burned to death and a daughter suffered critical burns tonight when fire destroyed their home after a stove explosion. The victims were: Mrs. Thurston Skelton, 39 years old; Cecil, 14, and Donald, 2. Donita, Donald's twin sister, was rescued by a neighbor.

GAMBLERS' DAY IN COURT BRINGS OUT BIG SHOTS

Scurry Around to Federal Arraignments.

Yesterday was gamblers' day in the United States courthouse. Top figures in the racket made their first court appearances for arraignment on income tax evasion and conspiracy indictments. They trooped from courtroom to courtroom, conferring between times in little groups in the corridors.

Government lawyers objected successfully to long continuances and pressed for immediate trials.

Judge John P. Barnes entered not guilty pleas for all when it developed they had no lawyers. He ordered every one to return next week for the setting of a trial date in the conspiracy case, regarded as the most important of all.

Two Leaders Appear.

Main attractions were William R. Johnson, alleged gambling syndicate head, and William R. Skidmore, reputed to be his political go-between. Their retinue was made up of 10 alleged gambling associates and co-defendants, including William Goldstein, Skidmore's lawyer. He faces a contempt citation as a result of his testimony before the grand jury.

Two women were present with the group. They are Miss Bernice Downey, who is named in the conspiracy indictment as aiding Johnson in the evasion of $1,877,664 in income taxes for the years 1936 thru 1939, and Mrs. Reginald Mackay, wife of another defendant in the same indictment.

Mrs. Mackay presented a doctor's certificate to show that her husband is ill and won a continuance of one week for him. Miss Downey wore a smartly tailored brown suit with a white pique collar and a high crowned brown hat. She was a partner in the currency exchange alleged to have served as the syndicate's clearing house.

Skidmore, who is charged in two separate indictments with income tax evasion of $822,484 for the years 1933 thru 1938, made the first court appearance of the morning before Judge Philip L. Sullivan. A little man with a shining bald pate, he had sat waiting his turn with his hands folded complacently across his stomach.

After a brief argument between Attorney Goldstein and E. Riley Campbell, assistant United States attorney, Judge Sullivan granted a continuance until May 9. The court ruled that all preliminary defense motions would have to be filed within 20 days.

Then the crowd moved over to Judge Barnes' courtroom, where Johnson was scheduled for arraignment on a tax evasion indictment to be followed by the mass arraignment on the conspiracy charges.

Line Up Before Bench.

Johnson, whose total evasion is alleged to be $1,877,664—the same figure given in the conspiracy indictment—stood head and shoulders above the others as all ranged before the bench. Skidmore's short figure was almost lost in the throng.

Those beside Skidmore and Johnson who appeared yesterday were Andrew J. Creighton, Jack Sommers, James A. Hartigan, John M. Flanagan, William P. Kelly, and Ed Walt, gambling house operators; Orrie Alexander, syndicate bookkeeper; Stuart S. Brown, co-partner in the currency exchange; Miss Downey, and Attorney Goldstein.

WAR GUILT IN WASHINGTON?

In the papers from the Polish archives published by the Nazis, Ambassador Bullitt appears in the confidential report from Count Potocki, in Washington, to the foreign office in Warsaw, dated Nov. 21, 1938, as saying that the greatest hatred of Germany and Hitler prevailed in this country and that in his view "the United States, France, and Britain must arm up tremendously in order to defy the German power."

To Count Potocki's question regarding American participation in such a war, Mr. Bullitt is represented as saying that America undoubtedly would enter but "only after England and France bestirred themselves first."

At this time in 1938 Germany, whether in good faith or not, was endeavoring to come to a stabilizing agreement with the French. In early December an accord was signed in which the two powers agreed that no question of a territorial character rested in suspense and in which they sought by their pacific relations to maintain the general peace.

At this time, if the record is authentic, a representative of Mr. Roosevelt's diplomatic corps, absent from his post in Paris and engaged in underoover activities in Washington, was informing the Polish government that the United States would back it up if Hitler undertook a "mad expansion." Thus early it would appear the Poles began to get the assurances which were to culminate in the tragedy of the Polish war.

In January, 1939, nine months before the outbreak of war, Count Potocki appears in the documents to have cabled Foreign Minister Beck, in Warsaw, that Mr. Bullitt was returning to Europe and, according to the information given the Polish embassy, he would assure France and Great Britain that Mr. Roosevelt held the "predetermined view" that France and England must put an end to every policy of compromise and that America was ready to place its entire resources at their disposal.

In another document, after Bullitt's return to Paris in February, '39, the Polish ambassador there is revealed as wiring the Warsaw foreign office that Bullitt had told him "should war break out we certainly will not participate in the beginning but we shall finish it." If these repeated assurances were given by Mr. Bullitt it would be difficult, without further revelations, to determine the full extent to which they influenced the British and French governments in offering Poland a guarantee of its territorial integrity, as was done March 31, 1939, the month following our ambassador's return to Paris with the messages Potocki had reported to Warsaw.

We have Mr. Bullitt in Washington, where he could not have been without the consent of Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hull, making statements which Potocki must have assumed were official expressions, and later we find him in Paris repeating, it is alleged, the same assurances to the Polish ambassador there. Neither of these Polish ambassadors would assume that Mr. Bullitt was talking irresponsibly, particularly as what he said was in keeping with the public utterances of his superiors.

Turning from Bullitt in Washington and Paris to Mr. Kennedy in London at the same critical period in the peace of Europe, we find that the Polish commercial attaché, visiting the American ambassador at his invitation, had a long discussion over the developing situation. Mr. Kennedy is represented as saying that the Poles were the only people in eastern Europe on whose armaments reliance could be placed and as saying, further, that money was the most important matter at that moment. Mr. Kennedy, according to the documents, said he would see Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Halifax, the foreign minister, and insist upon the necessity of helping Poland out at once with cash. If that is true, Mr. Kennedy was confirming the impressions Mr. Bullitt was giving the Poles, the French, and the British.

It must be repeated that the authenticity of these documents has not been established. But Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hull have prevented an investigation into the genuineness of the record. Such an inquiry was proposed in both the house of representatives and the senate, by Hamilton Fish and by Senator Reynolds. They were strongly supported by Senator Vandenberg, Senator Clark, and others of both parties who realize the seriousness of the situation. Altho Mr. Bullitt did not get away as quickly as the administration desired, he was ordered to return to his post in Europe immediately and only bad flying weather detained him. The public has from him only the blanket denial which was expected. Mr. Kennedy, in London, refused to comment, but he flew to Paris, presumably to see Mr. Biddle, the ambassador to what remains of the Polish government, situated now in France.

The tactics of Mr. Roosevelt and his associates and the actions of the ambassadors emphasize the gravity of the affair by disclosing the determination of everybody involved to avoid an inquiry by the proper authorities, which are the foreign relations committees of the senate and the house. It may be that the American government was a party to the assurances upon which poor Poland went to its fate.

The Poles, facing the German onslaught, relied upon help never given them. They had the word of the French and the British that they would be supported. The war was undertaken because of that pledge. No aid was given. Maybe it could not have been. But the military conditions were as well understood in March as they were in September. The declaration of war by France and Great Britain did not draw from the Polish front a single division needed for the overrunning of that country. Back of the British and French assurance may have been the assurances of the American government, which may have its share of responsibility for starting this war.

The government at Washington is convicted, at least, of stopping an inquiry which would have answered yes or no to the questions. Mr. Bullitt was where he could have been examined and he could not have concealed whatever truth there may be in the revelations. Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hull would not accept the test.

It is not only the past with its responsibilities which is involved—it is the future. What has been done may point to what is yet to be done. The general denials do not answer the questions and they do not satisfy the mind. Mr. Roosevelt and his diplomats may have made the United States in part responsible for a war with commitments which are yet to be honored or dishonored.

THE BAR ASSOCIATION AND THE MUNICIPAL COURT.

The voters of Chicago have no more important task in the primaries Tuesday than the selection of able and honest nominees for the Municipal court. The scandals within that court are too recent and notorious to need further discussion. Those scandals stem from the deterioration in recent years of the personnel of the court. That deterioration, as we have remarked before, is the direct result of the nomination of ward committeemen's hacks in the primaries. These unfit candidates have ridden into office on party landslides.

Each party is nominating twelve candidates for the six year terms that are expiring. There is little point in discussing the Democratic candidates. The machine slate will win. That there are several sitting judges of good reputation on the slate may be a matter of satisfaction to Democratic voters, but good, bad, and indifferent, the candidates the boys in the back room have offered will have to be accepted.

There is an open race in the Republican primary, and there voters will be wise to guide themselves by the recommendations of the Chicago Bar association. Its committee made a careful investigation of all the candidates, submitted its findings to the members, and then conducted a primary that resulted in the indorsement of seven Republican candidates. There were 55 candidates on the Republican side, and the requirement for indorsement was that a candidate should receive a third of all votes cast. Inasmuch as the Republicans are to nominate twelve full term candidates, the obvious solution is to vote for the seven candidates given formal indorsement and for the five who stood next highest in the primary.

The first six candidates in the bar's Republican primary are former judges, all with fine records on the bench. All of them would still be sitting judges if it were not for the voters' unfortunate habit in recent elections of placing party affiliation above judicial fitness. These ex-judges are Edgar A. Jonas, Theodore F. Ehler, Edward B. Casey, Charles F. McKinley, Samuel Heller, and William E. Helander. Harry N. Pritzker, who received the seventh indorsement, is an able attorney, now engaged in private practice, who had an excellent record some years ago as an assistant state's attorney.

The candidates who ranked eighth to twelfth in the bar primary for Republicans were each commended by the committee which investigated them for their integrity and legal ability. The bar committee termed all of them qualified for judicial office. They are, in the order in which they ranked in the primary: Edward Chayes, former Judge William L. Morgan, Phyllis M. Kelley, Thomas L. Murphy, and Helmer C. Patterson.

If Republican voters choose these twelve candidates favored by the bar association they will go into the election in November with a slate containing no loopholes.

FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL.

A straw vote conducted by THE TRIBUNE has disclosed that of the six condidates for the Republican nomination for attorney general two are well in front, both in Cook county and downstate. They are George F. Barrett and Oscar E. Carlstrom. The other four aspirants appear to be out of the running. Republicans who wish their votes to be effective will bear this situation in mind when they go to the polls on Tuesday.

Mr. Barrett, who leads in the straw vote, is a comparatively young man and has made a vigorous campaign. He has ability, energy, and an attractive personality.

Mr. Carlstrom, of course, is well known to the voters of Illinois. He served two terms as attorney general and has been a strong vote getter. In 1928 he piled up the immense total of 1,700,000 votes.

Either Mr. Barrett, the newcomer, or Mr. Carlstrom, the veteran, would be an acceptable candidate in November. Either of them could be counted upon to strengthen the ticket by bringing to it a strong personality, political sagacity, and an effective platform style.

THE NOBLE SHAD.

[Providence (R. I.) Bulletin.]

Stupid, succulent fish, the shad! Long before George Washington ordered himself some in New York and got good and mad at the price, the American branch of the shad family had been coming north annually to lay eggs and be eaten.

They're on their way now. Some of the bolder spirits have been caught in the Hudson. But the big catch there will come along toward the middle of April. In May they'll be flopping in the nets of the Connecticut river shadders. And about that time we Rhode Islanders will be talking with our mouths full of shad and heaping the multitudinous bones beside our plates.

On to the north they go. But by July they will have fulfilled their destiny as far as we devoted shad eaters are concerned, for then they turn flabby and middle aged.

Amazingly stupid destiny! That is, if we finite-minded shad eaters comprehend the whole scheme, which, at times, some of us doubt!

TAKING WAYS.

"So your wife takes in washing?" the Montgomery county judge asked a man who was up for vagrancy. "What do you do?"

"Well, judge," explained the accused, "I takes in the washin', the old woman does the washin', I takes the washin' back, the old woman collects the money and I talks her out of most of it."

IN MEMORY OF COUSIN SAM.

Deacon Samuel Chapin, first citizen of Agawan, later Springfield, Mass. [1641], who is memorialized in Saint-Gaudens' heroic bronze statue called "The Puritan," happens to have been a remote collateral ancestor of the editor of this column. Whenever we have gone to the Art institute, we have paused in the foyer, where his statue has stood on sentry duty for half a century, to salute him. One glance at that stern and rugged figure would fortify us against any of the softening and seductive influences that the galleries might have to offer.

Cousin Sam is in the institute's storage cellars now, because he was regarded as a gloomy influence upstairs. [And yet there seemed to be fire under the old boy's metal hide.] If he has received a long sentence to the basement, we shall miss him, as a work of art as well as an ancestor. When he is resurrected let him be placed in the open air under the American sky where he sought and found freedom of worship according to the Book he carries, for when we last communed together he seemed to mutter ironically:

"Perhaps I have become too civilized for this place. I've heard a lot of talk around here lately about the too-too wonderfulness of Negro fetiches carved by savage followers of Mumbo-Jumbo on the banks of the Niger."

NEW IN PARADISE.

They propped soft pillows underneath her head
That first sunrise in her old room;
The time was spring with cloud-fleeced skies,
And dandelions by grassy ways in bloom.

Then one for love must braid her loosened hair,
And one swing wide the curtained sash
That she might see the flaming tulips dance
And hear the robin singing in the ash.

They had so many things to tell at once
With chatter blither than the robin's call,
While sunlight trembling in the drinking glass
Sent golden ripples up the chamber wall.

Father and Mother climbed the narrow stair
And stood by her, tongue-tied and shy;
With work-worn hands they stroked her coverlet
And turned aside lest she should see them cry.

She said to those who hovered near her bed,
"Your faces now with love are glorified;
Why do you love and tend me with such joy?"
Her angels smiling said, "You have so lately died."

The Lost Voice of a Great Singer.

Collectors of phonograph records which preserve the voices of great personalities of the dramatic and operatic stage might give some attention to the problem of Will J. Davis Jr., a former Chicagoan. His mother was Jessie Bartlett Davis, famous as an operetta singer. Forty or forty-five years ago she made several recordings for the Berliner Gramaphone company, later absorbed by the Victor company, of "Oh, Promise Me," "Sweet Genevieve," and selections from "The Serenade." For 30 years Mr. Davis has been trying to find one of these records, without success.

Last January he tried the radio as a method of publicizing his search, and received several thousand letters from people who remembered Jessie Bartlett Davis' magnificent contralto voice, but not one of them could supply a clew to a disk. If any record hobbyist wants to give Mr. Davis a hint, his address is Pensacola, Fla., Chamber of Commerce.

ADVICE TO SMALL DAUGHTERS.

Go wash your faces and comb your hair,
And keep your feet off the big armchair,
And count your dolls and learn their ages
And what they earned last year in wages.
Today the taker of the census
Comes with his questions to condense us—
Pigtails, tears, ice cream and laughter,
Catalogued forever after—
Into figures full of weight,
Alas! However accurate,
No decimal on earth expresses
The fun the census never guesses.

AFTER INFLUENZA—WHAT?

DESPITE the relative mildness of the type of influenza which has prevailed thruout the country for the past few months—unless some attention is given to building the resistance back to normal—complications may manifest themselves. We should ever be mindful of the fact that the aftermath of trouble within the air passages [including the bronchi] may later appear as an ear infection. Occasionally the outer portion of the brain will show signs of damage. In fact, we can trace a goodly number of our present day cases of Parkinson's disease [shaking palsy] to the flu of 1918-'19.

But it is not difficult to avoid most of the unwelcome sequels if we will protect well-being a little more assiduously. This may mean an extra hour of bed rest daily in order to avoid fatigue. In many respects we should regard a sense of exhaustion as equal in importance to fever. Sometimes anemia is present, and it may persist unrecognized because we fail to make a blood count or check the hemoglobin [red coloring matter]. These safeguards will return large dividends.

Should one or more of the sinuses become involved, there will come increased secretions and the dripping of pusilke material down the back of the throat. Unfortunately, these bony rooms are attacked easily altho normally the mucous surfaces within are sterile. Their very location, however, renders them vulnerable to invasion. With the lining of the air passages deeply congested and teeming with organisms, we can understand how bad hygiene may force microbes into these spaces. We make the diagnosis of sinus infection from the profuse discharge and its character.

Every patient can do much to help himself. In the first place, he can so order his daily program that no undue strain will be suffered and, second, he can assist drainage—which is nature's path to healing. Conservative methods should be tried first. Too much interference is likely to prolong the illness and push micro-organisms into deeper and less accessible areas. We want to ease distress and make sure that no more germs complicate the picture.

Mild alkalis are serviceable and a full glass of fruit juice once or twice daily is recommended. This may be reinforced with small doses of sodium bicarbonate so as to render the output alkaline. If pain is present, or if the outflow is not free, the patient should be in bed and much comfort may be obtained by hot packs covering the region of the face. Large Turkish towels wrung out of hot water and applied every 10 minutes [care being taken not to burn the skin] will soon produce a copious discharge.

Steam inhalations are always in order. They prevent drying, allay irritation, and—if compound tincture of benzoin is added—smarting will vanish. Should the outlet of a sinus become blocked, a physician can apply drugs to the neighboring tissues, causing them to shrink, thus opening the doorway. Certainly surgical interference is not indicated at this stage because the entire region is acutely irritated and any attempt to break down a bony bulkhead will but add to the existing inflammation.

The body as a whole must not be forgotten and much can be done to speed recovery with a well balanced diet high in vitamins and thru the employment of ultraviolet light. An artificial source [quartz lamp] will enhance the power of the system to combat bacteria.

If—in spite of our efforts—the malady settles down into a chronic state, recourse may then be had to vaccines. This plan is at least worth a trial as—in the experience of many highly trained nose and throat specialists—relief has come in as high as 90 per cent of such cases.

But the time to rid oneself of this affliction is when it is acute and the simple aids suggested may be successful.

THE FEET IN DIABETES.

Mrs. A. C. writes: What can I do for a soft corn between two of my toes? I am a diabetic and am on a diet but do not take insulin. Have no sugar, lead a normal life, and am 54 years of age. I am afraid to do anything for fear of infection.

REPLY.

Do not attempt to treat this condition yourself, as the application of strong chemicals may lead to ulcer formation. Occasionally these lesions will disappear with better fitting shoes or protecting the toes with soft paper tissue. If removal is necessary consult your physician or a skilled chiropodist.

FLUTTERY STOMACH.

Mrs. G. writes: What causes a fluttering sensation in the stomach?

REPLY.

Some irritation of the diaphragm or the nerve which controls its movement. Occasionally the abdominal muscles will twitch or flutter. The cause is usually fatigue and the stomach itself is rarely involved.

TICKLES BABY.

Mrs. V. writes: My husband tickles our baby's feet to make him laugh. Is this harmful?

REPLY.

An excellent way to develop a neurotic youngster. Hubby would squirm were his extremities titillated by a ponderous 30 foot giant.

ALCOHOL IN NEPHRITIS.

C. I. writes: Is it necessary to abstain from alcoholic beverages if one is suffering from nephritis?

REPLY.

Strongly advised.

WHY HE VOTED FOR GARNER.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 3.—How many who in November will vote Republican joined me in voting a preference for Garner yesterday? Who knows? We wanted to put skids under this Roosevelt third term flirtation, if possible, or to register our protest on most of the last seven years, with still nine months of New Dealery to go. Too bad! While he "kept us out of war" thus far, we wish to keep Roosevelt out of another presidential administration, too, because the pattern of his ambassadors in London and Paris [if we are to place credence in the documents found by the Germans in Warsaw] seems much like the Wilson ambassadors to London and Paris back in 1914-'17.

Wisconsin is doubtless predominantly thinking along with Dewey that "erosion of character — wearing away standards of integrity"—is our worst national plight. Republican prosperity and getting men to work have to meet the delinquency and erosion of some millions who have never known the joy of real work.

Is the jump from Wisconsin's primary election to work for the unemployed in private industry too much of a wishful stride? No, not if in November we can remove the hand of government restraining business and normal private initiative, which alone will restore shattered faith in our democratic processes, which recently have been gravitating us into state socialism and toward war and its modern fruits—autocracy.

When the New Deal has been washed up and out there ought to be erected down in your Grant park a monument to the late Prof. Wirt of Gary, who six years ago, after visiting Washington, told of the socialistic trend, and then had to stand for ridicule as the result of being called before a New Deal congressional committee. When it comes to socialism I think most of us would trust the pure Norman Thomas variety more than what came in with the Roosevelt New Deal.

CARL F. KECK.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT.

Maywood, Ill., April 3.—Your correspondent, James S. Walker, says that it took a card from Cairo, Ill. [not Egypt], 24 hours to be delivered in a small town 250 miles away, and he suggests that such local deliveries should be forwarded by truck instead of by railroad.

Perhaps it will interest Mr. Walker that on last July 5 at 11:30 a. m. we received a letter postmarked Bern, Switzerland, July 1, 1:30 p. m. It was delivered via Marseilles, France, by American Clipper, a distance of 6,000 miles, in four and one-quarter days for approximately 86 cents postage.

A neighbor, to whom we praised the speed with which mail reaches its destination, thought that this surely was a record for speedy mail, since it took a letter which she sent with a 3 cent stamp from Maywood, Ill., a whole week to reach a friend of hers in Chicago.

Yes, Mr. Walker, distances do not mean anything nowadays, but what can you expect for a penny? REMDOB.

THE BALANCE SHEET.

Chicago, April 2.—Senator Slattery left the coattails of President Roosevelt long enough to call the people's attention to the recent decision in re the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company. I wonder how many people will be fooled by this great humanitarian Slattery. Seven or eight dollars at the most will be refunded the public for a two year period by the gas company, and $50 a year, at least, is being taken from them thru sales tax on food. DISILLUSIONED DEMOCRAT.

HOW MUCH SALT.

Marcellus, Mich., March 30.—President Roosevelt prescribes three grains of salt to be taken with foreign propaganda. It would be well if at the opening of his next fireside chat he told his audience how much salt would properly season the dish he is about to serve. M. E. M.

FROM AN INDEPENDENT VOTER.

Mattoon, Ill., April 2.—Can you tell me what I dare to do this year as an independent voter? I can't figure it out.

I pride myself that I vote as I please. No bunch of boys in the back room tell me what I must do. I have never voted a straight ticket in 40 years.

But how can I do this again this year? Here, there, and yonder I see and hear the Democratic leaders urging us to support the Roosevelt and Horner programs. How can America endure a few years more of this? How can any thinking voter be coaxed to continue this until America has a real tragedy? These Democrats will force me to vote a straight Republican ticket this year, I fear.

They tell me Roosevelt "does things." He certainly does. He has carried America a long, long distance in the wrong direction in the last eight years. Better have a President who does nothing than one who speeds in the way we do not want to travel. Help us who vote independent. Tell us how we can mix our votes this year without mixing the affairs of America.

Give us one of your great editorials on this subject. W. C. SWENGEL.

THINGS TO INVESTIGATE.

Paw Paw, Ill., April 2.—In order to establish the truth or falsity of the German white paper concerning American war mongers, let the Dies committee use its remaining funds to investigate the goings-on in Washington during the time the king and queen were over here celebrating the 125th anniversary of the burning of Washington, D. C., by the British.

W. C. FABER.

STATE'S ATTORNEY.

Palos Park, Ill., April 2.—Altho a confirmed believer in democratic government there are times that I feel that the ability of the people to govern themselves wisely is subject to doubts. If the preliminary test ballots which show Nelson leading Ditchburne in the polls should be verified in the primary it would seem that either the voters do not desire courageous and impartial enforcement of the law or else lack the insight to see what a fearful fiasco the selection of such a man as Judge Nelson would be for that office. Crowe was bad enough, but Nelson's career indicates that a poorer selection for the office of state's attorney could not be made. He is shifty, an opportunist, with demagogic traits, so poorly esteemed by his fellow members of the bar that he has been condemned openly by them, and a political trimmer who left the Democratic party to consort with one of his own ilk, that master demagog, a former mayor of Chicago. The country districts in the county should see that their votes are cast solidy against him. EVAN L. REED.

TAXES: THEN AND NOW.

Chicago, April 2.—The United States Chamber of Commerce points out that taxes increased thruout the depression. All taxes were 14.7 billions in 1938 against 9.3 billions in 1928, an increase of almost 60 per cent. In relation to national income the tax burden is almost double that of 10 years ago. Taxes per person in 1938 were $113 and income $479 as contrasted with taxes per person in 1928 of $78 and income per person of $633.

Why should Chicago teachers get more than suburban teachers? Do they earn more? OLD SOLDIER.

HOMEMADE WILL.

Ironwood, Mich., April 3 [Legal Friend of the People].—I am a widow with no children of my own, but I have a niece and nephew to whom I shall leave my property. I have made my will without consulting a lawyer. This will is typed by me and has my signature with the signature of two witnesses.

1. It is not stamped by a notary public.
2. In case of my death can the will be broken by my relatives?
3. Is the present will valid?
4. Is it necessary for me to have it stamped by a notary public? A. D.

1. Not necessary.
2. Not as far as the facts stated are concerned, but you have not covered in your letter all of the statutory requirements.
3. See 2.
4. No.

If there are other relatives, who would be heirs in absence of will, but who are disinherited by the will and thus have a motive for contest, this is a reason for employing an attorney to make sure that the job is done right.

While the statute does not require the employment of an attorney, we consider such employment advisable. If you try to economize by dispensing with expert help you are likely to make mistakes which will cost much more than an attorney would have charged to see that the job was done right in the first place. In addition, an attorney might make valuable suggestions as to the wisdom of your testamentary plan.

If, despite the above, you wish to try to handle the matter for yourself, you should obtain a printed form from a stationer and see that it is executed in strict accordance with the attestation clause which precedes the space for signature of witnesses. The services of a notary are not necessary, and it is not safe to assume that a notary will be a competent adviser.

SALE OF LAND.

1. Will I ever be able to sell the lot without his signature?
2. What should I do about it?
3. Would it be better to sell it before I get a divorce or after? V. P.

1. The vigor with which a possible purchaser will insist on your husband's signature will decrease with the lapse of time. Your chances of selling without his signature depend also on the value of the property and other facts that are not before us.
2. See 1.
3. You will find it easier to sell after you get a divorce.

JAS. O'D. BENNETT WILLS LIBRARY FOR ASSOCIATES

7,000 Volumes to Be Kept in Tribune Tower.

The 7,000 volume library of James O'Donnell Bennett, who was known as one of America's most distinguished newspapermen in his long career with THE TRIBUNE, will be available for the use of Tribune staff members in the years to come.

Mr. Bennett died Feb. 27 at the age of 69. His will was filed yesterday with Frank Lyman, clerk of the Probate court. It bequeathed to Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE, as trustee, the library, autographed letters, and prints that Mr. Bennett had collected.

Provides for Scholarships.

The will provided that Col. McCormick maintain and supervise the library for the benefit of employés and members of the staff of THE TRIBUNE. Any funds which may accrue under the trust are to be used to maintain and expand the library, with a portion of the income to be used for scholarships for students of journalism.

A special James O'Donnell Bennett room has been prepared adjacent to the Tribune library in Tribune Tower. Mr. Bennett spent 13 months preceding his death in classifying the library and putting it in order.

The library contains 2,000 books dealing with history. Drama, 18th century literature, and literary biography are also well represented. Mr. Bennett's favorite among all of his books was James Boswell's "Life of Johnson."

$25,000 Value Set.

The will of five typewritten pages was filed by Attorney W. A. Keplinger of Kirkland, Fleming, Green, Martin & Ellis. A petition accompanying it estimated the value of the estate at $25,000.

All of Mr. Bennett's personal belongings and the residue of the estate were left to his widow, Mrs. Susan Hayward Bennett. She was named executor. The will was drawn Oct. 10, 1938, and listed Mr. Bennett's library at that time as more than 5,000 volumes.

Mrs. Bennett appeared to give proof of heirship yesterday afternoon before John F. Keeley, assistant to the probate judge.

GRAIN FIRM SUED OVER ELEVATOR FIRE KILLING NINE

A suit charging that negligence of Rosenbaum Bros., grain elevator operators, was responsible for the $4,000,000 elevator fire which cost nine lives last May 11 was filed in Circuit court yesterday.

The plaintiff is the Chicago Board of Trade, which asks the grain firm be held liable for compensation awards of $4,800 due the family of Ernest H. Lindgren, 8008 Avalon avenue, a Board of Trade grain weigher killed in the fire.

A dust explosion was held to be the cause of the fire. The suit charges the company was negligent in allowing grain dust to accumulate and also failed to provide proper fire prevention equipment. The fire destroyed three Rosenbaum elevators and two owned by the Norris Grain company at 102d street and the Calumet river.

CHICAGO SEEKING TO PUT IN RELIEF STAMP SYSTEM

Mayor Tells Workers' Alliance of Plan.

Mayor Kelly told a delegations from the Illinois Workers' alliance yesterday that the city administration is making efforts to have Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace put the stamp plan of distributing surplus foodstuffs into operation here.

"While we have no definite assurance when this will be done," the mayor said, "conferences for making the arrangements have been scheduled. Our relief officials are in touch with Washington and everything possible is being done to hasten the distribution of more foodstuffs."

Clients Would Buy Stamps.

Under the plan a relief client would take the cash given to him for food and purchase for $1 a set of stamps good for $1.50 in trade in all coöperating grocery stores. The Federal Surplus Commodities comporation would provide the stamps.

With the first $1 the client could purchase any foods he wanted. The other 50 cents, in stamps of a different color, would ha veto be used to buy foodstuffs designated as surplus products—butter, eggs, lard, and certain fruits.

Mayor Kelly said the success of the plan required coöperation of banks and business houses and that the city would have to prove to federal officials that the groups would support the program.

Added Funds Needed.

He also said that congress would have to pass favorably on the surplus commodities corporation request for additional funds with which to provide buying power [the extra 50 cents] to relief clients.

The stamp plan has been tried in many smaller cities, including Springfield and Peoria. Administrative difficulties in large cities, it has been reported, have caused delay in establishing the plan.

Leo M. Lyons, Chicago relief director, said the plan is in the formative stage here, but that he is discussing details with Milo Perkins, administrator of the plan for the surplus commodities corporation.

DEMAND ACTION BY COUNCIL ON ISLAND AIRPORT

Aldermen Dig Up Plan 1½ Years Old.

Recommendation of the Chicago aero commission urging construction of a downtown island airport was dug from the city council files yesterday with a view to seeking prompt action.

A subcommittee of the council's aviation and recreation committee recommended that the report be approved by the council and sent to United States Senators Scott Lucas and James M. Slattery with the request that they submit it to the war department and the Civil Aeronautics authority for consideration. The report was adopted by the aero commission a year and a half ago.

Defense Value Stressed.

"The report stresses the importance of an island airport for national defense," said Ald. Roger J. Kiley [37th], chairman of the subcommittee. "For that reason we believe the war department should renew its efforts to establish the airport at this time.

"During the last few months national defense has received added consideration from the government, and there is talk of moving centers of activities toward the center of the country. A downtown airport for Chicago should be considered without delay."

Kiley said that since the aero commission report was made the CAA has developed new plans for an island airport which also should be reviewed by the senators in making their recommendations to the war department.

Action Expected Next Week.

"The government is taking additional interest in training youths for aviation, and as a center of the airways, Chicago needs both the present city airport and a large island airport unobstructed by surrounding buildings," he declared.

Kiley said he expects the council aviation committee to consider the recommendation early next week.

GARBAGE TRUCK PLANS STUDIED BY COUNCIL BODY

Truck and trailer manufacturers appeared yesterday before a city council subcommittee to discuss the recommendation of Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, that the city buy 100 enclosed garbage trucks. The subcommittee, headed by Ald. Roger J. Kiley [37th], took the matter under advisement.

Hewitt suggests the city ask for bids on specifications similar to those of a New York type truck recently tried out here. The truck was designed by the New York department of sanitation.

Hewitt is to supply the subcommittee with additional statistics in answer to charges made by the trailer manufacturers that the enclosed truck is too costly to operate.

APPROVE $100,000 TO AVOID LAYOFF OF 9,300 ON WPA

The Illinois Emergency Relief commission authorized the Chicago Relief administration yesterday to advance $100,000 to the Works Progress administration to prevent the layoff this month of approximately 9,300 workers on WPA projects sponsored by the city of Chicago. Leo M. Lyons, IERC executive secretary, said the authorization was given after Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, said the city will contribute $250,000 from motor fuel tax receipts. The WPA agreed not to discharge any of the 44,000 workers on city sponsored projects if the money is provided.

Joseph Kelly, 51 years old, a miner from West Frankfort in Franklin county, died late last night in the Ingalls Memorial hospital in Harvey of injuries suffered early in the day in a collision at 159th street and Western avenue, Thornton township. He was riding in a car driven by his brother-in-law, Eugene Rice, 44, also of West Frankfort, when the car crashed into a gasoline truck driven by Mitchell Van Der Aa, 167th street and Torrence avenue, on the outskirts of South Holland. Neither Rice nor Van Der Aa was injured.

Anthony Schipiour, 44 years old, 3442 South Justine street, a WPA worker, was killed last night by an automobile in Ashland avenue near 34th street. The driver was Irving Lakin, 3226 Cortez street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 236 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 181 were killed in Chicago, where 5,271 were injured in the same period.

J. JAY O'BRIEN, BROADWAY 'KING OF HEARTS,' DIES

Palm Beach, Fla., April 5 (AP).—J. Jay O'Brien, 54 years old, thrice married New York broker, once known in Broadway theatrical circles as "the king of hearts," died at his home today after a heart attack.

The handsome clubman and former polo player had spent much of his time in Palm Beach recently, but still was active in business.

At his bedside was his third wife, the former Mrs. Julius Fleischmann, who obtained a Paris divorce from the late "yeast king" in 1924. It was reported then that she received a settlement of $5,000,000.

UNIONISTS LOSE IN SUIT TO VOID WAGE KICKBACK

Pacts with Company Upheld by Court.

A decision was handed down in Circuit court yesterday upholding a kickback arrangement by which employés of a decorating company were paid at a union scale of $8 a day, then returned $2 or $3 of the amount to the company.

The suit was brought by Arthur W. Anderson and 11 other members of Painters' District council, No. 14, of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Paperhangers of America. They sought to recover $7,500 in rebated wages from the Crystal Decorating company, 5438 Broadway, which is headed by J. S. James. The union is an American Federation of Labor affiliate.

Allows Directed Verdict.

Testimony was heard last Dec. 10-18 by a jury and Judge Robert A. Meier Jr. of Chicago Heights, sitting in Circuit court. Before the jury retired Attorney Edwin Halligan moved for a directed verdict in favor of the company. Decision on the motion was reserved.

At 9 p. m. on Dec. 18 Judge Meier dismissed the jury when it was found to be deadlocked after 4½ hours. Acting as provided under the civil practice act, he then took the motion for a directed verdict under advisement. Yesterday he ruled it should be allowed and judgment entered in favor of the company.

Anderson withdrew as a plaintiff before hearings were begun, and the case was carried on in behalf of the other painters and decorators.

Contract Violation Charged.

The plaintiffs charged that as a condition of employment they were forced to agre to rebates of $2 a day, and in two cases $3 a day. This, they said, reduced the wage scale and violated the contract between the company and the union.

Counsel for the company contended the painters and decorators were employed, not under the blanket union contract, but under individual agreements in which the employés waived rights to the benefits of the union contracts.

"It is apparent that all of the plaintiffs participated in the deception employed by the defendant to make it appear the wage scale was being observed," said Judge Meier in his opinion. "It would appear that the plaintiffs thus waived the provisions of the craft contract made for their benefit."

BLOCKADE ALONE CAN'T WIN WAR, FRENCH WARNED

Press Holds That Battles Are Needed, Too.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 5.—The question of whether an economic blockade can bring Germany to its knees and decide the war is raised in the French press today despite the declaration of Neville Chamberlain, British prime minister, that the empires have gained a big advantage during the last seven months thru the absence of severe military warfare.

Some French critics seem to think a blockade cannot be relied on to end Fuehrer Adolf Hitler and that the war eventually will have to be won on the battlefield. They point out that the issue probably will be decided only by a combination of the blockade and combat.

Situation Called Dangerous.

Today's newspaper L'Ordre declares it is dangerous to make the public think the blockade can be counted on to gain victory without big battles. Such a conception, says L'Ordre, will only allow the empire countries to sleep and later surprise the public morale when big scale operations begin.

L'Ordre also warns against the idea, said to be too liberally accepted in France and England, that time is working on the side of the empires, for, it says, the enemies of France and England also are amply employing this delay. L'Ordre continues:

"Naturally, the Franco-British naval position permits the two countries to keep a close watch. They alone could keep such surveillance on all the seas, but it must be remembered that a blockade, however tight, is never completely impermeable. There are always navigators who will try to break a blockade, either thru the inducement of profits or sheer adventure.

Two Routes Aid Germany.

"Furthermore, there always will be sectors which for one reason or another escape all vigilance by watching ships. For instance, there are two important sectors where the Franco-British control cannot be exercised, the Baltic and the Black sea, and these are precisely the routes over which iron and oil reach Germany.

"Finally, it is an all too current mistake to consider Germany, even tho well bottled up on the seas, as a besieged fortress."

The writer concludes that Germany is too large and has too many adjacent neighbors to be brought down by a blockade, particularly as stocks have been stored for years. He considers that only after big military offensives have forced the reich to exhaust material and munitions which cannot be replaced that the blockade will have any direct effect.

ENGLAND, FRANCE MOVE TO TIGHTEN RING ABOUT NAZIS

Blockade Leaders Meet in London Parley.

LONDON, April 5 (AP).—Great Britain and France made new moves today to tighten their economic blockade of Germany and to weld their own economic, political, and cultural relations.

Georges Monnet, French minister of blockade, flew to London and plunged immediately into a prolonged conference with Britain's economic warfare minister, Ronald Cross.

These men, who direct the Anglo-French drive to throttle German economy and drain the life blood from the reich's war machine, turned attention on the Balkans, main source and storehouse of German supplies. British envoys to southeastern capitals, meantime, are hurrying home to contribute first hand information toward the campaign to choke Germany's trade thru her back door.

Urge a Joint Parliament.

Monnet said tonight: "We are very satisfied with the result of the measures taken up to the present and the allies are going to take new measures to choke Germany more and more."

The blockade, he added, is creating unemployment in German heavy industries because of the lack of essential materials. This shortage, he declared, included such necessities as steel, copper, and other materials. The reich likewise is shy on gasoline, leather, and textiles, the French minister asserted.

The British press echoed suggestions that Britain and France form a joint parliament to consolidate their coöperation both during and after the war.

Ironside Taunts Hitler.

The board of trade said the two countries had established increased facilities for importing each other's products.

The game of taunting Chancellor Hitler over his failure to launch a lightning blow at the outset of hostilities, highlighted by Prime Minister Chamberlain in a speech yesterday, was picked up today by Gen. Sir Edmund Ironside, chief of the imperial general staff.

He repeated Chamberlain's "Hitler missed the bus" statement and added: "Thank goodness we were not attacked during the first seven months."

He said Britain now was ready for anything Germany started.

ANCIENT LOST CARGO OF GOLD AND GEMS IN SEINE MAY BE RAISED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 5.—An old treasure ship, the Telemaque, loaded with gold and silver bullion and jewels, which foundered at Quilleboeuf in the Seine river in 1790, may be salvaged. It was disclosed today divers had investigated whether chains placed around the ship were secure. The right to salvage the Telemaque was sold by option last year, but the state will keep 80 per cent of all treasures recovered. Among the sunken treasures is believed to be a collection of royal jewels, former property of King Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette, who were beheaded during the French revolution.

Arrow shows where treasure ship sank.

The Telemaque was en route to England to save the royal jewels when it sank.

GERMANY SHOWS ITS CONQUEST OF POLES IN A MOVIE

Diplomats See How Air Force Worked.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 5.—Germany tonight showed how it conquered Poland last September in an hour and 45 minute motion picture called "Baptism of Fire."

The film, ordered made by Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, was accompanied by a vocal commentary which placed blame for the war on Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain.

"What do you say now, Mr. Chamberlain? All this is your work," the commentator said as the ruins of Warsaw and other Polish cities were shown on the screen.

Diplomats Attend.

Other utterances condemning Chamberlain were:

"You betrayed Poland and the curses of this country will be upon you."

"Just as our air force hit here [Warsaw] it will know where to find the guiltiest of the guilty."

The audience consisted of diplomats stationed in Berlin, members of the Nazi hierarchy, excepting Fuehrer Hitler, newspaper reporters, and a few selected German civilians.

The film placed most emphasis on the part which the air force played in conquering the Poles and included a brief appearance by Goering in which he suggested that what German planes had accomplished against Poland they could, and would, accomplish against France and Britain.

Shows Skill of Flyers.

The movie exhibited the skill of German airmen, altho it showed they encountered no opposition whatever from Polish aircraft or antiaircraft batteries. One scene showed a fast attack plane making a smooth landing without wheels.

The film also provided an idea of the tremendous amount of high class equipment, never used by the Poles, which the Germans captured.

EUROPE TO FACE NEW WAR MOVES SOON, NAZIS SAY

BERLIN, April 5.—As a result of a conference this afternoon called by Propaganda Minister Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels and attended by leading German editors, tomorrow morning's newspapers emphasize that Europe is about to experience a "new phase of war," and that the fateful hour for neutrals is about to strike.

The reshuffling of the British cabinet, in which Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, occupies the leading position, is interpreted here as an indication that Great Britain is determined "to attain success at whatever cost."

Germany, it is indicated, is ready and waiting, and official quarters assert that Britain is about to proceed in earnest to extend the battlefields beyond the deadlock on the western front. In Norway, it is claimed, French and British agents have been scouting for landing places for troops, while in the Balkans the British are held to be launching an economic attack in an effort to deprive Germany of supplies.

STABS PRESIDENT OF OBJECTORS' COURT IN BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 5.—Judge Edwin Cooper Burgis, president of the Northwest England conscientious objectors' court, was stabbed in the back and neck and seriously wounded tonight on a crowded platform of the Manchester railroad depot. The attack occurred as the judge was about to board a train shortly after hearing objectors' pleas against conscription.

Altho several men rushed to Burgis' aid, his assailant escaped. Manchester police, however, announced later that a young man had surrendered and would be charged with attempting to murder the judge.

EMPIRES WARN SCANDINAVIA ON MOVE BY RUSSIA

LONDON, April 5.—Any further attempt Russia may make on Finland or Finnish ports would be regarded by England and France as prejudicial to their war effort, and therefore might have to be met by action. This statement was contained in identical communications handed tonight by Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax to Erik A. Colban and Bjorn G. Prytz, the Norwegian and Swedish ambassadors. The statement is said to have three implications:

1. It lays the basis for a virtual offer of alliance with the Scandinavian nations should Russia attempt to finish its victory over Finland by destroying that country's freedom.
2. It informs Norway and Sweden the empires could not remain indifferent to such an attempt.
3. The communications, it is believed, are virtually marked "copies to Moscow."

RUSSIANS CROSS INTO MANCHUKUO; SET FIRE TO TOWN, JAPS REPORT

TOKIO, April 5 (AP).—Domei, Japanese news agency, reported today that regular Russian troops had crossed the Manchukuo border near Suifenho and set fire to a small village on Wednesday. It said both sides rushed reënforcements, but that the Russians withdrew before the Japanese arrived. There was no fighting.

Japs Bomb Pingma.

CANTON, China, April 5 (AP).—Japanese naval headquarters announced today their planes had bombed Pingma, destroying military warehouses and a fleet of junks.

Pingma is on the inland highway thru Kweichow province developed by the Chinese as an economic lifeline after the loss of the Kwangsi road last fall.

FRENCH BLAME ARTIST FOR "NEW EUROPE" MAP

PARIS, April 5 (AP).—French officials today blamed a magazine retoucher for appearance of new-drawn frontiers on a European map in a photograph of Premier Paul Reynaud and Sumner Welles, American Undersecretary of state, which appeared in a French magazine.

Germans contended the map showed a "whittled-down" Germany as part of the British and French war program. The French said the original map in Reynaud's office was of pre-Munich vintage and did not bear the marks appearing in the photograph. A foreign office spokesman said the retoucher drew the frontiers without consulting an atlas.

Germany Will Issue Zinc Coins; Needs Copper in War

BERLIN, April 5.—The Reichsbank today announced it shortly will issue new zinc coins to replace the present one, five and ten pfennig pieces. The one and two pfennig pieces now in circulating are made of copper, while the five and ten pfennig pieces are made of aluminum and bronze alloy. The measure, it was said, is intended to swell the German's supply of these "war important" metals, which are being collected in a nation-wide drive. The present coins are to be withdrawn from circulation gradually.

FRENCH REPULSE RAIDERS; SEIZE PATROL'S CHIEF

PARIS, April 5 (AP).—The German officer commanding a sharp raid against a French outpost was captured today, the French high command reported, as the defenders threw back the assault. The fight was reported to have resulted from an attack by reinforced German patrols on French outposts between the Nied and Saar rivers.

These lively clashes between scouting parties continued into the second successive day while at many points German and French artillery dueled.

[About 15 French soldiers were killed by German shock troops in a raid near Saarlauten, between the Nied and the Saar, the German high command reported.]

French dispatches also reported the "fairly heavy" shelling by the Germans of the French town of Apach near the Luxemburg frontier on the Moselle river.

FRENCH SEIZE 14 MEN, 5 WOMEN AS RED AGENTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 5.—Fourteen men and five women were arrested today by French police on charges of printing and distributing communist propaganda. Their mobile printing plant and hundreds of documents were seized when police made raids in the working class suburbs north of Paris. The arrested communists have been turned over to military authorities to be tried by a military tribunal. They may face the death penalty under a new decree law being considered by the government which provides death for communist propagandists.

According to police, this communist group operated a clandestine and illegal propaganda bureau, the primary aim of which was to preach defeatism and stir up discontent among workers.

At Versailles today a worker was sentenced to three years in prison for voicing "anti-national proposals."

Buttons Shed OldUtilityRole, Now Real Art

BY REA SEEGER.

Buying buttons these days is not only a diversion but a major shopping problem. For buttons are no longer the two or four hole units just for holding apparel on the figure lines in a smooth outline. Buttons provide decoration, provoke admiring comment and add immeasurably to the eye appeal of the costume.

Flower buttons are the newest arrivals, pansies, valley lillies, pastel tinted hyacinths, daisies and roses. Most of them can be matched with chest clips or pins for the lapel and with belt buckles. They're made of a smooth lightweight composition stuff and show the exact delicate colors of real buds, blossoms and foliage.

For the vegetarian fanatic, for the fruit fiend, there are new and giddy buttons to proclaim their individual obsession: Lemons, tomatoes, oranges, string beans, peas, corn on the cob, bananas in clubby bunches of two or three or the large single unit. These are marvelously realistic even in the extremely small separate buttons, more so in the effective clips and belt pins or buckles of larger size. Vegetable buttons are particularly appropriate for summer cottons and linens . . . for suits, one piece coat dresses and sheers. They also highlight summer sheers in all dark street shades.

All the white buttons are in, ready for the first rush of early shoppers. Sugar white composition, very light in weight, is used for intricate loops, bow knots, and other fanciful formations, as well as plenty of the smart ball buttons, the square and oblong decorative buttons.

Leather and wooden buttons for tweeds and thin wool, carved beauties that mark the smartest of country clothes, are on display in shades that range from pale beige to deep dark mahogany red. It's button week for spring and summer wardrobes.

Five Notable Weddings Are on List Today

Spring weddings continue to fill the social calendar and today no less than five interesting ones are taking place in or near Chicago.

When Miss Anne MacDonald becomes the bride of Dr. Ian Hodge this afternoon she will wear an antique lace veil that is an heirloom in her mother's family. It has been worn by several other brides of this generation, including Miss MacDonald's sisters, Mrs. Laurence F. Killaly of Toronto and Mrs. Hugh F. Waddell of Peterboro, Can., and their cousins, Mrs. Barrett Scudder and Mrs. George A. Poole Jr.

The service will be read at 4:30 o'clock in the chapel of the Congregational church in Winnetka by the pastor, the Rev. Samuel Harkness.

Dr. Hodge's uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Lee, and their daughter, Miss Jane, have come from Philadelphia for the wedding and so has a college friend of the bride's, Mrs. Whipple Kelly of Toronto. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Robert Stuart, will not return from Pinehurst for aonther month, so she will not be in the large family group that will assemble in the chapel this afternoon. The John Stuart and Douglas Stuart families have returned from their southern holidays, however, so will be at the ceremony and reception.

A small wedding that is taking place in town tonight is that of Miss Eleanor Wetten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hayes Wetten, and James Sutton Pennington Jr., whose parents live in Los Angeles. The service will be read at 8 o'clock by the Rev. Duncan H. Browne of St. James' church in the apartment of the bride's parents at 209 Lake Shore drive.

Miss Elizabeth Newland of Philadelphia, Miss Wetten's roommate at Wellesley college, is to be the maid of honor, and Mrs. T. Lloyd Kelly will be her sister's matron of honor. The bridesmaids will be the Misses Myrtle and Lillian Lampert, Miss Jeanne Miles, Mrs. Henry Gaillard of Cleveland, Miss Julia Drake and Mrs. Edward Hall Taylor. Preston Peters of Greenwich, Conn., and Lyman McBride of Chicago will usher, and Edward Brandriff of Highland Park will be the best man.

Miss Susan Vilas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Logan A. Vilas of Evanston, will become the bride of Lowry Kennedy Grulee Jr. at 8:30 o'clock this evening. The services will be read by the Rev. Gerald Moore in St. Luke's procathedral in Evanston, and will be followed by a reception at the Glen View club.

The bride will have her sister, Mrs. Ward Vilas of Miami, as matron of honor, and the bridegroom's sister, Louise, as junior bridesmaid. Another of his sisters, Mrs. Thomas C. White, will be bridesmaid with Mrs. Hunter Lyon of Miami, Mrs. Thomas Morgan, and Miss Suzette Crawford.

Arthur Croxson of Barrington will be best man for Mr. Grulee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grulee of Evanston. Ushering will be Burges Green of Providence, R. I.; Thomas Gillis of Detroit, Mr. White, and Allen and Bill Symonds of Evanston.

A gold ring set with a pearl and diamonds will be the "something old" which Miss Jane Dawson Hoover will wear for her marriage this evening to Oliver Morgan Babcock. The ring, which belonged to Mr. Babcock's grandmother, was his wedding gift to his bride.

The Rev. W. Emory Luccock will read the services at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray P. Hoover of Evanston. The marriage and reception will be attended only by members of the families and close friends.

Miss Hoover will have her sister, Mrs. Carl B. Davis Jr., as matron of honor, and another sister, Miss Lorayne Hoover, as maid of honor. Their cousin, Carolyn Riggs, will be flower girl.

Robert Babcock will be his brother's best man, and William Babcock, another brother, will be one of the ushers. The other ushers will be Frank Hoover and Dr. Davis.

The wedding dress which was worn by her two sisters within the last two years also will be worn by Miss Bettie-Jean Seymour when she becomes the bride of H. William Melum this evening. The ceremony will be performed at 8:30 o'clock by the Rev. Albert Buckner Coe in the First Congregational church in Oak Park, and will be followed by a reception at the Oak Park Country club.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Seymour of Oak Park, will have her sisters, Mrs. Arthur I. Appleton of Northbrook and Mrs. Donald H. Koehler of Oak Park, as twin matrons of honor. The bridesmaids will be Mrs. Philip Icke of River Forest, Miss Ann Heneage of Oak Park, Miss Suzanne Morency of Hinsdale, and Miss Suzanne Calloway of Kansas City, Mo.

Jerald Melum will be best man for his brother. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Helmer Melum of River Forest. The bride's brother, Fred Jr., will usher, and her 5 year old brother, Billy, will serve as ring bearer. Also ushering will be James Byers III. of Titusville, Pa.; Cribben Wilkenson of Oak Park, Mr. Koehler, Mr. Appleton, and Mallen Morency of Hinsdale.

Lingerie for Sheer Blouses

WOMAN'S AND MISS' LINGERIE.

This season of sheer and feminine blouses makes a special demand of lingerie to be worn under it. The slips one wears under revealing bodices must be dainty, impeccably smart and well groomed, and pretty as well. The two pattern offerings today solve this situation beautifully, in that they are trimmed with lace and ribbon beading and give ample coverage of figure contours. When spring breezes give your hemlines a twist you'll want the bottoms of your slips and petticoats to be attractive, too, so these patterns decorate the hemlines with lace.

Style No. 3158 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 2⅝ yards of 39 inch material, with 2¼ yards of lace for bodice top, 1½ yards of lace for hem.

Style No. 2827 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 2½ yards of 39 inch material for slip, with 1¾ yards of lace for hem and 2½ yards of insertion for straps and camisole top; 2 yards of 39 inch material with 1¾ yards of lace for petticoat.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

PHILADELPHIA COOKBOOK: Here's an interesting volume, "the result of a long and conscientious attempt to capture the spirit and essence of the best in Philadelphia cooking from the time of Penn down to and including the present."

There are menus and historical recipes, the book is attractively organized, and the recipes are specific. Author, Anna Wetherill Reed; publisher, M. Barrows & Co., price, $2.50 at your bookstore.

SNACKS: Roll grated cheese into pie pastry, cut into squares three inches across and place a dab of jam or preserves in the center of each square. Fold diagonally, crimp the edges together with fork tines, prick the top of each tidbit, and bake in a hot oven. Um-mm!

Mix two parts cream cheese and one part Roquefort. Add a few drops of lemon juice and enough cream to make the mixture spready. Spread on crisp cocktail crackers and sprinkle with finely chopped parsley or chives. There's almost no limit to the number of these tidbits you can eat!

WHAT ARE BOYSENBERRIES? Maybe you had a juicy boysenberry pie the other day at your favorite restaurant and got to wondering about whether or not these berries are a new fruit. They are, for California and the Pacific northwest have been producing them only recently. They've been developed by crossing a number of varieties of berry to produce one that's plump, juicy and virtually seedless as well as flavorful. Some chefs think boysenberries are perfection for pies.

WHAT IS YOGURT? Perhaps your milkman has left you a little leaflet describing this "new" milk food. It is new only in this country, for it was known to the Egyptians when the Pyramids were built, and has been eaten in Europe for centuries. It is a cultured milk food with a buttermilklike flavor and a creamy consistency. It may be served plain or sweetened with sugar, sirup or crushed fruits. It is used as salad dressing, sometimes in milk shakes and other soda fountain preparations. Physicians call it healthful and relatively nonfattening.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

For the good of your sole—and your heels and toes too—try scrubbing your feet with a foot brush. There's a new long handled one that looks like the answer to scrubbing the feet even while reclining in the tub. That isn't the reason for the brush, but it has its points. By simply wielding one hand, you can reach out and leisurely scrub every part of your foot. The brush itself is shaped like a shallow scoop, and is curved to fit the arch of the foot, the instep, and the front and back of the ankles. Every little line and crevice in the skin will get a thoro scrubbing and massaging and the stimulation of the circulation will aid the general foot health.

Get the habit of massaging your feet with a foot cream that feels cool against the skin. Do this at least a couple of times a week. Starting at the toes, work in the cream with an upward rotary motion, over the instep and ankle, and up the calf of the leg. Massage across the ball of the foot with the finger tips. Work on the sole of the foot, bending it from side to side with both hands. Wiggle your toes, moving them up and down and stretch them forward and downward from the ankle. Then remove any traces of the cream with a bracing foot lotion.

Your foot muscles will be relaxed, your spirits soothed and you'll go forth with a new spring in your step.

FLORENCE MURDOCH.

Walker Everett, South Bend Girl to Be Married

BY JUDITH CASS.

IN South Bend, Ind., this evening there will be a dinner party to announce an engagement of interest in Chicago because the young man used to live here, altho he now calls South Bend home. Mr. and Mrs. Galitzin A. Farabaugh are giving a small dinner at their home in the Indiana city to make known that their daughter, Mimi, is engaged to Walker Griffiths Everett, son of Mrs. John C. Everett of Chicago and Holland, Mich.

Miss Farabaugh attended St. Mary's college in Notre Dame, Ind., and spent a year at the Villa des Fougeres in Switzerland. Mr. Everett, who is in the advertising business, is well known as an artist and has had several exhibitions of water colors in Chicago. He was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1926 and then traveled abroad for some time before returning to Chicago, where he was one of the popular young bachelors on the near north side before moving to South Bend.

Mr. Everett's mother and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Quincy White of State parkway, are going to South Bend for the party tonight. Mr. Everett has another sister, Mrs. Virgil Edwin Tobin, who has been living in Rio de Janeiro since her marriage two years ago. She and Mr. Tobin are on their way back to this country, however, and probably will reside here henceforth.

College Glee Club Music Will Fill Air at Drake.

It will be difficult to get away from college glee club music in the Drake tonight for the Dartmouth Glee club and the University of Michigan Men's Glee club will be giving concerts there. Not that any one would want to get away from glee club music nowadays, for glee clubs have improved greatly since the days of "Sweet Adeline" and their programs often may be classed as classical.

The Dartmouth singers will be holding forth in the Gold Coast room for the benefit of the scholarship fund of the Dartmouth Alumni association of Chicago. The program will start at 8:45 and at the close there will be a dance. The Dartmouth club is the oldest college glee club in the country, having been founded in 1808. Today it has a national reputation—for it has won three times the intercollegiate contest held annually in Carnegie hall in New York.

Among those who will entertain at dinner and then take their guests to the Dartmouth party are Mr. and Mrs. William B. DeRiemer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Embree, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Adams, Mr. and Mrs. J. William Embree, and Mr. and Mrs. Neil Williams.

Dancing will follow the Michigan men's concert, too. They will not start singing until 9 o'clock, giving dinner parties a chance to linger longer over coffee and liqueurs.

Charles H. Schweppe Greets His First Grandchild.

The daughter born Thursday night at St. Luke's hospital to Mr. and Mrs. A. Watson Armour III., is the first grandchild of Charles H. Schweppe. Young Mrs. Armour is the former Jean Schweppe. She and the son of the junior A. Watson Armours were married four years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Armour Jr. are not at home to welcome their third grandchild for they still are enjoying a vacation at Boca Grande, Fla. Their daughter, Mrs. W. Irving Osborne, and Mr. Osborne have two cunning little girls. The Armours' younger son, Charles, is with them in Florida.

The first visitors the newest member of the large Armour clan and the smaller Shedd family had were her maternal grandfather, who is president of the board of St. Luke's, and her uncle, John Shedd Schweppe, who is studying medicine at Northwestern university. The baby is the second great-grandchild of Mrs. John G. Shedd.

Mr. and Mrs. Rawleigh Warner are giving a noon breakfast at their home in Winnetka tomorrow, preceding a benefit concert for the Chicago League for the Hard of Hearing. The concert will be given in the Studebaker theater by Maria Hussa, soprano, and Leo Podolsky, pianist.

These four pretty Chicago girls were chosen to be maids of honor to the Queen of the Fiesta at the annual Fiesta del Sol held recently in Phoenix, Ariz. They are, left to right, Miss Priscilla Payne, Miss Mary Louise Corley, Miss Jane Conrad, and Miss Shirley-Ann Johnson. Miss Johnson and her parents, the Walter H. Johnsons, are wintering at the Jokake inn; the other three and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Corley, and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas J. Conrad, are guests at the Camelback inn.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Gretchen.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 5.—As you hop-skotch thru the country a movie columnist has all manner of questions about Hollywood and its people fired at him, and one persistent question always is a demand for information about Loretta Young. . . . "Is she as gorgeous off the screen as on the screen?" . . . "Actually is she as grand a girl as she appears to be?" . . . In other words, the fans in every city want to know all about her, and that is the surest tipoff as to her popularity. . . . It is the surest tipoff, too, that it is high time I did a column about her and answered some of the questions that clamor for answering.

Loretta Young is known under that tag only in the movies. . . . Her mother and sisters call her "Gretchen." . . . It's a happy tag for the lovely Salt Lake City person, because she looks like a Gretchen. . . . I have never met a person whose sympathy is attracted so unerringly to the underdog; it's as natural for her to rush to the dressing room of the loser as it is natural and habitual for the rest of us to crowd into the dressing room of a winner. . . . Habitually, she'll be found going with chaps who excited her sympathy. . . . In other words, Loretta has a fund of loyalty that never seems overdrawn despite the withdrawals entered against it. . . . As a champion of lost causes, she has no peer in the Hollywood realm.

Her favorite dish is chili and beans. . . . Next to that, in order of preference would come cracked crab, weiners and sauerkraut, and black-eyed beans, and hot water cornbread [say, if you can eat that stuff and get that beautiful, I think I'll try it]. . . . Her favorite cities are Los Angeles, Rome, Italy, and Biloxi, Miss. . . . The first song she recalls: "Mighty Lak a Rose." . . . She remembers her mother humming it in the parlor of their house back in Utah. . . . The songs she most prefers now: "Wrap Your Troubles in Dreams" and "The Angels Sing." . . . Novelist whose books she most enjoys, Stefan Zweig.

Her No. 1 regret: That she hasn't got Myrna Loy's freckles; no fooling. . . . In friends, the qualities she most prefers are humor, sincerity, and loyalty. . . . With humor ranking first. . . . The thing she first notices about a man; his eyebrows. [It's borne out by the fellows she has preferred. All of them have bushy eyebrows.] . . . The thing that most annoys her in any man—those who think it is clever to be discourteous. . . . The thing she most dislikes in women—the habit of some girls of wetting the end of a cigaret before lighting it, and second, the habit of some who wet their lips with their tongues before acknowledging an introduction. . . . I asked her once if she ever has been vindictive, or if she enjoyed getting revenge, and she answered me with an Abraham Lincoln quotation: "I destroy my enemies—by making them my friends." . . . Of the pictures she has made she prefers "Man's Castle," "White Parade," and "Life Begins."

The Gretchen has been in pictures 14 years of her 27. . . . Her debut was a bit part in a picture that starred Fanny Ward and Theodore

Federal School Rule Attacked by Educators

Recent proposals that the federal government regulate and accredit high schools and colleges were attacked yesterday by Dean George A. Works of the University of Chicago. Dean Works spoke at the meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in the Stevens hotel.

The government was also under the fire of William Bennet Bizzell, president of the University of Oklahoma. Dr. Bizzell charged that government employment in "artificial pursuits" of an emergency relief nature constitutes a "wasteful expenditure of public funds" which could better be used to give high school students and unemployed adults vocational training.

Dean Works, who headed the association during the last year, said suggestions for federal control of educational standards have come from the Association of Chief State School Officers, the United States office of education, and the American Council on Education.

"Any realistic observer of what has happened to higher education in Germany," he declared, "cannot help but hesitate before placing all forms of higher education under direct government control."

Works said that requirements for chief state school officers have not kept pace with the importance of the office. In many states, he said, a person who cannot meet the requirements for the lowest grade teacher's certificate can occupy the position of chief educational officer. In 1937 only eight states required that the chief officer be a college graduate.

Dean Works also cited short terms of office and "the extent to which party politics is a factor in the choice of the officer" as arguments against federal control.

Dr. Bizzell urged the training of unemployed persons to fill the gaps in industry caused by shortages of skilled workers. Of the nation's adult population of 75,000,000, about 32,000,000 have less than elementary school training and 9,000,000 are unemployed, he said.

"The large marginal group which is unqualified for any kind of skilled employment is inevitably thrown out of work when industrial output is restricted," Dr. Bizzell said. "The federal government has tried to find employment for these people, but there has been little effort to find out what they are capable of doing, or to train them along those lines."

Irving Maurer, president of Beloit college, Beloit, Wis., was elected president of the association to succeed Dean Works.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

Billing.

Margalo Gillmore noticed an advertisment for Wuthering Heights in a southern city while No Time for Comedy was on tour that billed Laurence Olivier as "Mr. Scarlett O'Hara." Following that theory, quips Miss Gillmore, why not bill Olivier and Vivien Leigh in the Romeo and Juliet production that comes to the Auditorium this month "Mr. Scarlett O'Hara as Romeo; Mrs. Heathcliff as Juliet"?

Coincidence.

Laurence Olivier, who collects old theater programs and has a valuable collection of Romeo and Juliet programs, will be able to see still another one when he comes to Chicago. It was Romeo and Juliet that opened the Auditorium after the first night's dedication ceremonies in 1889, and it was Patti who appeared as Juliet that December night more than half a century ago.

Private Lives.

The paragraph about the plat of the orchestra, giving names and positions of the musicians, that now appears in Chicago Symphony orchestra programs, brought in a letter from Marjorie DeLamarter Racine, daughter of Composer and Conductor Eric DeLamarter.

"You didn't mention, for instance, Mr. Evans, whose hobby is making very fine ivories," writes Mrs. Racine. "Or Leo Ruckle, whose lovely oil paintings are shown annually at the orchestra party, and who when he retires will live on his farm and make oboe reeds. You forgot Mr. Metzenger, who can eat more than any man in the county, and Mr. Houdek, who resembles very much the famous head of Beethoven.

"And Carl Rink of the first violins, who goes gypsy every summer and takes a string quartet all over the country. And Fred Boos, who plays bass and tuba, and makes trunks in his spare time and can be called upon to play Santa Claus. There is Hugo Fox Jr., whose Indiana farm home is lovely—he raises lambs, pine trees, and, he hopes, oil! There is Bob Mayer, the 'agony tuba' player, or English horn to you, who has been doing a lot of fine solo oboe work; and Harold Kepper, who can play any instrument except the bassoon and can sing the whole quartet from Rigoletto, and who knows more odd and unrelated facts about this and that than any person I know except father."

Benefit Bridge Party.

The Marie Adelaide Club of Chicago will hold a benefit bridge party this afternoon at the Lake Shore Athletic club. Mrs. John V. Crespa, vice president of the club, is chairman.

Good Morning!

I didn't think they could do it! Capture the suspense, the horror, the beauty, and the strange eeriness of "Rebecca," the book. But they have! The screen version is subtle, electrifying—and almost as fascinating as the novel, which I thought by all odds the best story I'd read in years. [Didn't you?.]

As most of you know, it's the memory of Rebecca, not Rebecca herself, that is the narrative's dominating influence. Rebecca—the first Mrs. de Winter, mistress of Manderley—is dead. . . . But the great house where she had lived is full of the unpredictable and evil woman, known by few to be that, and kept alive in the minds of all by the persistence of Mrs. Danvers, the housekeeper, who had been her devoted slave.

To Manderley, Maxim de Winter, prominent society man, known best for his vast Tudor estate, brings a bride—a wistful, colorless, sensitive, timorous girl, pathetically anxious to please all and to be happy herself.

From the start she is the victim of Mrs. Danvers' quiet, vicious persecution, and as life moves on in the great house, the TRUE story of Rebecca—her life and death—unfolds. A story only known before in its entirety to one wretched person, the man who had been Rebecca's husband. . . .

The name of David Selznick is becoming to movies what "sterling" is to silver. . . . There's nothing snide about his productions! Intelligence and imagination are revealed in everything about "Rebecca," from the casting down to the delivery of the tiniest scrap of dialog.

The surprise sensation of the year is Joan Fontaine's portrayal of the title rôle. She takes Du Maurier's anemic little mouse of a heroine, and makes her charming and alive the while retaining the modesty, appeal, and shrinking terror of people that characterized the girl in the novel. . . . Miss Fontaine has magnetism, beauty, and a voice that makes the heartstrings vibrate. . . .

As for Laurence Olivier he's as great a de Winter as he was a Heathcliff. Which is certainly praise plus—or I mean it for such. . . . Judith Anderson gives a bitingly impressive performance as Mrs. Danvers, and all other rôles are beautifully handled.

Scenery, gorgeous or weird, was photographed with marvelous cunning, and the settings and costumes are THE LAST WORD. I'm still thinking about those Manderley interiors.

"Rebecca" is, in its way, as remarkable a film as "Gone with the Wind"—and Fontaine as great as Leigh!

The Housewife

Here's something for the woman who is searching for an unusual and attractive little gift for a friend who already "has everything." It is a set of charming little decorations for finger bowls. These little blown glass objects float on the water and add a piquant, colorful touch. You can get tiny red glass lobster, minute fish and swans, and fragile little flowers. You use, of course, just one to each finger bowl.

'Don't Touch' Admonition Is an Unfair One

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

How it is with you I don't know, but if you're anything like most people, when anything new, strange, or especially interesting is shown you, you want to take it in your hands. Somehow, even we who are grownup evince that impulse. And rarely, good luck for us, does any one stop us with a "No! Don't touch it!" Even stores and museums recognize how universal this impulse is by frequently putting upon a table decoration or an antique chair the sign, "Please do not touch."

If this urge is universal with adults, it is even more encompassing with little children, because they have not learned, as we have, the feeling of the objects they see. They not only want, they NEED to touch most things, at least once. Yet many mothers say constantly to their babies or very young children, "No! No! Baby must not touch. Don't touch, don't touch, don't touch."

This we should not do. So, continuing this subject, let us see how, in actual practice, we can avoid crying "Don't touch" scores of times a day.

Instead of denying your small one the chance to touch, give him every opportunity within reason to handle things and satisfy his curiosity about them. This will take time, but you have to put many activities aside when you have children. Besides, it is much more interesting than clapping the lid on.

Let your child take things in his hands to feel, even if you're not going to let him keep them or play with them. But there are many more things around the house that he can play with than you would believe. Kitchens and kitchen utensils are a keen delight to small children, and can provide them with pleasure and the satisfaction of real muscular and sense needs. Desks and workboxes they love.

Let your child get acquainted "by hand" with his home. But give him interesting things of his own, also pencils and paper and crayons and a few accessories like yours, perhaps, and a low broad table and books.

With a very young child at the "touching age" about the house it is not fair to leave fragile or precious things within his reach and then expect "hands off." He might examine them as you hold them for him, then put them away.

Suitable playthings should be provided.

If you allow him to learn by handling, don't scold or punish when breakage or other accidents occur.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Roberts. . . . She played the part of a child on an operating table, and when the director told her to cry she let loose shrieks and yells that scared every one on the set. . . . Crying was easy because she was scared to death. . . . Because of domestic difficulties, Loretta and her sisters depended entirely on their mother, and that attachment today is just as deep and affectionate.

Since Feb. 28, 1939, Loretta has been a free lance player. . . . After 13 years of working for studios like Warner and Twentieth Century-Fox under specific contract, "Gretch" became a free agent a little more than a year ago. . . . "First of all," she explained her decision to free lance, "you don't have to make so many pictures a year when you are on your own. There is a sense of freedom that is wonderful after a series of five year contracts. I am perfectly aware of the risks that a free lance player courts. My judgment about pictures is not infallible and there is the danger of accepting the wrong rôles, but you run the same risk when you are under contract to a studio. In this setup, at least, I have a greater voice in selecting my rôles. Above all, as a free lancer your health doesn't suffer and additionally your purse doesn't suffer. You can make more money doing a few pictures than accepting a studio contract which calls for a lot of pictures in a year."

Gretchen, as one of three sisters in the movies, is not an exception in the Hollywood picture. . . . There were the Gish sisters earlier. . . . Currently there are the Bennett sisters.

Gun Bought Grant

SYNOPSIS.

Framed by his enemy, Santee Bales, Sam Teacher, outlaw cowboy, shoots the bank robber dressed to resemble him. The governor agrees to give Sam $25,000 in addition to full pardon for all the crimes accredited to him if he will persuade obstinate Matt Drury to sell the railroad the right of way through one of his canyons. Sam gets a job on Drury's ranch and has a run-in with his worthless son, Steve, and his pretty but spoiled daughter, Celia. Instead of firing Sam, Drury takes his advice and gives Steve a small stake and sends him out on his own; and he tells Celia she has to run the house. Both children leave home in a huff, Celia getting a job in a restaurant. Steve gets into a crooked poker game with Bales and ends up the big loser, having to go into partnership with Bales. Bales persuades Steve to get the grant of the canyon property so they can make the governor pay them instead of Sam. Sam is captured by Bales and his men, who steal his gun and leave him tied up. When Sam breaks loose and reaches town he is arrested for the murder of Steve as his gun is found near the murdered man. Matt wants Sam hanged but his foreman, Pearly, is convinced of Sam's innocence and resigns to help find the real murderer. He buys a stable next door to the jail and digs Sam out, and they concoct a plan to outwit Bales. With dynamite they change the course of the river that determines the boundary of the land Bales plans to sell the railroad. Bales learns that the river is needed for irrigation and plans to get a court order to change the course of the river back again. Celia gets homesick and visits her father. While she is there, Pearly and Sam appear at the ranch and tell Drury of Bales' scheme and try to persuade him to guard the canyon while Sam kills Bales. Drury refuses but Celia sees their way and begs Sam to protect her father and his interests. Sam, with Pearly's aid, commandeers a wagonload of gold ore and dumps it into the dry river bed. When Bales, the sheriff and workmen arrive to turn the river back they find gold and the workmen persuade the sheriff to jail Bales to keep him from flooding their stakes.

INSTALMENT XXX.

STAMPEDE.

From his window in jail, Santee saw it all happen and he could have wept. Spring wagons, buckboards, hayricks, saddle horses, mules, burros, anything that could carry a person, milled about the plaza and poured out the east road over the bridge. Men were shooting in the air, giving the long yell that raised a man's hackles with excitement. Even the womenfolks joined in.

A fortune, ease and security and riches for the rest of their lives, lay within striking distance. Dignity could be forgotten for the moment in the face of that. There were fights in the plaza. Wagons tangled and were upset. Disorder was everywhere and Lovejoy did not make any attempt to stop it. Trabajo had the gold fever. And Trabajo, Santee thought bitterly, had the Rio Medio canyon. By daylight, its sides would be blanketed with claims. To move that horde of goldseekers out would take years and a fortune. With success in his grasp, his chances had been wiped out so utterly and completely that he began to wonder if they had ever existed.

He sat on his cot and cursed until he was hoarse, and then cursed in whispers while the din of the town rose to the stars—which after all were only diamonds and far away, while gold was almost underfoot.

Sam and Pearly had watched that first night's stampede with amazement. What they had hoped would turn into a claim fight or two which might entangle Santee in a court delay that would halt the railroad's purchase had turned into a stampede. During the night the whole town of Trabajo moved to the old Rio Medio canyon. Lanterns, kerosene flares, and lamps weaved up and down the canyon as people hunted for room to stake claims.

The wisest of the stampeders, not finding the gold bearing ore above and below a certain point, were convinced that the river had cut thru a pocket. They began staking the sides of the canyon. The less knowing, always willing to follow those who showed some knowledge, followed suit. By morning, every inch of the canyon for ten miles was staked out, and some of the claims even ranged out onto the shelf above the Rim.

By midday, the more businesslike began to struggle in with food and tarpaulins and tools and lumber. All thru the next night the activity continued. Some of the men were working their claims. Others, not wholly convinced that the restraining order would be forthcoming, threw in to build a community dike which would divert the water away from their claims. Still others, going at it in a businesslike way, began on their crude shacks and tents. Canvas stores, doling out supplies at a premium which nobody could yet afford but which they were sure they eventually could, did a big business. Here was the beginning of a boom town—started by a single load of ore.

When night fell, Sam and Pearly became bold enough to walk up to the edge of the canyon and watch the activity. Neither of them could tire of watching it.

"Well, I'll be damned," Pearly kept muttering over and over. "Well, I will be damned."

Sam, however, was uneasy. What had happened to Santee? He hadn't showed up yet at the canyon. Neither had Sheriff Lovejoy, who would administer the law in this new community. Moreover, if Santee showed up with a court order, it would be Sheriff Lovejoy's job to carry it out. This started a train of thought in Sam's mind that he could not discard.

That night, looking down on the busy camp, Sam said, "Santee ain't showed up yet."

"He will," Pearly said. He looked over at Sam. "You aim to do what you said?"

"Kill him. I do."

"But he'll be careful enough not to travel alone, Sam. You told him you'd gun him."

Pearly had arrived at the same conclusion Sam had, but Sam elaborated. "That's right. He'll blow in with the order, hunt up Lovejoy and then the fun will begin." He looked over at Pearly. "What if Lovejoy is locked in jail again? It'll take three days to get him out. In that time, Santee is bound to be alone some time. He's bound to forget me for a while, ain't he?"

"What of it?"

Sam stood up and brushed his clothes off. "Nothin'. Only, I'm goin' to be where I can watch him."

Pearly stood up, alarm in his every movement. "You ain't goin' to town!" he cried.

"That's it. If he just slips once, that's all I need."

Pearly argued and pled and begged, but Sam only laughed.

"You mean you're goin' in that jail again and throw Lovejoy in a cell?"

Sam patted the two sets of keys in his pocket. "I did it before. There ain't ten men in the town now. All I got to do is wait till Lovejoy goes into his office, then throw him in and wait for Santee to show up."

Pearly sighed, and then swore, but he knew it was useless to argue. His younger partner had a way with him that was ruthless and direct and to the point. Pearly, who had lived alongside of Anse Lovejoy for 10 years, had little respect for him, yet he would have hesitated to come back three times to lock him in a cell simply because the sheriff had been doing his duty. Yet Sam did not hesitate. Neither did Sam pause at the thought of crowding a man into a gun fight. Pearly had been in gun fights, but they were always a result of anger, of wounded honor, of the heat of the moment. Yet Sam had not only announced his intention of getting in a gun fight, he told his opponent, the law, and anybody else who cared to listen.

It was living a little too fast for Pearly, but plain honesty told him one thing. If Lovejoy wound up in jail at Sam's hands, then it was a fool's just punishment. And if Santee Bales died at the business end of Sam's gun, it would be because he was warned, because he deserved it, and because he got an even break.

He followed Sam to their horses without another word, and they mounted and rode off toward Trabajo. Presently, Pearly said "Where you aim to hide, Sam?"

"I hadn't thought of it," Sam said lightly.

Pearly said with reluctance, "Celia would hide you."

"Hunh-unh."

"It's part of her fight. She'd do it, too. She's changed."

"Let's keep her out of it," Sam said quietly. "I didn't start after Santee because he'd done anything to her. Not even because he gulched Steve. I'm out for him because almost since I can remember, I knew the shootout was comin'. All I needed was the excuse. I got it now, and it don't concern her. No."

Pearly subsided and talked of it no more, but it stuck in his mind. As they had done the time before, they paused at the bridge head below Trabajo hours later.

"This is a one man job," Sam said. "You can watch it, Pearly, but you ain't in it."

"But you ain't——"

"No," Sam said. His tone carried a finality that Pearly had seldom heard. Pearly said bitterly, in a low voice. "I throwed in with you because I wanted to get Steve's killer. If Bales ain't Steve's killer, who is?"

Sam said patiently, "My promise to Santee was made long before I knew you, Pearly. I aim to keep it. Man against man, one gun each, and one of us in the dust when it ends. No, I'm doin' this alone."

"All right. Still, I'm goin' to ride in and see it."

They parted at the alley Sam had traveled up before. Pearly took to the alley, and Sam knew he was going to see Celia. He knew too, that if he needed help, Pearly would give it to him. Only he wouldn't need help.

With one glance at the plaza, a long one which noted that the lamp in the sheriff's office was lighted, he knew what he was going to do. The plaza was practically deserted, and while it was late and some of the stores were naturally dark, the hour did not account for the look of desertion. The whole town was at the Rio Medio canyon.

He rode straight into the plaza at an easy jog, turned to the left, waved to a stranger, and pulled up in front of the sheriff's office.

Two Choruses Offer Music in Lutheran Style

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Quite in the great Lutheran musical tradition was the concert given in Orchestra hall last night by the Concordia Seminary chorus and the Lutheran Hour chorus. In the first place the music itself was largely Lutheran; in the second, the performance had that rugged simplicity which has been an ideal of Lutheran music making ever since the founder established congregational singing in his church.

Johann Sebastian Bach, himself a Lutheran choir master, was represented by excerpts from the motet, "Jesu Priceless Treasure," and by two independent chorales. There was also a generous amount of music from the pre-Bach epochs and a few comparatively modern works.

The 75 men of the Concordia Seminary chorus, under William B. Heyne's direction, sang with an easy, natural, resonant tone. The ruggedness of their work did not preclude an expressive flexibility of tempo and a reasonable amount of color variety.

The Lutheran Hour chorus—about 25 men under Ronald Ross's direction—partook somewhat of the general character of the larger group [altho it did, at the end, get down to humming—which cannot be a part of the Lutheran tradition!].

The concert was sponsored by the Lutheran Laymen's league. Dr. Walter A. Maier, Lutheran Hour speaker, reported on the progress of the church's radio work.

Lederer Will Appear on 5th Row Center Program Tomorrow

Francis Lederer, stage and movie star, will appear tomorrow on the Fifth Row Center program over W-G-N and the coast to coast network of the Mutual Broadcasting System. The show will be heard from 5 to 5:30 p. m.

Lederer, who is now co-starring at the Grand Opera house in Chicago with Katherine Cornell in "No Time for Comedy," will be heard in a radio version of Edwin Justis Mayer's play, "The Firebrand." Lederer will be heard in the title rôle, that of Benvenuto Cellini.

Born in Prague, Czecho-Slovakia, Francis Lederer studied drama at the Academy there, but first made his mark in Berlin, where he appeared with Elisabeth Bergner in Max Reinhardt's production of "Romeo and Juliet." Later he acted in London and Paris, and finally came to the United States in 1932. For the last five years he has spent much of his time in Hollywood.

EUROPEAN CHAMPIONS HAMMER SPARMATES

SNOW AND RAIN HALT CONTEST; BROWN PITCHES

Long Hits Win for South Siders.

The Cubs' scheduled game with the Browns yesterday in San Antonio was canceled by rain. They will play today. (Story on page 23.)

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Amarillo, Tex., April 5.—The White Sox and Pirates, fresh from sunny California, encountered slight difficulties here today. Raindrops, snowflakes, and hail pellets descended, but the athletes went thru with part of their scheduled show, and that was enough to satisfy about 2,000 cash customers. After five innings the umpires, noting that a grassless field gradually was turning white, called a halt, with the White Sox the victors over their National league traveling companions, 4 to 2.

Clint Brown.

There was at least one valid reason for the big leaguers starting their act, even tho conditions were miserable. Seven years ago the Sox and Pirates were here and snowflakes were flying thru the air, so George Gibson, then the Pirate manager, refused to risk the health of his boys. Before the teams could get out of town that evening the baggage trunks were attached, bond was posted to recover possession of them, and eventually there was a settlement by which the local promoter collected $750 from each club.

Sox Get Four in First.

The Sox did their gunning today against Ken Heintzelman, who is a left hander and apparently not given to work under such conditions. The American leaguers uncorked five safeties in the first inning, four of them figuring in as many runs. Three of the five were extra base drives from the bats of Joe Kuhel, Julius Solters, and Luke Appling. In the four remaining innings Heintzelman was assaulted for eight additional blows, but no runs.

Clint Brown, one of the few actors who considered himself hardy enough not to perform under the extra protection of a leather jacket or rubber shirt, did all the Sox pitching and wasn't annoyed any more by the enemy bats than by the snowflakes. The able rescuer choked the Pirates to three hits in the first four innings, but in the fifth, having been tipped off that the show was about to be called off, eased up and yielded three hits by which his foes escaped a shutout.

Kolloway Starts Rally.

The warmup enjoyed by the Sox at Heintzelman's expense in the first inning got under way on a single by Kolloway who scored on Kuhel's double to left. A fly to center was Kreevich's contribution, after which Solters doubled to left to send Kuhel home. Appling, tripled to right, Solters scoring. Appling drifted across the plate with the fourth run while Wright was being retired on a grounder to Fletcher.

The Sox couldn't be charged with

BY ARCH WARD.

OSCAR SODERLUND of Stockholm, president of the International Amateur Boxing association, who is in Chicago with the European boxing champions, had a closeup of Russian air raids when he was serving as a war correspondent in Finland shortly before leaving for the United States. . . . "Most Finns when caught in an air raid lay face downward in the snow," he explained, "but I lay on my back looking at the attack. Fifty-nine planes participated in one of the raids. I saw several bombs dropping from the air and I never knew whether I would be alive a moment later until I heard the detonation as the shells struck a few hundred yards away." . . . The collective European squad has been fighting 63 years and has engaged in 1,749 bouts, winning 1,559 and losing only 190, which gives you some idea of the experience and strength of Chicago's opponents in the Stadium Wednesday night. . . . None of the fighters who will represent Europe ever has been knocked out and only one has been on the floor. . . . Ulderico Sergo, Italian bantamweight, and Lajos Szigeti of Hungary, a light heavyweight, are married and each has one child. . . . Chicago girls of Swedish descent agree Olle Tandberg, heavyweight, is the handsomest man on the European squad. . . . Altho he has had 200 bouts, Tandberg remains unmarked. . . . Federico Cortonesi, Italian featherweight, comes from Livorno, home town of Count Ciano, Italy's foreign minister. . . .

Steve Klaus, trainer for the European team, has been coaching amateur boxers in Italy since the last Olympic games. . . . He is a native of New York. . . . This is the fourth time Arthur de Kankovszky of Budapest, secretary and treasurer of the International Amateur Boxing association, has made a Golden Gloves trip to Chicago. . . . It is the third for Count Gerardo di Leonardi of Italy, who is mayor of Novaro, a city of 75,000 population near Milan. . . . Altho he never has taken a lesson, Egisto Peire, Italian lightweight, can play most of the popular tunes on a saxophone or on a piano. . . . Tandberg will have an advantage over Chicago's Cornelius Young in height and weight. . . . The European heavyweight champion is 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 210 pounds. . . . Young stands 6 feet and tips 190. . . . Members of the European squad as well as Capt. Savior Canadeo and Coach Johnny Behr of the Chicago team will be heard over W-G-N at 8 o'clock tonight. . . . Count Alberto Maria del Bono, Italian Davis cup player, who made the trip to Chicago with Count Leonardi, is a lieutenant in an Italian cavalry and tank corps.

MANGRUM AND DEMARET SHARE MASTERS' LEAD

Post 139 for 36 Holes in Augusta Tourney.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Augusta, Ga., April 5.—Slim Lloyd Mangrum and carefree James Demaret, the two young men who yesterday blew down all golf scoring records with the fury of a tornado in their native Texas, today reached the halfway mark in the seventh annual Masters' tournament with 36 hole scores of 139, five under par for the Augusta National course.

In tomorrow's third round, one of those situations peculiar to tournament pairings will give the galleries a show seldom found in fairway competition—two leaders playing one hole apart. Demaret tees off with Craig Wood just before Mangrum and Sam Snead get away.

Three Champions in It.

It won't be a two man contest, however. The Masters' rarely is. All three of the nation's champions will have a swing or two to say about the matter before the party breaks up with Sunday's final 18. National Open Champion Byron Nelson of Toledo, who played with Demaret today, is only two shots back of Demaret and Mangrum with a 141.

Pressing Byron at 142 are National Professional Champion Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., and National Amateur Boss Bud Ward of Spokane. Ward today fired the only round under 70 in the show, coming in with a 32—36—68. Nelson had a 72 and Picard, his second, 71.

Bobby Forced to Quit.

Missing from tomorrow's cast for the first time in seven years will be its most important member—Robert Tyre Jones Jr., around whom the show is built. Bobby had been troubled for the last two weeks with a severe case of bursitis in his back and left shoulder. Thru the last practice rounds and the first two of the tournament, it was obvious that the ailment was extremely painful to the grand slam master. He favored his right side on nearly every shot. Today, after shooting a 76 for a 155, Bob said he would withdraw for fear that further play would result in permanent injury.

Mangrum, who yesterday lighted his way thru the gloaming with a 64 that lowered every major league performance for a single round, needed a 75 today. But the young man who shortly will join Chicago's colony of pros as assistant to Dick Metz at Oak Park, didn't fold up. He didn't take the balloon that would have been only natural after yesterday's startling side. He rimmed five cups and stood five over par on the 15th tee. He chipped up to within four feet for a birdie there and ran in a 15 footer for a deuce on the 16th.

Demaret's Putter Fails.

Demaret played well, but the back nine, which he had burnt to cinders yesterday with a 30 that broke all nine-hole records, got even with him this afternoon by holding him to a par 36. In the first round jovial James holed putts from here to Houston. Today his putter was working against him.

The weather for the tournament, ordinarily quite moist, was the best it ever has enjoyed. This was one of Greencastle, Ind., April 5 [Special].—The University of Chicago defeated the DePauw university baseball team today, 10 to 8.

De Pauw jumped into an early lead when Mike Milencki poled home runs in the first and third innings. Chicago tied the count in the fourth and bunched four hits coupled with two errors to score five in the sixth.

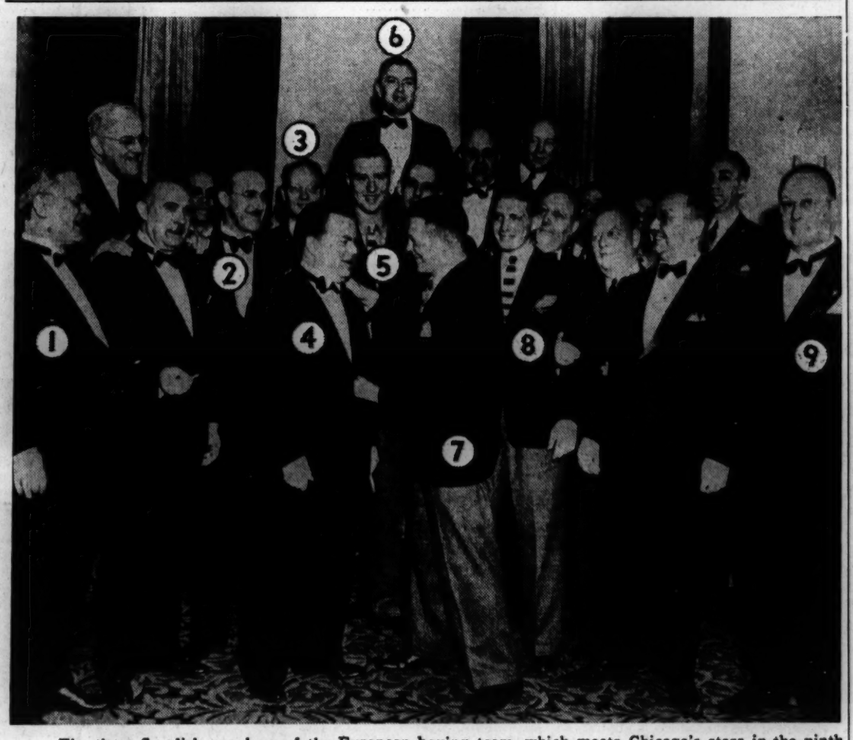
Swedish Boxers Find a Bit of Homeland



The three Swedish members of the European boxing team, which meets Chicago's stars in the ninth international bouts in the Stadium Wednesday, were honored at a banquet in the Swedish club, 1258 North La Salle street, last night. Eric Agren (No. 7), welterweight, demonstrates his punch for C. Hilding Anderson (No. 4). Others identifiable by numbers are: No. 1, Carl Lundquist; No. 2, Oscar Soderlund of Sweden, president of the International Boxing federation; No. 3, Ald. E. Roy Olin of the 8th ward, president of the South Side Swedish club; No. 5, Olle Tandberg, heavyweight; No. 6, Ernest Olson, athletic director of the Swedish A. A.; No. 8, Karl Noren, middleweight; and No. 9, John G. Thunholm, toastmaster. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

300 CHICAGOANS FETE BOXERS OF NATIVE SWEDEN

The three Swedish members of the European amateur boxing team were reminded last night that Chicago's huge Swedish colony is behind them to a man in their bids for international titles next Wednesday.

The trio—Olle Tandberg, heavyweight; Eric Agren, welterweight, and Karl Noren, middleweight—were guests of honor at a huge banquet last night in the Swedish club, 1258 North La Salle street. The banquet, sponsored by the Swedish Athletic association in coöperation with other Swedish organizations, was set for 300, but many more crowded into the rooms to hail the young fighters from their homeland before the celebration was over.

John G. Thunholm was toastmaster. Music was provided by the Melin-Romer American Legion post band. Songs of the homeland and of America, sung by the Svithiod Singing club, were received with thunderous applause, both by the members of the various organizations represented and by the boxers, who seemed pleasantly surprised by the warmth of the reception.

After Mr. Thunholm had welcomed the visitors on behalf of their transplanted countrymen, Oscar Soderlund of Stockholm, president of the International Boxing federation, introduced the fighters. The climax of this ceremony was presentation of watches to Soderlund and the boxers.

Other speakers included Gosta Oldenburg, Swedish consul; Gustav Lindberg, president of the Swedish club; Roy Olin, president of the South Side Swedish club; Einar E. Anderson, editor of the Swedish-American Tribune; Carl Chindblom, former congressman; Ivar Ericson, president of the Swedish Culture society; Franklin Lindquist, president of the Swedish Glee club; Ernest Olson, athletic director of the Swedish Athletic association; Harold Nelson, president of the Swedish Athletic association, and Ture Abrahamson, president of the Viking Athletic association.

Young to Face Hardest Test Against Swedish Champion

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Chicago's Golden Gloves fighters went at the biggest job of their entire training period yesterday—and they did it so well that even so critical a judge as Coach Johnny Behr said they looked splendid.

For three rounds of three minutes each they stood up and slugged against their sparring partners. Then they spent another round at rough and tumble in-fighting to prepare themselves further for the battering ram tactics they expect to encounter when they meet the champions of Europe in the Stadium next Wednesday night.

Pictures Can Be Deceiving.

"They don't look so tough," members of the Chicago squad remarked as they glanced over pictures of the invaders, who arrived Thursday. "We'll get even for last year."

In commenting on the workout, Coach Behr said: "The boys' punching was sharp and their footwork was good. They're all in satisfactory physical condition. All they have to do now is behave themselves and watch their eating, and they'll stay right on edge until it's time to fight."

Cornelius Young, heavyweight champion of the squad, showed excellent timing and hitting power as he prepared for his David and Goliath battle with Olle Tandberg, 210 pound Swedish member of the European team. Young usually comes in at about 185.

It's a Big Handicap.

Followers of the Chicago squad are wondering whether Young can make up in boxing skill and hitting ability what he lacks in weight. That 25 pound difference takes on added importance when Tandberg's record is considered. In marching to the European championship he showed that he knows how to use his resources to advantage.

Chicago's boxing fans know, however, that this isn't the first time Young has been asked to deliver in an emergency. He's at his best when the going is tough and the battle is

Salute Golden Gloves Rivals on WGN Tonight

A salute to the European and Chicago Golden Gloves teams, which meet Wednesday in Chicago Stadium in the ninth International matches, will be presented over W-G-N this evening from 8 to 8:15 o'clock.

Bob Elson, W-G-N sports announcer, will introduce Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, under whose sponsorship the bouts annually are presented, and Ward in turn will introduce Oscar Soderlund of Stockholm, Sweden, president of the International Boxing federation.

The European boxers themselves will be individually presented against a background of the national anthems of their respective countries. The eight man team is composed of four Italians, three Swedes, and one Hungarian. Savior Canadeo, captain of the Chicago squad, will extend his team's greeting to the invaders.

THEY'LL TRY FOR KNOCKOUTS IN GOLDEN GLOVES

Diet Problems Keep Chef Guessing.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Sparring partners leaped into the ring confidently and came out wobbly in the Chicago Towers club's gymnasium yesterday as the European Golden Gloves champions plunged into the task of catching up with their Chicagoland rivals in preparations for the ninth annual international match in the Stadium Wednesday night. The Chicago team has been in training a week, getting in valuable work while the invaders bobbed about on the Atlantic.

After 16 rounds of sparring in which each boxer stepped a round apiece against two sparring partners, it was evident that Europe will rely on punching power in its defense of the championship wrested from Chicago last year. Eight excursions to the Golden Gloves battle front have swung European boxers from the old world self-defense technique to the more aggressive American style. Boxers who once danced about on nimble feet are beginning to get set and seeking to raise a welt where previously they sought only to tap an opponent off balance.

Federico Is a Puncher.

Federico Cortonesi, the muscular little slaughter house worker from Livorno and European featherweight champion, was the most impressive puncher. He hooked a jolting left to the head and crossed a right to the body that had each of his opponents in distress. Egisto Peire, the Italian lightweight, who beat Johnny Pleasant in last year's matches, revealed the same power that had Pleasant on the floor and Eric Agren, of Sweden, who is defending the international welterweight championship, had more guns that a middleweight sparring partner cared to face.

Several unusual training customs have come to light since the European squad registered at the Chicago Towers club Thursday. Olle Tandberg, three times European and five times Swedish heavyweight champion, turned up in the ring in his street shoes. A bellboy was dispatched to Tandberg's room for boxing shoes but Tandberg refused to wear them. He always works out in his street shoes, he told Trainer Steve Klaus. Ring shoes then make his feet feel lighter and step up his speed in a match, teammates explained.

Why Chefs Turn Gray.

Dieticians shook their heads and looked on in amazement while Klaus ordered the team's fare for the day. Boiled potatoes with the jackets on are served the Swedes three times a day. For the Italians it must be baked potatoes and they get them only at dinner.

No milk is served the Italians. From infancy they have enjoyed wine at each meal and milk not only would be distasteful to them, but might make them ill. It has happened in Klaus' experience and he is taking no chances.

American training menus call for a light salad, preferably fruit, at lunch before a workout. These boys, however, have no time for such snacks. They are brought up on three squares a day and must have full vegetables, meat and soup courses at lunch as well as at dinner. European fighters, therefore, never work out early in the afternoon. Klaus' gymnasium in Rome does not open until 4 o'clock. The Chicago boxers are out of the Illinois A. C. gymnasium and in the movies before the European contingent reports for work in the Chicago Towers club. These are strange athletic policies, you say? Well, perhaps. But they have made champions of these boys.

The Pressure Is On.

The excitement of the arrival had quieted down by yesterday and all the official welcoming delegations had been received, allowing the boxers to settle down to a normal routine of shopping, training and leisure. After the morning roadwork, which started outdoors and wound up on the Towers club's indoor track, because of the cold, the entire squad hiked over to the loop on a souvenir hunting expedition.

BOGSKAR, AVOIDED BY BETTERS, WINS GRAND NATIONAL

Rank Outsider Is Hailed by 125,000.

AINTREE, England, April 5 (AP).—Bogskar, a rank outsider at odds of from 33 to 1 to 25 to 1, captured the 102d Grand National steeplechase today before 125,000. Ridden by Sergt. Marvin Michael Jones, royal air force pilot on leave, and bumped hard twice, the little known 7 year old owned and trained by Lord Stalbridge, soundly whipped 29 other jumpers, two of them American-owned.

Carrying 144 pounds, Bogskar not only beat L. Scott Briggs' highly regarded MacMoffat by four lengths, but came within one-fifth of a second of equaling the record of nine minutes, 20 2-3 seconds set by Dorothy Paget's Golden Miller in 1934.

Owner Wins $30,000.

The triumph brought $20,000 to Bogskar's owner, chicken feed compared with the thousands won by holders of lucky tickets in the Irish Hospital sweepstakes. MacMoffat, held at 8 to 1 and runner-up for the second straight year, got $2,000. J. P. Neill's Gold Arrow, priced at 50 to 1 and six lengths back of MacMoffat in third place, won $800.

BEATS SETTING TYPE

New York, April 5 [Special].—Down to his last $29.38, an unemployed printer and former Golden Gloves champion today became the only man in the United States to win top money in the Irish hospital sweepstakes. Little Augie Ruggiere, 30, who said he never had any luck before, held a ticket on Bogskar which won the Grand National today at Aintree, England. The ticket is worth $107,250.

[Four Chicagoans had tickets on starters which finished out of the money, each winning $2,234. They are: D. L. Baker, 1739 North Shore avenue, Mrs. Elwood Merrill, 514 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park; Christ Schulin, 2910 West North avenue, and "Sour Puss," 1011 Irving place.

CUE MEET ENDS TODAY; SCHAEFER CLINCHES SECOND

Jake Schaefer of Cleveland clinched second place in the world three cushion billiard tournament in Bensinger's recreation yesterday by defeating Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo., 50 to 36, in 54 innings. In the other afternoon game Jay Bozeman of Vallejo, Cal., conquered Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia, 50 to 31, in 42 innings.

Bozeman defeated Schaefer in the first evening match, 50 to 22, in 39 innings.

Willie Hoppe, who already had clinched the world championship, registered his 19th straight victory in the second night game. Willie had little difficulty whipping Johnny Layton, Sedalia, Mo., veteran, 50 to 36, in 44 innings to remain undefeated.

This afternoon's two games will complete the 110 game schedule. The program will include the presentation of the championship trophy to Hoppe. At 1 o'clock Bozeman will meet Joe Chamaco of Mexico and Hoppe will oppose Schaefer in the final match.

JOHN DAVID'S 72 LEADS MIDWEST AMATEUR GOLF

French Lick, Ind., April 5 [Special].—John David of Indianapolis took a two stroke lead on the field of 500 golfers shooting in the ninth annual Midwest amateur tournament here today. David, who holds the Indiana intercollegiate championship, went out in 38 and breezed in one under par for a 34 and a 72 total.

In a tie for second place were Jack Hoerner of North Shore, 1938, midwest champion; Jim Frisina of Taylorville, Ill., with identical scores of 37—37—74, and Gus Novotny of Cincinnati, formerly of Chicago, with 39—35—74. The defending champion, Gus Moreland of Peoria, found the tricky cross wind a bit difficult and finished with 39—37—76.

SMILIN' JACK—THE HIRED HAND

Joyce Whips Castiglione in 8 Rounds

Willie Joyce, 1937 International Golden Gloves featherweight champion, hammered out a victory in eight rounds over Nick Castiglione of the Italo-American Youth organization in White City last night.

The decision of Referee Barney Ross and Judges George Kenny and Jack Ripple was unanimous, but the spectators booed Joyce for alleged foul tactics.

Gene Spencer, South Chicago lightweight, and Phil Saeli of the northwest side went eight rounds to a draw in the semi-final. The spectators thought Spencer deserved a shade.

In the first match of eight rounds Jack Cooper, south side welterweight, won a decision over Indiana Billy Lee of Milwaukee. A sellout crowd of 2,267 greeted the verdict with mingled boos and cheers.

Gross receipts were $2,092.20. The net gate was $1,743.50, which was $243.50 more than needed to break even. The Woodlawn Boys' club will share in the profits.

Joe du Pont, City Golden Gloves featherweight champion, won an unpopular five round decision from Robert Earl, Morgan Park lightweight, in the amateur fight show in the Madison Athletic club last night. Johnny Crane, Morgan Park middleweight, beat Joe Taziolo in another five rounder. Other results:

Lucius Williams knocked out Roy Tibbets [3]; Frank Kidd beat John Hardy [3]; Jackie Woods beat Huck Kocurek [3]; Jimmy Thomas beat Fred Harris [3]; James Saranello stopped Julius Sparks [2].

Joey Spiegel, promising Milwaukee welterweight prospect, yesterday was matched to meet George Nyberg of Port Arthur, Ont., in a five round bout in Marigold Gardens Monday. The card is topped by a 10 round event involving Frankie [Kid] Covelli, Brooklyn featherweight, and Eddie Lander.

Birmingham, Ala., April 5 [Special].—Schoolboy Rowe, former strikeout king of the American league, today pitched a full nine inning game for the first time in his 1940 comeback and also contributed a home run as the Detroit Tigers whipped the Brooklyn Dodgers, 15 to 5. The victory gave Detroit a lead of four games to three in their spring series.

The Tigers pounded out an 18 hit attack for a total of 35 bases. Rudy York led the assault on Freddy Fitzsimmons and Wesley Ferrell with two home runs, a triple, and a single that drove in five runs.

Sox Defeat Pirates, 4-2, in 5 Innings

not trying to hurry matters in the second and third. They piled six hits into these two innings without scoring. Brown and Kolloway singled with none out in the second, but Kolloway obligingly kept on running to second where he was retired. In the third Solters, Wright, Kennedy and Turner singled. Two of these fellows were cut down at the plate which was the ideal way to curtail the physical sufferings of everybody involved, including Messrs. Beans Reardon and Bill Summers, the umpires.

The Pirates seemed to be willing enough to collect base hits, but didn't enjoy much luck. Doc Brown set 'em down in order in the first. In the second the yield was only a single by Van Robays. Elliott picked up a single in the third because Kolloway slipped in the gumbo after fielding the ball. Van Robays singled again in the fourth and then came the lightly busy fifth. Young doubled, Lloyd Waner batted for Heintzelman and did the same. Later there was a single by Garms. This little bit of industry netted the National leaguers their only two runs.

The Sox-Pirates special moved out of here tonight for Enid, Okla., where they'll exhibit tomorrow. Herold [Muddy] Ruel, who is serving as boss while Manager Jimmy Dykes is away, intends to start Vallie Eaves and finish either with John Rigney or Ed Weiland. The Pirates pitching job will be split between Max Butcher and Bob Klinger.

Cubs Hark to Showers and Boss' Lecture

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., April 5.—It was much too moist for Cubs-Browns baseball in San Antonio today, but just right for the club lecture delivered at a meeting called in a hotel hall by Manager Gabby Hartnett at 11 o'clock this morning. The rain lasted all day, but the meeting lasted only 10 torrid minutes.

"I was terse, explicit, forceful and very loud," said Manager Hartnett with great earnestness after the brief meeting, assembled to discuss matters of deportment and reform of baseball purpose. "I made it clear that the spring joy ride officially is over and that infraction of training rules and slouchy attitudes toward baseball effort hereafter will be punishable by fines or worse.

Gabby Makes Himself Heard.

"I talked especially loud so several guys who apparently have tin ears would be able to hear me. I have had several club meetings since I became manager, but I never was more emphatic in my demands for coöperation than I was today.

"Off field conduct of ball players away from ball parks is one of the matters that never has kept us up nights. We feel prepared, however, to say that the current attempt at more rigorous discipline is not the outgrowth of any disreputable misconduct or wanton hilarity. We'd rather think the inspiration for the address today came from more or less normal roguishness of the type which is apt to affect some in any group of healthy, high spirited athletes whose work is not too confining and fatiguing during the experimenting of a spring training season. So much, just now, for the alleged good time Charlies."

O That Weather Man.

Aside from disciplinary matters, Manager Hartnett was provoked by the weather vagaries. Yesterday, with no game scheduled, the Cubs arrived under a bright sun, with the temperature 90 degrees, a perfect training day. Then today, a steady rain which made it impossible to play or even exercise. Moreover, the promise for a game tomorrow is none too good.

Despite his eagerness for lots of work from now on, Manager Hartnett turned down a suggestion that a double header be played tomorrow.

It's Still French.

Larry French, who was scheduled to pitch today, will get the call tomorrow. Vernon Kennedy, the eccentric former member of the White Sox, is scheduled to pitch for the Browns. Kennedy, who as a Tiger and Brown, led the American league in losses last year with 20, as against nine victories, is making a valiant attempt to escape a plunk into the minors.

Again Dr. Hutchins Is a Target

The Beta Theta Pi dart booth was one of the most popular concessions at the annual Fandango, sponsored by fraternities and girls' clubs at the University of Chicago, last night. The target was a picture of President Robert M. Hutchins with inscriptions bearing on conditions at the university. Among the patrons were Janet Geiger (left) and Janice Shaughnessy, daughter of the school's former coach.

Hutchins Sets the Point as Dart Target

Football minded students at the University of Chicago last night engaged in a dart tossing contest, highlight of the annual Fandango sponsored by fraternities and girls' clubs to raise money for a scholarship fund at the Midway. The contest took place in the Beta Theta Pi fraternity's dart booth in Ida Noyes hall with a large photograph of President Robert M. Hutchins as the target.

For almost two hours the students hurled the darts and finally at 10:30 o'clock Patricia Lyding, 7422 Bennett avenue, gained claim to the evening's championship — her accurate toss landing squarely on Hutchins' nose. Others in the field included Janice Shaughnessy, 16 year old daughter of Clark Shaughnessy.

Hutchins' photograph, supplied by a member of Beta Theta Pi, was surrounded by questions connected with the university's abandonment of intercollegiate football last December. The list included "Why hit Himmel when Hutch is husky?" the query relating to Hutchins and Richard Himmel, gossip columnist of the Daily Maroon.

The criticism of William J. Bingham, Harvard athletic director, was brought out with the question, "Sir Galahad?" Bingham in a speech to the eastern convention of the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation last week said Hutchins had the physique of a Sir Galahad.

Other questions were "Football?", "Smoking?", "Shaughnessy?", "Tuition Hike?", "Divine?"

ELEVEN PLEAD INNOCENT OF TRUST CHARGES

Named in Investigation of Plumbing Industry.

Cleveland, O., April 5 (AP).—Eleven persons and associations pleaded innocent today to a federal indictment charging 102 defendants—plumbing manufacturers, jobbers, and unions—conspired on a nation-wide basis to restrain trade in violation of anti-trust laws.

The eight individual defendants who pleaded innocent were:

H. S. Blank, Dayton, O., president of the National Association of Master Plumbers; Ernst L. Flentje, Washington, executive secretary of the national association; Herman W. Eckhardt, secretary of the Cleveland Plumbing Contractors' association; three former presidents of the national association, H. M. Porter, Minneapolis; L. J. Kruse, Oakland, Cal., and G. H. Werner, Orange, N. J.; Bernard E. McGrath, Detroit, former executive secretary of the Detroit Association of Master Plumbers, and U. I. Bott, Canton, O., secretary of the Canton Master Plumbers' association.

Innocent pleas were entered by three others on behalf of the Detroit, Canton, and Cleveland associations.

NO PROSECUTION FOR SIX

Mentioned in dispatches reporting the indictments for alleged efforts to restrain trade in the plumbing industry, returned last week by a federal grand jury in Cleveland, were six Chicago organizations. These six, however, were not made subject to prosecution for their part in the alleged conspiracy.

These organizations were Weil-McLain company, Chicago Credit bureau, Hallenscheid & McDonald, Imperial Brass company, Revere Copper and Brass, Inc., and John Wood Manufacturing company. The original dispatches from Cleveland did not make clear that these organizations were not subject to prosecution.

DAY by DAY on the FARM — BOB BECKER

Of Turkeys and Hounds.

April 5, 1940.

THE wild turkey gobbler on the Du Page county farm was displaying quite a sense of showmanship one day this week when we visited the barnyard to see the spring lambs and the poultry. This wise old bird wasn't associating with the Bourbon Red gobblers. He was off by himself where he didn't have to compete with the other gobblers in the annual spring strutting and gobbling contest.

We noticed that the Bourbon Red turkeys were close to the sheepyard putting on a real show. They fluffed out their plumage, spread the beautiful feathers in their tails until they were shaped like huge brown fans, and then strutted back and forth so the quiet turkey hens could see the parade.

Wise Bird Does Solo.

The handsome bronze turkey in the barnyard knew better than to join this circle. He wisely took up a position about 150 feet away and put on a little show all by himself.

We watched this bird at a time when the late afternoon sun did wonders for his richly tinted plumage. He was strutting out in the open where the sun could play on his feathers and bring out every color variation in his breeding plumage.

When we talked with the flockmaster we found that he was having his troubles with the turkey hens laying eggs in the haybin. But he isn't the only worker on the farm who is perplexed.

Wants to Sell Hounds.

Now that spring has arrived the kennel man who raises and trains foxhounds also has a problem. He was telling me this week that he is overstocked with hounds and wants to sell about 10 of them. Several litters of nice pups have been added to the kennel during the last year so he now has too many dogs.

The hounds that he wishes to dispose of range in age from puppies of 10 months to veterans around 6 years of age. The five puppies for sale [10 months old] are husky ones with some English foxhound blood in them. Their breeding is 15-16 American foxhound and 1-16 English foxhound. The older dogs have been used on drag hunts.

The big black swans which have been kept on the Du Page county farm for several years now have a new home. These birds, which were noted mainly for their habit of starting to nest at almost any time of the year, now are living with other swans at the Chicago Zoological gardens at Brookfield.

Swans Champion Nesters.

For several years the black swans have been the champion nest builders of the farm. They were just as apt to make a rough nest in the middle of the winter or in the fall as in the spring months. This spring they have been using the straw given to them for bedding in the swan house to make premature nests.

Several weeks ago when we looked into their winter quarters they had built a rough nest mound. Then they evidently decided it was a little too early to continue their nesting plans, and disrupted the mound.

Last week they resumed their building activity and started another nest, but the men stopped this by staging a swan roundup and sending the black birds to the Chicago Zoological Gardens at Brookfield. The swans probably will remain at the zoo for the spring and summer so that visitors will be able to see them with the other swans kept there.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

Finance

SATURDAY, APRIL 6, 1940.  25

M'BAIN NAMED GEN. MANAGER OF FIELD STORES

Munnecke, Palmer Also Promoted.

Three major changes in the executive personnel of Marshall Field & Co. were made by the board of directors yesterday following the annual meeting of the company's stockholders. Frederick D. Corley, president, told stockholders that the company's business so far in 1940 has been better than a year ago.

Principal developments arising from the meetings of stockholders and directors were:

1. Hughston M. McBain, first vice president, was appointed general manager of the company's retail stores in Chicago and suburbs.

Munnecke Gets Vice Presidency.

2. Wilbur C. Munnecke, who had been in charge of the manufacturing division under McBain's supervision, was elected to one of two newly created vice presidencies and placed in complete charge of the division.

3. James L. Palmer, formerly assistant to the president, was elected to the other new vice presidency and will take over the newly created post of general operating manager of the retail stores in Chicago and suburbs.

4. Albert B. Dick Jr., president of A. B. Dick company, was elected to the Field board of directors to fill the vacancy caused by the death of James Simpson. All other directors were reelected.

5. All senior officers were reëlected and appointments of four junior officers were announced.

May Vote Year-End Extra.

6. President Corley said the board will consider ordering an extra dividend at or shortly after the year-end, the decision to depend on business results for 1940.

After a brief discussion of the operating results of 1939, which he said were the best in the last nine years, Corley told the stockholders that the company's showing in the first 1940 quarter will compare "very favorably" with that of the first three months of last year.

In the first two months of this year, he said, sales of the retail division have shown a substantial gain over a year ago, expenses have been kept in line, and profit compares favorably.

Manufacturing Business Gains.

"In the manufacturing division," Corley asserted, "shipments for the year to date show a nice gain. Orders received are slightly ahead of those of the first quarter of last year. We have noticed a decided improvement in the new order situation in the last two weeks, and unfilled orders on hand are greater than a year ago."

The manufacturing division consists of a group of textile mills in North Carolina and Virginia and one mill in Zion, Ill.

Corley told the stockholders that the real estate division of the company "continues to show moderate improvement in its earning ability." At the end of February, he said, the Merchandise Mart was 82.4 per cent occupied, as compared with 80.8 per cent a year earlier.

Plan Conservative Policy.

Discussing dividends, President Corley said:

"The board has chosen to pursue a very conservative course with respect to interim dividends, believing that such policy will in the long run best serve the interests of shareholders. The directors are keenly aware of the possible implications of the present unsettled world conditions."

The company recently issued its annual report, showing improvement in all divisions in 1939 as compared with 1938. The report showed net profit of $4,636,557, against $3,492,238 in 1938.

McBain, who has been with the company for more than 17 years, will transfer his office from the Merchandise Mart to the Chicago retail store. He has held various posts in all divisions of the company.

Munnecke has been with the Field organization for seven years. He has held several positions, including that of controler of the former wholesale division, controler of the manufacturing division, operating manager of the Chicago retail store, and assistant treasurer of the corporation. His home and offices are in New York City, headquarters of the manufacturing division.

Act to Centralize Responsibility.

Palmer's new position centralizes in one individual the responsibility for operation, personnel, service, and expense. Palmer has been active chiefly in administrative work in the Chicago and suburban stores, his responsibilities relating to sales promotion, expense control, and research.

Junior officers appointed were Howard M. Packard, assistant secretary; Gerald A. Sivage, assistant treasurer; John D. Andersen, assistant controler, and Milton C. Mumford, also assistant controler.

Directors of the company approved the filing of a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange commision covering 30,000 shares of 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock, second series. Glore, Forgan & Co. will head the underwriting group.

The registration applies to shares held by Marshall Field and members of his family and does not represent any new financing by the company.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass to Build Plant in Texas

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 5 (AP).—Pittsburgh Plate Glass company will soon begin construction of a new $350,000 paint plant at Houston, Tex., to serve customers in that area, it was reported today.

Three Promoted by Marshall Field

(Story in adjoining column.)

Executives of Marshall Field & Co. who were elected to new posts yesterday. They are (left to right): Hughston M. McBain, named general manager of Chicago and suburban stores; James L. Palmer, new vice president, who will be general operating manager of the Chicago and suburban stores, and Wilbur C. Munnecke, elected a vice president in charge of the manufacturing division.

Car Sale Boom Has Assembly Lines Hustling

With sales forces selling automobiles at an unexpected rate, the huge automobile manufacturing plants in Detroit and other Michigan producing centers are maintaining operations on a high level.

Production this week was estimated by Ward's Automotive Reports at 101,655 units, as compared with 103,370 in the preceding week and 87,109 in the like 1939 week. After the boom sales of January and February it had been expected that the plants would cut down volume sharply, but the allure of the 1940 models has kept the public in a seemingly undimished buying mood.

Chevrolet Sales Up 33 Per Cent.

Chevrolet sales in the first quarter totaled 254,751 units—a gain of 33 per cent over the 191,607 sold in the first quarter of 1939. March sales were reported at 106,014, the highest month's delivery since April, 1937.

Ford reported that sales totaled 92,227 units, including the Mercury, in March, the highest total for any month since July, 1937. A. S. Hatch, Chicago branch manager for Ford, said the Chicago branch also sold more cars in March than in any month since July, 1937. Lincoln Zephyr sales for the whole country totaled 2,266 in March, the best March since 1937.

Buick's first quarter sales totaled 61,625 units, a 31.8 per cent gain over the first quarter of last year. Sales in March marked the sixth consecutive month in which all previous records were broken.

Hudson Best in 3 Years.

George H. Pratt, Hudson's general sales manager, said that sales totaling 2,376 in the week ended March 30 were the best for any comparable period in three years.

Harry T. Hollingshead, Chicago Nash distributor, reported a recent sharp upturn in sales in the Chicago area, with sales for the 1940 model cars to date 40 per cent over last year.

Oldsmobile reported first quarter sales of 44,683 cars, a new record for this quarter and 35 per cent over last year.

Pontiac Has Record Quarter.

Pontiac sales in the first quarter also set a new record for the period with a total of 50,041, compared with 34,113 a year ago. Sales in the first six months of the current model year exceeded those for all 1939.

Retail deliveries of Chrysler cars in the week ended March 30 were the largest for any week in March in the last 10 years, C. L. Jacobson, general sales manager of the Chrysler division of the Chrysler corporation, said. The Chrysler line has been stressing the fluid drive in its recent sales campaign.

Packard reported a sharp gain in sales for the quarter and for March.

It was stated yesterday that Cadillac-LaSalle's March sales in Cook county totaled 339 cars. The number should have been 176.

HITS TESTIMONY IN INVESTMENT TRUST INQUIRY

An investment company official protested yesterday against what he termed a misleading impression created by testimony presented by witnesses for the Securities and Exchange commission before the senate banking and currency committee in Washington, D. C.

The executive was M. E. Traylor, president of Massachusetts Distributors, Inc., general distributor of Massachusetts Investors Trust, Boston Fund, and Supervised Shares. The committee hearing related to the pricing of shares of open end investment companies.

Traylor said the testimony might create the impression that open end trusts deliberately underprice any new shares issued, thereby purposely diluting the interest of existing shareholders. Denying such practices are followed, Traylor said any dilution that occurs is in spite of precautions taken to avoid it.

Open end trusts are those in which holders may turn in their shares at any time at liquidating value, and which usually sell new shares on a continuing basis to replace old shares redeemed and to increase the amount of their funds.

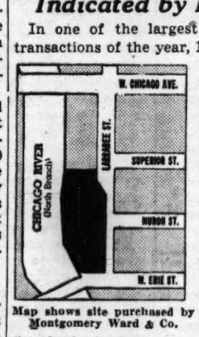
Canadian Copper Mine Sells 3 Years' Output to Japan

Washington, D. C., April 5 [Special].—The entire copper ore output of the Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Power company of Allenby, British Columbia, has been earmarked for shipment to Japan for the next three years, United States Vice Consul N. P. Meeks reported today from Vancouver.

SPRAGUE, WARNER BUILDING IS SOLD TO MONT. WARD

Payment of $500,000 Indicated by Deed.

In one of the largest real estate transactions of the year, Montgomery Ward & Co. yesterday bought the Sprague, Warner & Co. property at 600 West Erie street, which fronts along the north branch of the Chicago river.



Map shows site purchased by Montgomery Ward & Co.

Revenue stamps on the deeds to the property indicated that the mail order and store company paid $500,000 for the holding, which fronts 126 feet on Erie and approximately 420 feet along Larrabee street and also along the river.

Site for Future Growth.

Officials of Montgomery Ward said they had no immediate plans for use of the property, which includes an eight story building long used as the home of Sprague, Warner, a wholesale grocery company. However, it provides a site for future expansion.

Sellers of the property were listed at the recorder's office as the estate of Harold R. Warner, Maud W. McCormick, Ethel W. Mothershead, the estate of Ezra J. Warner Jr., the estate of Ezra J. Warner Sr., the estate of Albert A. Sprague and the estate of Otho S. A. Sprague.

Will Move Nearer Loop.

Sprague, Warner & Co., one of Chicago's oldest wholesale grocery companies, within the last few years has participated in two mergers, the first with Samuel Kunin & Sons, Inc., and the other with Duran-McNeil-Horner company.

Sprague, Warner plans to build shortly a new home of its own on a site near the loop which is to occupy about 1,500,000 square feet, equivalent to about four city blocks. It will be one of the largest one story warehouses in the world.

Canadian Dollar Active; Make Advance of ⅞ Cent

Activity in the New York foreign exchange market yesterday was dominated by the Canadian dollar, which climbed ⅞ cent to a closing price of 83⅞ cents in terms of the American dollar. Some traders said tourists are buying more Canadian dollars with the approach of the spring travel season. Others said the rise may have been a result of covering by shorts. The British pound rose ½ cent to $3.58.

UNITED LIGHT'S CAPITAL PLAN NEARLY READY

Reports Profit Gain in Last Year.

The management of the United Light and Power company has almost completed a drastic plan of recapitalization which will be submitted to the Securities and Exchange commission "at a very early date," William G. Woolfolk, president, said in the annual report to stockholders yesterday.

Consolidated net income of the company during 1939 amounted to $4,598,654, or 29 cents a share on the 3,476,768 combined no par shares of class A and class B common stocks, compared with $3,091,506, or $5.15 a share on 600,000 shares of $6 cumulative first preferred stock, during 1938.

Seek Sound Structure.

Objective of the capital plan Woolfolk explained, is the establishment of so sound a structure "that a strong credit rating will be insured, that future financing be done at the lowest money rates, and that a continuity of earnings and dividends be maintained."

The management, in developing the plan, he said, has endeavored to maintain strict impartiality and to formulate a program which will be fair and equitable to all stockholders. All stockholders will have the right to vote on the plan before it becomes effective.

"The formulation of a recapitalization plan is necessary," he explained, "to bring the company's affairs into harmony with existing federal statutes [which require, among other things, simplification of capital structures and equitable distribution of voting rights among stockholders]; to dispose of the unpaid dividends accumulated on the preferred stock in some proper and acceptable manner, and, insofar as earnings permit, to resume payment of dividends to stockholders."

Dividend Arrearage Large.

Unpaid dividends on the $6 cumulative preferred stock, in arrears since April 1, 1932, totaled $27,900,000 at the end of 1939, or $46.50 a share on the 600,000 shares outstanding. The preferred stock and the class A common stock are not now entitled to voting rights. All general voting power is confined to the class B common stock.

Shrinkages in the value of certain investments of United and of some of its subsidiaries, as reflected by the present markets, are substantial, Woolfolk said. It is necesary, therefore, he added, that reserves larger than those now maintained and adequate to provide for the shrinkage be determined by the management and approved by the SEC before resumption of dividend payments can be recommended.

Values Stated At Cost.

A footnote on the consolidated balance sheet directed attention to the fact that investments of the company in its subsidiaries are stated at cost, including securities issued or assumed as partial consideration. The amounts of these investments, it added, do not purport to represent the present worth or realizable value.

Investments in certain subsidiaries, represented by capital stocks and bonds and by notes receivable, aggregating $34,691,353 and $6,910,647, respectively, are deposited as collateral under the first lien and consolidated mortgage, it explained.

Commenting on the charges of the SEC that the United Light and Power company and its subsidiaries do not comply with the public utility holding company act, Woolfolk said that "it is hoped that the institution of formal integration proceedings will cause no delay in the consummation of the plan of recapitalization."

Statistical Summary of the Nation's Business—First Quarter 1937-1940

Mrs. Ada E. Wrigley.

Mrs. Ada E. Wrigley, widow of William Wrigley Jr., gave away 15,000 shares of the chewing gum company common stock. At yesterday's quotation of $90 per share, the gift had a value of $1,350,000. Mrs. Wrigley, mother of P. K. Wrigley, president of the company and owner of the Chicago Cubs baseball team, could not be reached for a statement. Officials of the company said they had no information to give out. Mrs. Wrigley is a director of the company and still holds 27,705 shares of the company's common stock.

ELECTRIC FIRM REPORTS 40 PCT. BUSINESS GAIN

Business of the Jefferson Electric company, Chicago manufacturer of electrical devices, is running 40 per cent ahead of last year, John A. Bennan, president and chairman of the board, told stockholders at the annual meeting yesterday.

"It seems likely to us that business will continue to pick up," Bennan said. "We expect 1940 to be considerably ahead of last year."

Stockholders approved amendments to the by-laws of the company to adapt them more closely to the present state laws governing corporations. All directors and officers were reëlected.

HULL OFFERS OIL ARBITRATION IN NOTE TO MEXICO

Seeks to End Two Year Deadlock.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 5.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull today announced that the United States has proposed arbitration to Mexico as a method of settling the two year old dispute with that nation over expropriation of American oil properties.

At his press conference the secretary disclosed that the American overture had been made in a note which had been delivered to Castillo Najera, the Mexican ambassador, for transmission to his government.

May Work Under 1929 Pact.

Hull would not discuss details of the note, nor would he report whether any suggestion of mediation had come from Mexico. He merely reported that the note suggested arbitration.

Mexico and the United States are signatories of the 1929 inter-American treaty of conciliation and arbitration. It is expected that if Mexico should adopt the suggestion, settlement of the oil dispute would be carried out under the framework of this treaty.

The United States proposed arbitration as a means of settling the controversy over the expropriation of American farm properties in 1938. Mexico in turn suggested a joint commission evaluate the claims and fix compensation and the state department agreed.

Private Negotiations Fail.

The oil controversy has been going on since March, 1938, when the Mexican government issued its expropriation decree. Since that time the Standard Oil company and the Sinclair Oil company have been carrying on private negotiations with the Mexican government. These have been unsuccessful to date.

Mexico has insisted that the question is not an international matter, but a purely domestic one. On this contention Mexico is proceeding on its own with an evaluation of the expropriated properties and proposes to pay compensation on these valuations within 10 years.

Private companies have refused to participate in this valuation.

SALES FOR WEEK BY DEPARTMENT STORES SLUMP

Sales of department stores thruout the country for the week ended March 30—the week after Easter—dropped 20 per cent below the volume of the corresponding week last year—the week before Easter—it was reported yesterday by the federal reserve board.

The change in Easter dates had little effect on sales for the four weeks ended March 30. The board estimated there had been a 1 per cent increase this year compared with the 1939 period.

In the 7th district, including Chicago, sales declined 14 per cent in the week and 1 per cent in the month, compared with last year. In the preceding week, the nation's sales had been 12 per cent above those of 1939.

CONSOL. OIL NETS 7½ MILLION ON ½ CENT GAS HIKE

Turns 6 Month Loss Into a Profit.

Despite a first six months' loss, the Consolidated Oil corporation finished 1939 with a net profit of $7,540,880, or 55 cents per share, H. F. Sinclair and H. R. Gallagher, chairman and president of the company, respectively, stated yesterday in the annual report to stockholders.

H. F. Sinclair.

The second six months' profit of $8,413,551—more than double the earnings in the comparable 1938 period—resulted, the executives said, from a ½ cent per gallon increase in the price of gasoline by a subsidiary, the Sinclair Refining company.

Drill 355 Illinois Wells.

Consolidated Oil and its subsidiaries, which constitute one of the major domestic oil refining systems, had net income of $7,737,712, or 55 cents a share, in 1938.

Extensive leasing operations are being carried on in Illinois and other states by oil producing subsidiaries, Sinclair and Gallagher said. During 19 39, 355 wells were completed, of which 310 were producing oil, 8 were gas wells, 10 pressure wells, and 27 dry holes.

Standard Oil Company of California reported consolidated net profit for 1939 of $17,822,505, or $1.36 per share. In 1938, net profit was $28,875,653, or $2.20 a share.

Electric Household Utilities corporation and subsidiaries earned net income of $113,765 in 1939, or 29 cents a share, compared with a net loss of $378,042 in 1938, Edward N. Hurley Jr., president, told stockholders. "Sales for the first quarter of 1940 are ahead of the same 1939 period," Hurley stated, "and operating results are also better."

Utility's Profit Higher.

Central & South West Utilities company reported consolidated net income of $3,495,298, compared with $2,916,880 in 1938. The figure is after interest, amortization, depreciation, and federal income taxes and after deducting a full year's dividend requirements on preferred stocks of subsidiary companies held by the public.

Discussing the proposed consolidation of Central and South West and the American Public Service company, Gail Belden, president, said in his report that "it is not possible to state at this time when the agreement of consolidation will be submitted to stockholders for their vote, or what changes, if any, may be made in the plan as filed with the Securities commission before its submission to the stockholders for their vote."

The Pullman company, subsidiary of Pullman, Inc., said net income after taxes and air conditioning revenue deferment amounted to $910,999 during January and February, against $913,990 in the comparable period last year.

Parker Takes Howard's Post in Plane Firm

E. J. Parker has been elected president of the Howard Aircraft corporation, Chicago's lone airplane manufacturing enterprise, to succeed Ben O. Howard, founder of the company and veteran flyer, it was disclosed yesterday.

Ben O. Howard.

Howard, one of the best known figures in aviation, resigned recently as a director and is no longer associated with the company. His replacement as president, it was reported, was caused by a series of disagreements with other officials over his capacities and duties with the corporation. Altho his ability as a designer and a pilot was held in high esteem, officials were not satisfied with his record in the production and sales departments, it was said.

Report Another Factor.

Another contributing factor to the change, it was reported, were the divergent viewpoints on the type of product to be manufactured. Officials favored a low cost, light weight airplane with a big volume market, it was said, and Howard held out for a high performance plane.

Howard, it is believed, plans to try to set up a new factory in Los Angeles for the production of his favored plane. He could not be reached for comment yesterday, and associates said that he had left for the west and would not return for several days.

Parker, who was formerly with the Fisher Body division of General Motors corporation and who has had many years of executive experience in the automotive industry, was elected treasurer of Howard Aircraft corporation in January. He will continue to hold that office also, it was announced.

Israel Returns to Firm.

Dr. Robert E. Nebesar and B. D. De Weese will remain as head of the engineering department and director of foreign and domestic sales, respectively, the company announced. Gordon Israel, former chief engineer of the company and more recently on the engineering staff of Stinson Aircraft division of Aviation Manufacturing corporation, has rejoined the organization.

Deliveries are progressing at the rate of about one plane a week, Parker said, and the company is aggressively seeking orders for parts and subassemblies from some of the larger military aircraft manufacturers whose facilities are overextended.

Ready to Seek New Orders.

Engineering work on the development of the large cargo carrier plane, Parker said, has advanced to the point where the company is now ready to seek orders for this model. The engineering department is also projecting a model for the lighter plane field.

The company, it was said, will begin the manufacture of gliders for another enterprise within a few days.

Howard used a large share of the prize money which he won in the national air races in Cleveland in August, 1935, to open the plant in Chicago for the manufacture of a commercial version of his then famous cabin plane, Mister Mulligan, in which he won the long distance Bendix trophy race.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

New York, April 5 (AP).—The rallying tide in the stock market was stemmed by profit selling today and early gains running to a point or so for leaders were reduced or converted into losses at the close.

In a lively first hour the trend was upward, with new high marks for the year or longer posted for an assortment of favorites. Offerings began to creep into the list after the early upturn and from then on trends were irregular.

Steels held up well until the last when they reacted. Selected aircrafts were given a whirl near the finish, but most failed to hold and several ended at lower levels. Turover dwindled to 1,255,440 shares from 1,999,360 the day before.

A lift of ¼ of a cent a pound in smelter and scrap copper quotations failed to excite the red metal shares.

Shares retaining modest advances included Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Aircraft, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Sears Roebuck, Bethlehem Steel, Westinghouse, Eastman Kodak, Loft, Standard Brands, New York Shipbuilding and Santa Fe.

Among losers were United States Steel, Chrysler, General Motors United States Rubber, United Aircraft, Lockheed, Anaconda, du Pont, Union Carbide, Dow Chemical, Western Union, Southern Railway, Consolidated Edison, and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

New York Bonds.

New York, April 5 (AP).—The bond market extended its spring upsurge today, with rail loans again setting the pace. It was the sixth straight advance for rails.

United States government loans were quiet after a steady climb over the last two weeks. Closing prices were 5-32 lower to 2-32 higher. Foreign issues were mixed. Recent rallies were extended in loans of British dominions, Norway, and Panama. Italian bonds were heavy.

The New York stock exchange reported today bond issues listed as of March 30 numbered 1,380 with par value of $53,852,621,102 and market value of $50,006,387,149, an average price of 92.86 per cent of face value. On February 29 there were 1,387 issues with par value of $53,937,100,052 and market value of $49,605,261,998, an average price of 91.97.

Chicago Stocks.

Seven issues yesterday reached their highest price levels of 1940 on the Chicago Stock exchange. They were Fuller Manufacturing, which touched 4% but eased to 4⅛ for a ⅝ point net gain; Bendix Aviation, which touched 35⅞ but closed at 35⅝, up ⅜; Bunte Brothers common, ⅛ point higher at 19; Harvey Hubbell, up ½ point to 18½; Modine Manufacturing, which rose ¾ point to 23¾; Nachman-Springfilled, which was ⅛ point higher at 11¾, and Noblitt-Sparks, which closed at its peak of 35¾ for a gain of ¼ point. The general market was uneven.

Bank Stocks.

First National bank shares continued to advance with a gain of a point, while City National dipped a point yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Chicago Title moved up half a point. Other issues were unchanged.

CITY'S BUSINESS LEADERS TO HEAR M'CARL MONDAY

Talk Part of Drive to Get Better Legislators.

Three hundred Chicago business and professional men are expected to attend a luncheon Monday in the Palmer House to hear John Raymond McCarl, former controler general of the United States and an opponent of New Deal economic policies. McCarl's subject is "Strong Men to Congress."

The affair was arranged by Frank J. Loesch and George D. Rosseter in behalf of the National Committee to Uphold Constitutional Government, of which former Congressman Samuel B. Pettengill of Indiana is chairman.

Lay Evils to Weak Legislators.

The committee holds that many of the evils in government today trace back to the election of weak congressmen.

Between now and November the committee plans to reach nearly all voters in the United States with a plea to send independent, spirited legislators to Washington. It has prepared a 10 point platform and urges support only for candidates pledged to assist its aims.

List 10 Point Program.

The points: Keep America out of foreign wars; reduce taxes and work for a balanced budget; keep government out of business; preserve freedom of choice for professional services—oppose state medicine; restore balanced powers; curb growing federal control over lives and private business of citizens; rewrite labor laws and provide a fair bargaining act; eliminate politics and graft from relief; stop use of government funds to coerce voters or elected officials; stop federal snooping into private affairs.

DOUGLAS AIRCRAFT.

Douglas Aircraft stock looks attractive right now but I am afraid of what might happen if the war ends. How much does it depend on foreign military business? I would like a concise summary of its earnings record.—A. H.

Answer: Douglas Aircraft company, Inc., is an outstanding manufacturer of commercial transport airplanes and a major source of military aircraft for the United States government. Douglas transports have been widely accepted by domestic and foreign air lines. The company in recent months has received a large share of the orders for military craft placed in this country by England and France.

Douglas' recent annual report, however, indicated that sales to foreign governments were minor in comparison with those to domestic defense forces and commercial air lines. Of total sales in 1939 of $27,866,658, more than one-half consisted of deliveries to the United States government, and only $3,916,139 was of military craft to foreign nations.

An analysis of the firm's dollar sales in 17 years thru 1938 disclosed that 54 per cent was taken by the United States government, 22 per cent by domestic air lines, 8 per cent by foreign military services, and 16 per cent by foreign commercial operators.

The types of military planes made by Douglas include observation, training, attack, and bombing aircraft. Among the commercial transport planes manufactured are the DC-2s and DC-3s, which are in common use by domestic air lines, the DC-5s used in feeder service and the new four engined, 40 passenger DC-4s.

The company's backlog on March 8, 1940, was $97,287,721, the largest in its history. Included in this accumulation of unfilled orders was a record peak of $19,000,000 in commercial orders from air lines for delivery in 1940 and 1941. In the commercial backlog were orders for 33 of the 40 new DC-4s under construction and 60 DC-3s. The backlog from foreign governments was not revealed.

Profits of the company in the fiscal year ended Nov. 30, 1939, soared to the highest mark in its history. Consolidated net sales, net income, and earnings per share in recent fiscal year follow:

	Net sales.	Net income.	Earned per share.
1935	$ 7,392,000	$1,263,000	$2.70
1936	7,868,000	976,000	1.74
1937	20,950,000	1,082,000	1.90
1938	28,347,000	2,147,000	3.76
1939	27,867,000	2,884,000	4.81

Note—Results for 1935 and 1936 exclude subsidiaries.

The company has outstanding 600,000 shares of no par capital stock. Dividends on this stock totaled 75 cents a share in 1935, and $3 a share each in 1938 and 1939. Payments on the stock were made in each year from 1930 thru 1933, but were omitted in 1934, 1936, and 1937.

Douglas operates its main plant at Santa Monica, Cal.
